Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, Oct. 29.—[To the Editor of The Times:] This must have happened to thousands of school children all over our country: My three come dragging in last night from three different schools and I asked them if they had heard Bernard Shaw's great speech over the radio that afternoon. They all said "No, their teachers had 'em listening to them."

Now here was perhaps the most brilliant and wittiest speech of our times, brought right to us by this great invention. Yet teachers gave their own lectures instead of Shaw's. Even the newspapers only published extracts of it, but they published all their own editorials. They were improving on Shaw, too, so what good does it do to have a brilliant man tell you something?

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29. (Exclusive)—In a terse one-paragraph letter Secretary Wilbur today informed Ralph S. Kelley, former chief of the Denver Land Office of the Interior Department, that his services are no longer desired by the government.

Thus Kelley was "fired" instead of being allowed to resign, as he attempted to do September 29, last, after he had sold to the New York World, a Democratic newspaper, his serialized story charging that the Interior Department had illegally awarded valuable oil shale lands in the West to powerful oil interests.

Women and Children Called Upon to Join in Relief of Workless

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29. (AP)—Employment for 20,000 men in the nation's shipyards for the coming year was assured today by the Shipping Board.

Plans of the board to advance $15,000,000 in loans toward construction of ships to cost a total of $50,000,000 gave definite assurance of employment for 20,000 men. That number may be kept occupied for two or three years as rebuilding of the American merchant marine continues.

PLEA TO WOMEN

Assuming charge of the women's division of the President's emergency committee on employment, Dr. Lillian Gilbreth of Montclair, N. J., appealed to the women to aid by having needed repairs made to their homes. In addition, she said the women could work through their different groups to procure employment for the needy and help those in distress.

Plans to work through the children also were made known. Dr. Gilbreth said the youngsters could report conditions of destitute families and might make suggestions that could be converted into practical ideas.

WOODS ENCOURAGED

Col. Arthur Woods, chairman of the committee, reported to President Hoover he was encouraged over the response to his call for co-operation. Four States and fifteen cities had organized committees to put the idle to work and relieve those for whom no employment can be found.

Offers of the Columbia and National Broadcasting companies to assist are to be accepted by Col. Woods. Speakers picked from communities where successful employment groups have functioned are to broadcast to other sections their ideas and practices.

Confidence that the unemployment situation can be largely conquered if whole-hearted co-operation is obtained toward providing work was expressed by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, in a statement estimating one-sixth of the nation's population is "threatened with acute need" this winter.

Work on eight highway construction camps over the State to house additional workers will begin immediately. A nominal wage of $1.50 per day with board and lodging will be paid men without families or dependents, Bert B. Meek, State Director of Public Works, announced.

REDS BREAK PROPAGANDA AGREEMENT

British Government Told Third Internationale Not Under Its Control

LONDON, Oct. 29. (AP)—The British government announced in the House of Commons today that protests had been made to soviet Russia regarding propaganda spread in the empire by the Third Internationale.

Arthur Henderson, Foreign Secretary, related how Great Britain advised the Moscow government it has not kept its pledge to cease propagandizing. Inquiry developed that the Third Internationale has been working not only in England but elsewhere in the British Empire.

Mr. Henderson said when he took up the matter with the soviet ambassador in Great Britain he was told the soviet government itself would continue to observe the pledge, but could not control the activities of the Third Internationale, which is a world-wide organization formed to spread the tenets of Communism.

Members of the Conservative party in the House shouted loudly against the Foreign Secretary's statement but did not move for further action.

Nation Asked to Back Hoover

Secretary in Radio Address Warns Voters Against Divided Congress

Says President Will Lead Country Safely Through Depression Ordeal

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29. (AP)—Secretary Mellon in one of his rare radio speeches tonight made a plea for the election of a Republican Congress, praised President Hoover and expressed the opinion the Executive will lead the nation out of the present business depression.

Mr. Mellon disputed in his talk over the Columbia Broadcasting System that the Republicans are responsible for business conditions and reviewed the accomplishments of the party since it was returned to office in the 1920 election. He cited the action of the President in enlisting the aid of business when the stock market crash occurred last fall, and said conditions are due to world-wide causes, primarily overproduction of certain commodities, especially raw materials.

KEEP BOAT STEADY

"I have said enough to show that the administration is doing all it can both to alleviate suffering and to hasten recovery from the present depression," the Treasury head said. "It cannot work miracles. The most that any administration can do is to keep the boat steady and headed in the right direction until the storm blows over, and that the President has shown he is well able to do.

"President Hoover has shown himself a man capable of dealing with great emergencies. I am confident that he will lead the country out of its present difficulties; but if he is to do so with minimum friction and loss of time, his hands should not be tied by a Congress controlled by his political opponents. It is not time for divided authority. It is rather a time for strong and united action and, in asking support for the President and the administration, I do so in the belief that in this way we shall attain most quickly that full measure of economic recovery which is inevitable in a nation so self-reliant and so justifiably confident of the future."

MANY ISSUES

The Secretary said an election where the Presidency is not involved, seldom turns on a single, clear-cut issue.

"The situation is usually too confused for that; and it is too confused today. In the coming election candidates will be chosen in some States because of their views on prohibition; in others because of the tariff or farm relief or some other measure, and, in practically all cases, the personality of the candidates themselves will largely affect the final result," he continued.

Mr. Mellon reviewed the business depressions since 1873 and said:

"Now we are in the midst of another business and industrial depression. Like the earlier ones, it is world wide in extent and has resulted from much the same causes. It was not caused by speculation in stocks, though that was a factor, of course, in the situation. Its underlying causes were deeper than that and may be traced primarily to overproduction of certain commodities, especially raw materials, both in this country and abroad."

LACK OF BALANCE

He said processes in both agriculture and industry had been enlarged throughout the world to meet needs created by four years of war and that these needs having been supplied in the ten years which have elapsed, there developed a lack of balance between production and consumption. This, he continued, resulted in a falling off of prices and a consequent collapse in

Chinese-Russian Fight Resumed

Troops in Demonstration on Border as Negotiations on Railway Break Down

Soviet Bombing Planes Said to Have Been Threatening Oriental Soldiers

SHANGHAI, Oct. 29. (AP)—Chinese and Russian troops threatened each other in Manchuria today in renewal of the controversy over control of the Chinese Eastern Railway, as Chinese press dispatches from Harbin.

Breakdown of negotiations at Moscow for settlement of the dispute over the railway is said to have caused armed demonstrations by both China and Russia along the Manchurian-Siberian border. These were similar to those which caused fighting and invasion of Manchuria by Russian soldiers in November and December, last year.

PATROL ORDERED

Two battalions of infantry and one of artillery are reported to have been ordered by Manchuria to patrol the Siberian border near Manchuli, Northwestern Manchuria.

The movement is said to have been ordered because "for several days soviet troops with bombing airplanes have been giving demonstrations and new barracks are being erected in border towns."

Refusing to grant demands of Russia for complete observance of the Kharbarovsk protocol of last December for joint management of the Chinese Eastern Railway across Manchuria by Russia and China, say dispatches, the Chinese envoys are about to depart from Moscow.

PLAN REPUDIATED

Forced to yield at Kharbarovsk to terms demanded by Russia after soviet troops had occupied several Manchurian border towns, the Chinese delegate, Tsai Yun-shang, signed the preliminary agreement. Later this was repudiated by Chinese Nationalists, who asserted Tsai had exceeded his authority.

The denounced agreement provided that Russian officials and railway employees be restored to positions from which they were ousted by Chinese troops in July, 1929. China had charged the Russians with using their positions to flood China with soviet propaganda.

Under the protocol Chinese were represented on the railway board of management, but Russians virtually controlled the road which is a short cut across Manchuria from the Russian trans-Siberian Railway to Vladivostok, soviet port on the Japan Sea.

BANDITS REPORTED TO HAVE SLAIN 300

SHANGHAI, Oct. 29. (AP)—Vernacular reports tonight said marauders within the last week had looted and burned six villages and killed 300 persons in the area twenty-five miles west of Kaifeng, Honan. This is the first recent indication of the spread of banditry into Northern China, which but lately served as the battle ground in the civil war between Nationalists and northern rebels.

CHINESE GAINING IN BATTLE WITH REDS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29. (AP)—Chinese government successes in the field against Communist forces, which have recently seriously menaced American lives and property, were reported to the State Department tonight by American Consul-General Lockhart at Hankow.

Lockhart's message said it has been definitely established that Tungkwan, Honan Province, was occupied the 25th inst. by Nationalist forces with considerable movement of troops down the Yangtze River from Hankow. Twelve Communists were executed yesterday, he said, at Wuchang across the river from Hankow.

SAVAGES BATTLE JAPANESE

Formosa Tribesmen Counter-Attack Police Units; Heads Taken From Massacre Victims

TOKIO, Oct. 30. (Thursday) (AP)—Rengo News Agency dispatches from Taihoku, Formosa, today said revolting savages counter-attacked a Japanese police expedition at Musha late yesterday, killing two officers.

A company of infantry was reported approaching Musha, a village in the central part of the island, to reinforce the police.

The Governor-General of Formosa believed to be imminent, as the savages were within 500 yards of the Japanese lines.

Fifty-seven Japanese escaped the Musha massacre, some fleeing and some hiding.

Motives for the uprising are still obscure, although fundamentally it is another case of primitive man losing in desperate resistance to the steady pressure of civilized exploitation.

DAM CAUSES RAID

Despite semidenials, the theory seeming most tenable is that the revolt was caused by an electric-power project at Lake Jitsugetsutan, since it appears the savages had been told they must vacate tribal lands.

Construction of a dam at the lake would flood a large area belonging to the tribesmen. Negotiations with the J. P. Morgan Company of New York for a loan of $27,500,000 are said to be proceeding in behalf of the semiofficial Formosa Electric Power Company.

As further reasons Tokio newspapers asserted there was trouble between Japanese and aborigines over the latter's women and there were instances of Japanese officials running afoul of ancient savage customs.

TABBY AND TOM TABOOED

Fashionable Gotham Suburbanites Sleep Undisturbed for Can Has Been Tied to Back-Fence Yowlers

NEW YORK, Oct. 29. (Exclusive)—A great peace has fallen over the hills of Westchester and the bluebirds and the chickadees chirp contentedly from their perch on the gold-plated clothes line wires that adorn the back yards of New York's most aristocratic suburb. The night is free from hideous sounds and the moral tone of the community would make a Sir Galahad envious, for Westchester has decided to let the old cat die.

Big business in that Utopian community has turned from the vexing problems of unemployment, prohibition and how to get through the winter with last year's motor car to a more pressing matter—the elimination of that well-known domesticated carnivorous mammal, the common, or back-fence, house cat.

ECONOMIC PERIL

The cat has been recognized as an economic peril and one of the largest real estate firms in this section has outlawed him in its business contracts. The Robert E. Farley Company has drawn a deadline around its choice residential properties and if Felix or Tabby are caught on noncat ground they are to be slain on sight.

Vice-President Colvin Farley devised the anticat form of contract and it is paw proof. Mr. Farley is rather proud of it and does not mind letting everyone know that he classes cats as public enemies.

BIRDS VS. CATS

"The cat proposition was a tough problem," said Mr. Farley, "for we have a lot of birds up in Westchester and if we did not eliminate the cat the cat would eliminate the bird. Therefore, I devised after considerable study a contract, which, while it does not prevent a home owner from keeping a pet cat, requests him to keep that cat inside his home. There will be no more putting the cat out at night in Westchester. So far as I know, this is the first time that a real estate concern has taken serious cognizance of the cat problem. We love our birds up here in Westchester and besides we figure that the birds literally attract many home buyers from the city.

"The contract has other advantages than protecting birds. It should put an end to those cat concerts staged on rooftops and back fences which murder the sleep of many unfortunate suburban dwellers. The hideous night yowling of cats is a pest.

"My contract will eliminate the cat, or keep him in the house, where cats should be kept."

GASOLINE TAXES SET HIGH MARK

Three Months' Collection in State $10,608,817

Estimate for Year Given as $40,000,000

Decade Gives $600,000,000 for Highways

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 29. (Exclusive)—Gasoline tax collections in California for the last three months set a new high mark, reaching the total of $10,608,817, according to a statement issued today by the State Board of Equalization.

During the quarter of July, August and September 337,199,254 gallons of gasoline were distributed in California, a gain of 6.4 per cent over the same quarter in 1929.

A statement issued by the board said: "The 3-cent tax on gasoline for this year will bring to the State treasury something over $40,000,000. It is estimated that during the next ten years the State will have $600,000,000 available from this source of revenue. This tremendous sum will enable California to build the finest system of highways in the world. But the imperative need for relief to tax-burdened property owners may necessitate revision of distribution of at least part of the gasoline tax."

Twenty-three companies distributed 1,000,000 gallons or more of gasoline during the quarter.

Publication Shareholder Asks Receivership and Issuance of Injunction

NEW YORK, Oct. 29. (AP)—Suit for appointment of a receiver for the Christian Herald Corporation and for an injunction to restrain the Christian Herald Association, Inc., publisher of the Christian Herald, religious weekly, from dissipating the corporation's assets, was filed today in Federal court. The plaintiff is Mrs. Julia McAlphine Hamm, holder of 180 shares of the corporation's stock.

Among defendants named are the corporation, the association, James C. Penney, chain-store magnate; Dr. Daniel A. Poling, editor-in-chief of the publication; Graham Patterson of Toledo and others.

No suggestion the Christian Herald is insolvent appeared in Mrs. Hamm's petition. It stated, on the contrary, the periodical's paid circulation is 220,000.

Mrs. Hamm's charges, the petition indicated, are based in part on a decision to dissolve the corporation and transfer its assets to the association, a nonprofit sharing organization.

Mrs. Hamm also asserted "on information and belief," the magazine "has been selfishly and assiduously used and employed by Penney, Poling and Patterson for their personal profit, self-glorification, self-aggrandizement and to advertise themselves and their business endeavors to the American public at a cost far less than the true value thereof."

gan to give us trouble. We could not get enough to heave to. I decided to run her before the gale with the idea of making the Delaware breakwater.

WATER MOUNTS

"By this time the bolts of the boiler began to give way, because the ship was straining herself so. We began to take on water through our seams. Our pumps gave out. The water began mounting in the hold.

"Finally a cylinder head blew off and hit Lynch. From then on it was just a matter of seeing how long we could last. Early Saturday night we sighted a tanker and we sent up flares, but there was no response. Later still we saw the lights of another ship. We'd exhausted our flares but we sent up cries. She didn't hear us.

"By then the ship was unmanageable. When I was up to my waist in water I gave orders to abandon ship. But while we were launching the lifeboat the ship abandoned us."

The captain and the other eight jumped and managed to clamber into the lifeboat, which was floating free. The six who remained when the lifeboat was sighted by the Henry R. Mallory were too weak to climb aboard the liner and had to be carried. Some were delirious. But today only Lynch and Allenby remained in the hospital.

SINKING OF SCHOONER REPORTED BY RADIO

NORFOLK (Va.) Oct. 29. (AP)—A wireless message picked up at Coast Guard headquarters here today said the schooner Rebecca C. Scott, which left Newport News Monday with a cargo of coal for Hamilton, Bermuda, sank Monday night about sixty miles east of Cape Henry.

Allan R. Hoffman of Newport News, agent for the ship, said he had been informed by her owners the crew was saved.

SMITH BLAMES G.O.P. LEADERS

Former Governor on Radio Makes Three Charges

Speaker Urges Election of Democratic Congress

He Declares Republicans Dodge Slump Facts

NEW YORK, Oct. 29. (AP)—Ex-Gov. Smith tonight urged election of a Democratic Congress and told a nation-wide radio audience he had three charges to make against the Republicans. He listed them as follows:

They made campaign pledges of continuing prosperity which they could not redeem.

They refused to face the business crisis until it was forced upon them.

They failed to take necessary steps to relieve the situation.

FACTS NOT FACED

"It is a matter of history that the President himself as short a time ago as March 8 made the definite statement the situation would clear in sixty days. He was assisted by his Cabinet officers in his refusal to face the facts. As late as June, 1930, the Secretary of Agriculture made the statement the unemployment was seasonal and there was relatively no distress. And further than that, the Secretary of Labor gave out figures with respect to unemployment which were shown to be false by the statistics gathered by the Department of Labor in the State of New York."

FALSE ISSUES

The former Governor said he did not take "the position of placing upon the Republican party the blame for the business depression and consequent unemployment, but we do seriously indict them for misleading the people into the belief that a continuance of the Republican party in power meant continued prosperity."

"What has happened to the Republican party in this instance," he continued, "is nothing more or less than the result that must be expected when false issues are injected into a campaign. Lack of sincerity or even honesty behind a false campaign pledge not only wrecks itself but tends to bring about the destruction of those who issue it."

MEASURES RECOMMENDED

He recommended the following moves as measures of relief:

"Real economy" at Washington by reorganization of governmental machinery to take the place of "the present politically expedient economy which now accomplishes only the curtailment of necessary appropriations for the conduct of the government;" a five-day working week for industry; State regulation of child labor to prevent unfair interstate competition; passage of Senator Wagner's unemployment bills; readjustment of tariff schedules "unfair to the American people and discriminatory to the foreign market for American products."

"The big captains of industry who sought to benefit themselves by exacting high prices from the American public won out, and the farmer lost. Not only is he no better off, but the attempt at farm relief contained in the measures enacted have tended to make the situation worse," he declared.

Referring to prohibition, he said:

ONE GREAT PROBLEM

"If there is any one great problem in which we are suffering from a lack of leadership, it is the solution of the muddle in which we find ourselves as a result of the enactment of the Eighteenth Amendment.

"It has not banished hard liquor from the country. The liquor still is flowing through every State in the Union and whatever benefit may have come to us by State regulation prior to prohibition has been wiped out and the American people, to my way of thinking, are gradually coming to the belief that the solution of the problem lies in returning to the old time, well defined, Democratic belief in the rights of the several States."

TWENTY-FIVE MINE DEAD RECOVERED

Three Others Located in Oklahoma Blast Where Twenty-nine Entombed

McALESTER (Okla.) Oct. 30. (AP) All but one of the twenty-nine miners entombed in the Wheatley Mine No. 4 by a violent explosion Monday night had been accounted for at 1 o'clock this morning. Four bodies still remained in the mine. Three of these had been found but had not been brought to the surface.

Funerals were conducted yesterday for several of the victims, and it was planned to bury others tomorrow. The Red Cross took over the task of interment, providing a maximum of $80 for each funeral.

Condition of the bodies recovered indicated the miners met death almost instantaneously. Seared by the blast and mutilated by falling debris, their bodies were virtually unrecognizable. Identification in most cases was provided by the numbered metal disks worn for that purpose.

The cause of the explosion still is undetermined.

The Princess refused an offer to go to work in the office of the plant, and requested that she be placed where she could learn the trade.

As a result of her ability, Copenhagen is soon to have a royal book-binder. Princess Alexandrine Louise is a daughter of Prince Harald, brother of the King of Denmark.

the buying power of many countries.

The Secretary made a plea for aid to those who suffer as the result of business depression and added that this country is particularly fortunate in being in a position to cope with the situation arising from the depression.

"We are particularly fortunate in having in the White House a man who has the knowledge and the experience that peculiarly fits him to deal with the situation," Mr. Mellon said. "Throughout his career both during the war and afterward, President Hoover exhibited a genius for organization and for quick and decisive action.

RECOVERY INDEFINITE

"These are the qualities that made him so effective in dealing with the situation last autumn, and I feel that too much credit cannot be given him for his very real and constructive contribution in mobilizing the business forces of the nation at a critical moment in its history."

The Secretary said no one can predict how long it will take to recover from the business depression.

"But of one thing we can be certain," he added. "With our great internal organization, our vast resources, our unparalleled domestic buying power and the indomitable spirit of our people, we shall be among the first of all the nations to recover and resume the onward march of progress."

UNDERSECRETARY MILLS URGES G.O.P. VICTORY

PERTH AMBOY (N. J.) Oct. 29. (AP)—Ogden L. Mills, Undersecretary of the Treasury, in an address here tonight urged the election of a Republican Congress as the best guarantee of co-operative effort to overcome conditions created by world-wide depression.

"Self-interest demands we should not change our board of directors at this time," he said. "When circumstances imperatively call for unity, we must not have division; when co-operation should be the order of the day, we should not enthrone opposition; and, clearly, when the immediate task is construction, we should not turn to those who cannot view a brick except in the light of something to be hurled."

FESS HITS PARTISANS FOR DEPRESSION CARPING

LIMA (O.) Oct. 29. (AP)—United States Senator Fess, chairman of the Republican National Committee, speaking at a Republican rally here tonight, expressed confidence in the nation's resources and declared that exaggerations by partisan leaders are partly responsible for continued business depression.

"If carping critics would withhold their direful prognostications," Fess said, "if the desire for quick and large returns in the field of speculation would give way to that of honest investment and if the partisan leaders would be satisfied to stay within the facts instead of employing exaggerations, quite a different situation would present itself."

BABSON SAYS HOOVER DELAYED CRASH TWO YEARS

BOSTON (Mass.) Oct. 29. (Exclusive)—"To send a man like Marcus A. Coolidge to the United States Senate would be like using gasoline to put out a fire," Roger W. Babson of Wellesley Hills, statistician and business prognosticator, declared today in a statement in which he unqualifiedly indorsed William M. Butler, Republican aspirant for the position. At the same time he declared that the Hoover administration, far from being responsible for the business depression, has been successful in delaying an inevitable crash for two years.

"Immediately upon Hoover's nomination business greatly improved," he said. "Hoover succeeded in extending for two years an era of prosperity which financial authorities felt had reached its end in the beginning of 1929.

"The fact is that the entire world today is in a business depression and that there is a large amount of unemployment in every country. To send men like Marcus A. Coolidge to the United States Senate would be like using gasoline to put out a fire. If there ever was a time when this country needs men with the experience of both business leaders and statesmen it is today."

WILBUR OUSTS LAND OFFICER

fit him to resign, pending an investigation. This investigation was conducted by the Department of Justice, which reported that Kelley's charges are baseless and that the Interior Department is to be commended rather than criticised for its handling of oil shale leases. Yesterday President Hoover characterized the accusations as a political plot to embroil his administration in scandal on the eve of the coming elections.

At the same time Kelley was getting the boot from Secretary Wilbur, Senator Glenn of Illinois, a member of the Senate Public Lands Committee, which is expected to launch an inquiry when Congress reconvenes in December, issued a statement challenging the New York World, the newspaper involved, to publish a "full statement of the facts" regarding its relations with the former field agent.

"In all justice and fairness," declared Senator Glenn, "such a statement should contain the names of any and all members of the World staff who held discussions with any member or members of the Democratic party organization respecting the Kelley charges. It also should contain the dates and subject matter of the discussions between Mr. Kelley and any members of the World staff in respect to his charges with reference to oil shale lands, and the exact amount of money that was paid to him from all sources for the syndicated articles which the World published.

KELLEY SILENT

"Mr. Kelley himself cannot claim to be a public servant rendering patriotic service unless he can show that he did not sell his articles to the World or to any other newspaper organization or individual, and that their publication was in no wise associated with partisan campaign politics. If Mr. Kelley wishes to clear himself of the implication of playing politics and seeking remuneration for his articles, he should publish a full statement under oath at once."

Kelley, in Washington today, refused comment other than to say the President's statement of yesterday made it imperative that the Senate investigate the whole matter fully.

Secretary Wilbur's letter of dismissal to Kelley follows:

"Referring to my letter of September 29, suspending you from duty, your conduct has been such that your connection with the Interior Department may be considered terminated by dismissal as of September 29, 1930."

WOMAN AND TWO MEN INDICTED IN AX KILLING

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 29. (AP)—Mrs. Clara Uhr and two United States Army soldiers, Lexie Jones and Donald D. Walker, were indicted by a grand jury here today in connection with the ax slaying of Mrs. Uhr's husband, Daniel Uhr, on the 18th inst. The body of Uhr, an invalid, was found with his skull crushed. Mrs. Uhr in a statement admitted hiring Jones to commit the crime with a promise of $500 from Uhr's insurance. Walker was accused as the go-between.

KINFOLKS GIVEN BERRY WEALTH

Bay City Oil Man and Miner Provides for Relatives

Life Incomes Left to Widow and Connections

Los Angeles Sisters Share in Final Division

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29. (AP)—Providing a $50,000 annual income for his widow and life incomes for relatives and friends, the will of Clarence J. Berry, millionaire oil operator and mining man, was filed for probate here today. Berry died in Los Angeles a week ago following an operation for appendicitis.

The executors stipulate the estate is "in excess of $10,000." No other estimate was made of Berry's extensive holdings, principally California oil lands and Alaskan gold fields.

ALASKAN START

The San Franciscan went to Alaska in the gold rush days with two brothers. He returned with a modest fortune which grew into millions in California oil investments. Berry at one time was one of the leading independent oil operators in the State.

Almost the entire estate is placed in trust, the income to be administered by A. Duane Bush of Winnemucca, Nev., a nephew of Mrs. Berry; Othmar Berry, Palo Alto banker, a nephew of Berry, and James Berry, Coalinga, a cousin.

The largest bequest was the $50,000 life income to his widow. A $600-a-month income was left to Mrs. Mamie Bush, Berry's mother-in-law.

Monthly incomes for life of $100 were provided for three of Berry's uncles—Ed Berry, Potosi, Mo.; Alonzo Berry, Riverside, Cal., and Rice Berry, Visalia; three family friends—Mrs. Maybelle Dunn and Mrs. Ruth Lawson, both of San Francisco, and Frances Hoffman, Los Angeles. Fifty-dollar-a-month incomes were given to Bill McPhee, a Klondike friend, and Wash Coates, a cousin.

Bequests were made to employees who have died since the will was made three years ago.

All income not needed to pay the specific bequests is to be placed in a depository fund to be divided among other relatives.

BULK OF ESTATE

Of the residual income 37½ per cent is to be divided equally among H. Frank Berry and Fred C. Berry, brothers, of San Francisco; Cora B. Skelton and Nellie V. Berry, sisters, of Los Angeles; Alice Edna Berry, Mrs. Berry's sister and widow of one of Berry's brothers, and Daisy B. Keller, another sister of Mrs. Berry.

Another 37½ per cent is to be divided equally among fourteen nephews, nieces and one grandnephew. The executors are included in these fourteen legatees.

The remaining 25 per cent is to go into a special fund to be added to the bulk of the estate and be equally divided among the children of Othmar Berry, A. Duane Bush, Malbe E. Bennett, a niece, and Alta E. Charles, niece. The division is to be made when the youngest child of the four named, who is now 1 year old, becomes 21. Life incomes must be continued despite the expiration of the trust, the will provides.

TARDIEU TAKES CRACK AT DUCE

Says French Not Born to Teach Other People

Premier Speaks at Dinner to Ocean Flyers

Proposes Toast and Cheers to President Hoover

PARIS, Oct. 29. (AP)—Toasting Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte, Atlantic flyers, at an official dinner in their honor tonight, Premier Tardieu said the French people do not think themselves "born to give lessons to other peoples."

"We live in times of material and mental trouble," he said, "when words have acquired the habit of going beyond the possibilities of acts. Therefore, I want that my words respond exactly to your acts.

"That is why I say to you, our people, as a people, is strong and sensible. A people that does not think itself born to give lessons to other peoples, a people too quick to divide itself, a people that does not always render itself the justice it merits and which in order well to understand itself has need to see itself reflected in its sons."

FRENCHMEN UNITED

From the reception given the Premier's remarks, it was apparent his hearers understood him to be referring to Premier Mussolini's recent speech.

The Premier praised the flyers for their historic crossing of the Atlantic and commented on their good will tour of the United States, but emphasized especially one achievement which surpassed them all.

"That," said M. Tardieu, "was the bringing together of all Frenchmen for the first time since the war. Tonight is one occasion where I feel I am interpreting the feelings of all Frenchmen, without distinction of politics or rank, when I say to Coste and Bellonte, 'well done.'"

TOAST PRESIDENTS

The Premier presided with evident pleasure and before any speeches were made he arose and shouted his enthusiasm: "I wish you all to arise and drink to the health of the two chiefs of the great countries which Coste and Bellonte link together—the United States and France. Gentlemen, I want you to drink the healths of Herbert Hoover and Gaston Doumergue."

The entire assemblage arose, cheered, and drank deeply to the health of President Hoover and President Doumergue in France's best vintage champagne, Tardieu twice leading the cheering.

COSTE PRAISEFUL

Coste spoke three minutes, expending two of them in telling his compatriots of the wonderful reception he and Bellonte received in the United States.

"Airplanes swarmed up like bees to welcome us over every city we visited," he said.

Another speaker was Norman Armour, American charge d'affaires, who made his remarks in French and was repeatedly interrupted by applause, his auditors appreciating the compliment of language.

The list of guests looked like a leaf taken from the political, literary and artistic registers of Paris. Among them were seven ministers, five members of the French Cabinet, eight generals and numerous aviators.

THIRD 'HEIR' TO FORTUNE TESTIFIES

Twelve Claimants Seek $325,000 Trust Fund for "Lost Grandson"

NEWARK (N. J.) Oct. 29. (AP)—The third of twelve claimants to a $325,000 trust fund left by William E. Emery of Flemington to a missing grandson began his case in Chancery Court today. He is Leo Sova, who testified shortly before the third day's session ended.

James E. Nicholson of Baltimore and Albert Childers of Los Angeles have presented their cases. A twelfth claimant, George Smith Bruce of Memphis, Tenn., arrived in court today.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Childers, who reared Albert Childers, said he was brought to them in Washington in 1896, by Sophie Lahdgraf, a nurse, and a Mr. Gray. They identified a photograph of the late Francis P. Georger, asserted father of the supposed heir, as "Mr. Gray."

William M. Scaife of Pittsburgh, a college classmate of Georger, said there was a striking likeness between him and Nicholson and their handwriting was similar.

Vice-Chancellor John H. Backer asked Scaife if he thought Georger "would cast his own flesh and blood away." Scaife replied in the affirmative saying Georger told him he did not "want any of those things around his home."

Ambassador Now Conferring With French Leaders

May Go to Rome for Session With Mussolini

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29. (AP)—Acting with the permission of President Hoover in an effort to facilitate a Franco-Italo naval accord, Hugh Gibson is conferring with French officials and may go to Rome to talk with Italian statesmen before the opening, November 6, of the League of Nations preparatory disarmament commission.

If he concludes his work in Paris in time to go to Rome before the opening of the League commission he may do so. Otherwise, he will wait to confer with the Italian officials at the opening of the League sessions at Geneva.

Gibson, head of the American delegation to the League commission and American Ambassador to Belgium, has been conferring with Premier Tardieu and Foreign Minister Briand of France. State Department officials, including Secretary Stimson, declined tonight to discuss the Ambassador's conversations, which are taking place in a highly informal manner, but with a view to contributing as much as possible to the efforts for an early settlement of the Franco-Italian naval question.

The conversations Gibson is having are of a highly informal character, based largely on his personal friendship and acquaintance with European statesmen. His conversations in Rome, if he makes the trip there, with Premier Mussolini and Foreign Minister Grandi will be of similar nature.

THEATERS SUE COUPLE SERVING PRISON TERM

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Oct. 29. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kavanaugh, who became the parents of a baby daughter shortly after they were committed to the prison from Los Angeles, today were named defendants in an action for $12,500, filed in Superior Court at San Rafael. The action was taken by the Publix Theaters and the United Artists Theater of Los Angeles. Kavanaugh, janitor at the United Artists Theater, was convicted of rifling the safe of $12,500. His wife, it was asserted, served as lookout.

KING AND QUEEN TO MARRY AGAIN

New Wedding Awaits Boris on Reaching Sofia

Greek Orthodox Catholic Rites to Be Used

Populace Reassured About Church Recognition

SOFIA (Bulgaria) Oct. 29. (AP)—There were indications today that when Czar Boris III and his bride, Giovanna, arrive here and undergo formal registration of their marriage at Assisi, the ceremony actually will be a new marriage, according to Greek Orthodox Catholic rites.

Archbishop Stephen of the orthodox church, which is the national church of Bulgaria, told the Associated Press the ceremony will have the complete character of marriage according to orthodox rites.

ONLY ONE FAITH

The Vatican, in its special dispensation permitting marriage of the pious Giovanna to a non-churchman, Boris, specified there must be no ceremony succeeding that at Assisi which could be mistaken as recognizing another faith. Vatican authorities also pointed out how the Sofia registration could be merely a civil affair and not violate this restriction.

The archbishop said the orthodox character of the rites will be unmistakably apparent in exchange of nuptial crowns by the Czar and his queen and in their partaking of the communion wine from a special cup. These, he said, constitute essential acts of the orthodox marriage service. Certain prayers of the ritual will be recited at the ceremony in the cathedral, by virtue of which the royal couple will be considered as united by the Bulgarian national church.

RING EXCHANGE OMITTED

The archbishop said the exchange of rings, performed in the Assisi ceremony, will be omitted, but he does not consider this part of the sacrament. His announcement and other recent statements have reassured the Bulgarian populace, who had begun to fear the national church would be ignored.

Every tailor in Sofia is working day and night to complete gala attire for the occasion of the King's arrival with his Italian bride. Last night a portrait of Giovanna, who will be known here as Ioanna, or Joanna, was hung in the parliamentary rooms.

ROYAL YACHT NEARING ISTANBUL

ISTANBUL (Turkey) Oct. 29. (AP) The Bulgarian royal yacht Czar Ferdinand, bearing King Boris and his recent bride, Queen Giovanna, from Italy to Bulgaria, passed through the Dardenelles tonight and is expected here tomorrow.

The Bulgarian Minister will come here from Angora to greet the royal honeymooners.

TWELVE HERO DOGS GET MEDALS FOR THEIR FEATS

NEW YORK, Oct. 29. (AP)—Silver medals of the Dog Hero Legion today dangled from the necks of twelve animals which in the last year performed acts of unusual intelligence or heroism.

The presentations were made by Mrs. Diana Belais, president and founder of the New York Antivivisection Society, and the recipients ranged from pampered pets of Park avenue to humble mongrels.

Tweedy, a French poodle, won his award by standing in front of an ice box, barking and wagging his tail until Mrs. Owen Kelly of New York City, discovered her 5-year-old son Billy had locked himself in the box.

Bob, a springer spaniel, owned by Mrs. Donald Carr of Mount Kisko, N. Y., who writes under the name of Blanche Shoemaker Wagstaff, summoned the Carrs when their farmhouse was burning.

Alec, a Newfoundland, led a searching party to a spot in the woods where his master, Thomas Coyles of Tarrytown, N. Y., was found dying with a broken leg.

Other winners were Princess Jacueline, a diminutive Boston bull terrier, credited by her owner, Mrs. Mabel Robinson of Waterville, Me., with the ability to talk and Daisy, a German shepherd, which daily guides a blind woman through the New York traffic.

SING SING WILL HAVE ITS IMPRESARIO AGAIN

NEW YORK, Oct. 29. (AP)—Sing Sing prison is to have its own theatrical impresario for some time to come. Frederick Mark, who on two previous stays within the walls established quite a reputation as a dramatist, actor and producer of prison entertainment, is going back, this time for life. He was sentenced to life imprisonment as a fourth offender on a charge of robbery.

BANKER FREED BY KIDNAPERS

Galva (Ill.) Man Returns to His Home Unharmed

Identity of Captors Kept Secret by Victim

Refuses to Divulge Amount Paid as Ransom

GALVA (Ill.) Oct. 29. (AP)—Returning home unharmed today after being held blindfolded for three days by kidnapers, Earl Yocum, banker, refused to divulge who had held him captive or what ransom he had paid for his release.

He admitted he had been a prisoner of an extortion gang since Sunday, but refused to lend any aid toward tracking down the kidnapers.

"I'll let someone else save the country," he said.

Yocum was returned to his home early today by a motorist who found him walking on a lonely road near Atkinson, Ill., about fifteen miles from here. He said he had been dropped from an auto there earlier. He did not know where he was held prisoner because he had been kept blindfolded, but he believed it was near Atkinson.

His blindfold was removed long enough for him to write two notes to his wife, he said, and once he managed to slip it off long enough to read a newspaper account of his kidnaping.

The letters he wrote to his wife, he said, were "sort of suggested." Yocum said he was well fed by the gang.

RAILWAY FILES BRIEF FOR EXTENSION PERMIT

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29. (AP)—A brief supporting the application of the Sacramento Northern Railway for authority to construct an extension of its Holland line in Yolo and Solano counties, was sent to the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington today by the railroad. The proposed line, 83 miles long, would branch off from the Holland line near its southern terminus and run easterly, crossing Sutter Slough to Sutter Island, and thence south to Ryde.

Wolves Ravage Ontario Flocks

LINDSAY (Ont.) Oct. 29. (AP)—Wolves are terrorizing farmers and settlers of Stanhope Township, Haliburton.

So seriously have the wolves ravaged sheep flocks that only one farmer continues his efforts toward sheep raising. Children who used to make their way across the fields to the schoolhouse are now driven to the doorstep by their parents for protection against the beasts.

INSURANCE-POISON INQUIRY LAUNCHED

NEW YORK, Oct. 29. (AP)—The District Attorney in Brooklyn today investigated charges by Walter Kamarauskas that his wife twice had collected $4388 insurance on the lives of three of her boarders who, he said, died from drinking poisoned liquor. He made the charges in opposing a plea for temporary alimony.

The whisky which caused their deaths, his petition states, contained ground glass. The wife is seeking $20 a week temporary alimony in a separation suit.

Pacific Coast motorists praise free wheeling

(MANUFACTURED UNDER STUDEBAKER PATENTS)

"There is no comparison. Fact is, I wouldn't have a car without Free Wheeling any more than I would buy one without a self-starter. Free Wheeling is everything you claim and a lot more, it is the greatest "kick" I ever got out of a motor car, and you seem to have everything "muffled" except the hum of the tires. It's a great automobile."
T. M. BOYSEN, San Marino, Calif.

"I find Free Wheeling very convenient in traffic, and very good in making long drives. My personal opinion is that Free Wheeling is much superior to the old way of handling a car. More ease and comfort in traveling and driving. We have no Free Wheeling cars doing actual police service but from my own observation, I know Free Wheeling would be of great benefit in police work."
L. V. JENKINS, Chief of Police, Portland, Ore.

"Better than any car I have ever owned. I was in the automobile business and have owned a number of fine expensive cars. My Commander gives me the most satisfactory service and pleasure."
W. M. HARTFORD, Portland, Ore.

"All other cars are obsolete. I drove my last Studebaker over 101,000 miles and the principal reason for turning it in was to get a closed body. We have had 17 Studebakers and 12 are still in daily service—all satisfactory."
A. H. deMAMIEL, San Francisco, Calif.

"My car is so far superior to any I have ever driven, that there is no comparison. I am delighted with Free Wheeling, it gives one the sensation of coasting. In addition to the four features which influenced me in purchasing a Free Wheeling President, I wish to add that the general beauty of the car together with the all-steel body, were also taken into consideration, along with the pep and quick getaway of the motor. Do not overlook the fact that I compared it with many other makes, and after so doing, it was a very easy matter to decide in favor of the President State Sedan."
DR. FRED L. MONTGOMERY, Puyallup, Wash.

THE thrill, the thrift, the ease and the pleasure of Free Wheeling with positive gear control are reflected in hundreds of letters like these, from enthusiastic owners of new Studebaker Eights. This astonishing swing to Studebaker is not confined to East nor West, but is nationwide. By this conquest of momentum, Studebaker has given you motoring such as you never knew before. At any price above $1000 you owe yourself the thrifty luxury of Free Wheeling. Come, try it!

"Most satisfactory car I have ever driven, nor have I ever been in a car to equal it. On short trips as high as 17 miles to the gallon. One trip of 1,800 miles averaged 15 miles to the gallon."
GURT VANDERSLUIS, Los Angeles, Calif.

"Free Wheeling demonstrated without a salesman sold the car when I had absolutely no intention of buying. Free Wheeling can't be described in connection with other cars I have driven nor is there any comparison. Am more pleased every time I drive and the service locally leaves nothing to ask for. Am 100% Studebaker Free Wheeler."
J. G. RUPLE, Los Angeles, Calif.

"There is no comparison—it is the finest car I have ever driven. My cars are used in oil field work exclusively and travel about 35,000 miles yearly over the worst possible road conditions. Have had nine Studebakers and have never yet spent one cent for more than a few minor adjustments. If you can produce a finer car than Studebaker—well, I doubt it."
JOHN POTTS, Fullerton, Calif.

"I have driven a lot of cars but this Free Wheeling President is the best yet. This Free Wheeling is the best in heavy traffic, as one can Free Wheel from one street to the next and not have to shift out of second gear."
T. E. ANDERSON, Lindsay, Calif.

"Studebaker has reached the pinnacle in its achievements. I can't see how it can be improved upon. It is supreme. Always ready—no warming up motors. Certainly can get away in traffic. Wonderful!"
RALPH PRATO, Seattle, Wash.

"Far superior in steering, power and ease of handling. About 90% of mileage is thru heavy traffic. On a test run on the open road averaged about 20 miles to the gallon, doing 101½ miles on 5 gallons of gas. These are all very careful tests—no guess work. Find car handled easily in 2nd gear. Free Wheeling from bell to bell in down-town traffic. Parking at curb no longer a task."
Mrs. CATHERINE E. DANIELS, Los Angeles, Calif.

"I have yet to ride in a car that offers as much driving comfort and easy manipulation as my Free Wheeling Commander car, and I might add that the quietness of the motor, particularly in second gear, relieves the dullness of a long trip."
T. P. STROUPE, San Francisco, Calif.

"A wonderful car and am well satisfied. Have owned 8 cars before but nothing that I like to drive as well as I do the Studebaker."
B. H. FOTHERINGHAM, Spokane, Wash.

ROBERT R. PAINTER, Santa Monica, Calif.

"The most remarkable car I have ever driven. After having used several cars in the price range of the Studebaker in the last five years I have come to the conclusion I will never drive anything else but a Studebaker if they continue to give the dollar miles I have gotten out of the last two. The car I now own sold me on this idea."
W. H. PITTMAN, Surf, Calif.

"Provides a thrill which no other car can give."
ROSCOE ARBUCKLE, Hollywood, Calif.

"I have owned several other makes of autos and am now driving another car besides my Commander and none of them have given me the comfort and satisfaction that my Commander does. I think this Free Wheeling is the greatest improvement put on automobiles to date. Free Wheeling makes driving 100% safer by being able to shift into conventional second at most any speed without clashing gears."
G. E. ZIMMERMAN, Chief of Fire Department, Coronado, Calif.

"I think Free Wheeling is the best improvement in cars since the self-starter. I would never buy another car unless it had Free Wheeling."
THOS. M. MASSEY, Spokane, Wash.

"It is a great car with these new features. Am surely pleased, can go up all our hills in high."
A. E. DRUCKER, Dean, State College of Washington, Pullman, Wash.

The four devices described here are not mere gadgets intended to attract the fancy of a fickle public. They are serious, definite improvements in radio design of such importance that the new Brunswick has justly been termed, "The Radio of the Future."

Only Brunswick has all these features. Others may some day seek to incorporate these devices in their, as yet, unbuilt models, but when you buy a Brunswick you get them now! And of course you get the full rich tone for which Brunswick, as a builder of fine musical instruments, has always been justly celebrated.

Ask your nearest Brunswick dealer to show you what these features contribute towards the operation of an instrument which will be in daily use in your home. Ask him to let you get the "feel" of the Uni-Selector; the new experience of controlling tone in radio reception. Only in this way can you appreciate what Brunswick has brought to radio.

Reichstag Committee Downs Revision Motions

Plea Made, However, That Other Nations Disarm

Germany Declared Periled by War Preparations

BERLIN, Oct. 29. (AP)—The Foreign Affairs Committee of the Reichstag tonight rejected all motions which would raise the question of reparations revision at this time. At the same time, however, it adopted a resolution urging the government to take immediate and vigorous steps to end the "perilous situation" in Europe wherein a "disarmed Germany is surrounded by ever-increasing preparations for war."

The resolution, carried by the votes of the Bourgeois and Right-ist parties against opposition Socialists and Communists, expressed the "greatest disillusionment" over the present status of the disarmament movement.

"The Foreign Affairs Committee," read the resolution, "expects of the government that it work with all the means at its disposal for a speedy correction of this perilous situation and that it insist with the utmost emphasis on the disarmament of other nations, conforming in scope and nature to the disarmament of Germany and the principle of equal security, and that it establish clearly whether foreign powers are willing, in conformity with this demand, to fulfill the stipulated obligations of the Versailles Treaty."

The committee's action was viewed in official circles as further clarification of Germany's internal politics, since it indicated the majority—including the Fascists—is ready to back Chancellor Heinrich Bruening's government in a peaceful foreign policy stressing disarmament, and shelving, for the time being at least, the questions of treaty revision and reparations.

Lloyd George Brings Matter Before House

Colonial Department Denies Policy Changed

Argentinian Jews Appeal to League of Nations

LONDON, Oct. 29. (AP)—David Lloyd George, Premier in Britain's war Cabinet, today carried the subject of Palestine formally into the House of Commons by asking the whole matter of British policy be debated by the House.

Criticism of the activities of Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald accompanied Lloyd George's demand.

"REMARKABLE IF TRUE"

"The Prime Minister has said that there is no departure in the recent white paper from the policy on Palestine that has existed under previous governments," the Welshman said.

"Well, if there is no departure in policy it is very remarkable that the whole Jewish world should take exception to the British statement."

The Liberal leader continued there would be serious consequences unless the question should be cleared up. His address formed the outstanding feature of today's session of Commons.

NO CHANGE IN POLICY

Lord Passfield, the Colonial Secretary, whose department was responsible for putting out the white paper to which Zionists have objected, told the Parliamentary Labor party there was absolutely no intention by the government to diverge from the policy carried out by previous governments in Palestine.

The agitation which had been created, he said, must be due entirely to a misconception of the government's position.

ARGENTINIAN JEWS ASK AID OF LEAGUE

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 29. (AP)—A general committee representing 250,000 Jews in Argentina today addressed an appeal to the League of Nations strongly protesting the recent British white paper laying down a policy for Palestine. The appeal said that without Jewish immigration and the right to purchase land the Balfour declaration is void in meaning and value.

RUBY'S FUTURE NOT SO BRIGHT

Demand for Big Gems Lags, Declares Expert

Record Red Jewel Found in Magok, Upper Burma

Greatest Flawless Diamonds Not Kept Intact

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29. (AP)—Be it ever so rare, the 100-carat ruby just reported found in Magok, Upper Burma, meets no especially bright future in this era of few thrones.

Such, at least, is the erudite judgment of Dr. W. F. Foshag, Smithsonian expert on gems, who even hazarded an opinion the huge ruby may have to be cut up into smaller stones—the fate of the world's two largest flawless diamonds. For who wants a tiara tip or a set for a scepter nowadays?

With all remaining monarchs well stocked in spectacular stones, and the jewels of several ousted monarchs lying in public treasuries, unsold, the buyer for a really rare jewel has become even rarer than the stone.

RUBY LORE LACKING

Ruby lore is lacking in Foshag's archives. No general compendium ever has been made of the greatest rubies, Dr. Foshag said, as they have been held principally by East Indian princes, far from the beaten track of jewel cataloguers.

But the Rangoon dispatches ranking the new ruby among the world's most priceless gems may well be true, Dr. Foshag said, as even a ten-carat ruby, flawless and of the coveted pigeon-blood red, is most unusual.

Like the Cullinan and the Excelsior diamonds, however, it came to light a few centuries too late to blaze a trail of intrigue like that of lesser earlier stones.

EACH PRINCE HAD PRIDE

Up to 1882, not more than 100 diamonds more than thirty carats in weight were known to exist, fifty in Europe, the rest principally in Persia and India.

Each prince had his special pride. Russia boasted the Orloff, 193 carats, chief ornament in the imperial scepter, said in dim past ages to have been the eye of an Indian idol. France was proud of the Regent 136 3-5 carats, most conspicuous gem in a disused crown. England had its Kohinoor, 186 carats, a stone that had passed from prince to prince for six centuries.

LARGE ONE CUT UP

But when diamonds that were big began to come out of Brazil, and the Orange Free State in the later '90's, they went begging. Greatest of all time was the Cullinan, 3024 carats, almost two pounds, flawless and of the finest blue water. It waited until 1905 to be cut up into two large stones, one for the scepter of the British King, another for the Queen's crown, and seven others that were scattered. The Excelsior, second largest gem diamond found in 1893, waited ten years for a buyer, and then was chopped into twenty-one brilliants. Only the Jubilee, 239 carats, found in 1895, remained intact, happily fitting into the 1897 jubilee celebration of Queen Victoria.

PARTY SLAP AT BALDWIN STIRS RIFT

Parliament Conservatives Exercised Over Petition Aimed at ex-Premier

LONDON, Oct. 29. (AP)—Conservative members of Parliament today made vigorous efforts to discover who affixed their names to a petition drafted at a party meeting last night calling upon Stanley Baldwin, former Prime Minister, to resign their leadership.

When Col. John Gretton, member from the Burton division of Staffordshire, who is said to have presided at the meeting which drew up the documents; Col. Francis E. Freemantle of St. Albans, Sir Bolton Eyres Monsell, chief parliamentary Conservative whip, and others disclaimed any part in the demand upon Baldwin, various other members are understood to be considering the possibility of taking some legal action.

The manifesto was displayed prominently, with the names of forty-four supposed signers, many of them conspicuous Conservative leaders, in almost the entire British press this forenoon.

Col. Gretton promptly declared the report "unauthorized and inaccurate" and Col. Freemantle, in an address delivered later said he was not even present at the meeting. No statement was forthcoming from Mr. Baldwin.

Court of Inquiry Delves Into Air Crash Off Port

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29. (AP)—A Navy Court of Inquiry today began an investigation of the circumstances of an airplane accident off Los Angeles Harbor last Monday which resulted in the death of two navy aviators.

Lieut. Oddie W. Anderson of Rhineland, Mo., died yesterday of injuries suffered in a crash after a catapult take-off from the battleship Idaho. His companion, Ensign Glenn L. Desor, a reservist, of Long Beach, was killed when the plane capsized.

Navy officials said the plane left the Idaho in a normal catapult. At a distance of 1000 feet it turned sharply left, dropped into a spin, and capsized on striking the water.

BANKER KILLS SELF

BENTON HARBOR (Mich.) Oct. 29. (AP)—Clayton M. Niles, 62 years of age, president of the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank of Benton Harbor, shot himself to death some time yesterday. His body was found at midnight in a barricaded garage in the rear of his home.

AID SOUGHT IN STUDY OF R-101 LOSS

Widows of Victims Asked for Letters or Reports Sent from Dirigible

LONDON, Oct. 29. (AP)—Because charred bits of the R-101 log were all searchers could find after the giant British dirigible was destroyed by fire in France, widows of the forty-eight victims today were asked to produce copies of reports or letters written by their husbands concerning the dirigible.

Loss of the log in the fire was made known at the government's public inquiry into the disaster by Sir William Jowitt, Attorney-General, who made the appeal for aid in procuring documentary evidence bearing on the condition of the ship.

Flames which reduced the R-101 to a mass of twisted steel probably obliterated most of the evidence which would have solved the mystery of the crash, it was indicated by Sir William's closing summation of preliminaries.

Assurances of Briand's Health Fail to Soothe

PARIS, Oct. 29. (AP)—The condition of Foreign Minister Briand continued today to cause uneasiness, with the opening of the Chamber of Deputies less than a week away.

At the Foreign Office today assurance was given that M. Briand is "quite all right," but remaining indoors to avoid exposure to the chill, wet weather.

There is well-defined opinion, nevertheless, among members of Parliament that interpellations upon foreign policy may have to be postponed until after the Armistice celebration on November 11.

This will give the Foreign Minister further time to recover his strength. M. Briand has been indoors since the 2nd inst.

Child Epidemic Decline Shown

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29. (AP)—Infantile paralysis cases dropped from 569 to 397 during the past week with decreases especially marked in Massachusetts, New York and Ohio.

Public Health Service officials are encouraged by the decline and regard it as presaging the end of the outbreak.

Decreases by States most affected were: Massachusetts from forty-two to twenty-two; New York, fifty to nineteen; Ohio, ninety-six to forty-nine; California, eighty-seven to seventy-two.

LEGION SEEKS BOND SUPPORT

Final Appeal Made to Voter on Issue

Funds Will Provide Credit for Veterans' Homes

State Commander Reviews Service Benefits

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29. (Exclusive)—In a final appeal to the voters of California to approve the $20,000,000 farm and home loan bond issue for veterans State Commander B. W. Gearhart of Fresno and other heads of the American Legion have joined in a statement pointing out to the people that the proposed bond issue will not cost the taxpayers a single penny, but will bring added values to California through the aid given to the World War veterans to secure homes and farms through the aid of State financial credit.

"Gov. Young, Mayor Rolph, Senator Frank F. Merriam of Long Beach, members of the California Congressional delegation, State Controller Riley, the major political parties of California and organizations numbering many hundreds up and down the State have indorsed the farm and home loan bonds," State Commander Gearhart declared.

FUNDS WILL BE LOANED

"The funds from the sale of the bonds will be utilized in carrying on the work of the State veterans' welfare board and all of the money loaned to the veterans will be amply secured and will be paid back with interest," Commander Gearhart pointed out.

"Indorsement of the bond proposal, one of those declared to be noteworthy by Col. Arthur Woods, chairman of President Hoover's unemployment relief committee, will serve is a stimulus to veterans to home building and employment of labor."

CONTROLLER APPROVES

"California is committed to the program of employing the credit of the State for the purchase of homes and farms for California veterans," said State Controller Riley. "Proposition No. 1 on the ballot provides for an additional $20,000,000 to permit a continuance of that program which has operated so successfully up to date, and without cost to the taxpayers of this State. Seventy-five hundred veterans have become home and farm owners under this plan, and the additional credit will enable the veterans welfare board to care for applications to purchase homes and farms that are now held in abeyance because of exhaustion of funds.

"As State Controller I have had an opportunity to observe the administration of this plan and can unhesitatingly commend the adoption of Proposal No. 1 as a sound policy for the State to continue."

POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT

Oh Lady, Lady

What a job you're in for. That is, if you let the politicians put Daylight Saving on the statute books. You're the one to suffer most by this trick law. You'll get up an hour earlier—feed Junior off his schedule—send little Annabelle to school in the cold gray dawn—cook dinner in the heat of the afternoon—drink day-old milk—miss a few trains—have your mail delivery out of kilter—put the youngsters to bed in broad daylight and suffer a score of other little picnics that would probably leave you limp by the end of each summer. Then the clocks go back to normal and you have to do the rearranging all over again. Daylight Saving is an unnatural condition. That's why the clergy is against it. That's why your social leaders will vote it down again.

Why these four great scientists publicly approve Colgate's

A group of highly distinguished American scientists explain why Colgate's penetrating foam cleans teeth better.

25c

The price is important—but the quality—not the price—has held Colgate leadership for 30 years.

FOUR great scientists take the stand to talk about toothpastes! And all four publicly approve Colgate's!

Dr. Hardee Chambliss, world-famous scientist; Dr. Allen Rogers, research scientist of renown; Dr. H. H Bunzell, analyst of modern dentifrices; Jerome Alexander, consultant. These and other outstanding American scientists have recently performed an unique experiment.

They have examined, tested, analyzed a series of modern toothpastes. And they have come to the unanimous conclusion that Colgate's is superior.

Let them say why. "Colgate's," says Dr. Hardee Chambliss, "has greater cleansing ability than other dentifrices."

"It has no equal as a cleansing dentifrice," Dr. Rogers announces after tests, "because it has the ability to get into crevices between the teeth and remove decaying food."

Dr. Bunzell finds that because it is made of "the most effective cleansing agents," Colgate's is to be preferred.

And Jerome Alexander speaks for his colleagues when he attributes this special ability to "low surface tension" ...which causes that penetrating power for which Colgate's is justly famed.

During its 30 years, Colgate's has been more universally recommended than any other dentifrice. More people use it than any other.

Scientific approval is reason enough for you to use Colgate's. The price is another reason—since this superior toothpaste sells for only 25c the tube.

HUGE ELECTRIC PLANT PLANNED

San Joaquin Light and Power Company Will Build It

Steam-Operated Generating Project for Fresno

Approximately 600 Men to Be Employed on Work

FRESNO, Oct. 29. (Exclusive)—Plans for the immediate construction of a 50,000-kilowatt steam-operated electric-generating plant on the south bank of the San Joaquin River, ten miles north of this city, were announced here today by A. Emory Wishon, president of the San Joaquin Light and Power Corporation.

A crew of men will be placed on the site immediately to put it into shape for the construction crews, in anticipation of a building program that will require twenty months to complete.

Plans for the plant have been completed and orders for the equipment soon will be placed, the announcement said.

The plant will use gas from the Kettleman Hills oil field for fuel, which will be supplied through a twelve-inch main that will be built from here to the plant site. The fuel will be supplied through the power corporation's affiliation with the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, which now supplies the city of Fresno with natural gas.

The plant will be of the most modern design, and will utilize water from the river for cooling and condensing purposes, which will make for economy in both construction and operation, Wishon said.

Harold K. Fox, chief construction engineer for the company, will be in charge of construction, completion of which has been tentatively set for June 1, 1932.

The new plant will virtually double the generating capacity of the company's present steam plants, and will give the company a total production in steam and hydroelectric plants of 214,105 kilowatts. In addition to its own generating capacity, the company has long-term contracts with irrigation districts in the valley for 41,000 kilowatts of power, and has a tie-in line at the Wilson substation near Merced with the system of the Great Western Power Corporation, and the system of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, through which it can call upon these systems for additional power.

In anticipation of employment of much of its construction crew in Fresno and surrounding communities, it was announced that the company will not establish a construction camp.

Approximately 600 men will be employed on the project when the peak of the building program is reached.

Reds in March Voice Demands at Sacramento

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 29. (AP)—Singing the "Internationale" 1000 Communists marched upon the City Hall here tonight demanding a hearing at an unemployment conference called by Mayor Bidwell. They were halted in the street before the City Hall by police reserves. They shouted demands that they be permitted to address the meeting.

Mayor Bidwell acquiesced and a group of twenty Communists, led by Mike Daniels, Communist organizer, and bearing banners demanding aid for the unemployed and distribution of wealth to the poor, entered the Council chamber.

Daniels presented the party's demands—asking the city to provide a sinking fund of $3,000,000 from which unemployed persons in Sacramento be paid $25 weekly and $5 for each dependent.

NEW SUN FEATURES FILMED

Naval Head of Eclipse Expedition Says Professors Pleased With Results in South Seas

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29. (AP)—Phenomena connected with the sun's eclipse heretofore never observed by man are reported to have been registered in pictures taken of the eclipse, the 21st inst., on Niufafu Island in the Southern Pacific by the United States Naval Observatory eclipse expedition.

A dispatch received today from Commander C. H. J. Keppler, in charge of the expedition, indicated photographs taken held exceptional promise of new discoveries. The message said:

PLATES SHOW DETAIL

"Nine plates from the sixty-three-foot camera show exceptional beauty and detail. Prof. Marriott is vastly gratified. Prof. Mitchell's spectrographs show exquisite definitions through a long range in wave length from 3200 in violet to 7800 angstroms in red. Several coronium lines are visible in the spectra, of which one at wave length 6770 is a new discovery.

"This line is of considerable strength and shows itself on two different photographs. The green coronium line and the red and one at 6374 show much structural detail. Both the spectrograph and the photographed coronal disturbances on the east and west edges of the sun took their origin in gruptive prominences. The detail shown on coronium lines, does not all resemble that exhibited by the prominences, and the changes in coronal forms shown by successive spectra indicate violent motions in the corona.

LONG JOB AHEAD

"These disturbances can be traced to heights of 100,000 miles above the sun's surface. Similar phenomena have never been observed before. Coronal streams on Einstein plates extend more than two diameters beyond the edge of the sun."

Prof. S. A. Mitchell, referred to in the dispatch, is director of the Leander McCormick Observatory at the University of Virginia. Prof. R. W. Marriott is astronomer for Swarthmore College.

Officials of the Naval Observatory estimated that spectrographic data obtained by Prof. Mitchell would occupy his attention for fifteen years. The expedition is expected to reach the island of Tutuila about November 1.

TOBACCO TAXES SHOW INCREASE

Revenue Report Gives Gain of $1,289,547 This Year

Advance in Cigarette Duty Declared to Be Cause

North Carolina Leads Except in Making of Cigars

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29. (AP)—An increase of $1,289,547 in tobacco taxes collected by the government in the first nine months of the 1930 calendar year, as compared with the same period last year, was shown today in figures announced by the Internal Revenue Bureau.

The total tobacco tax for the period was $342,737,534, as compared to $341,447,987 last year. The increase was due entirely to an advance in the cigarette tax, which jumped from $271,671,338 last year to $276,204,079 this year.

The tax collected on cigars declined approximately $2,000,000 to $14,306,687, while the tax on manufactured snuff dropped from $52,384,109 to $51,135,755 and the tax on cigarette papers increased from $1,011,652 to $1,091,011.

North Carolina led in the amount of tobacco tax, paying $38,534 on cigars, $179,668,405 on cigarettes, and $17,666,594 on manufactured tobacco.

Pennsylvania led in the tax on cigars, paying a total of $4,426,319.

PARDON WON BY HEIR TO RICH ESTATE

Venezuelan Enabled to Return Home and Claim Share of $2,000,000

SPRINGFIELD (Ill.) Oct. 29. (AP) A pardon which cleared the way for a young South American to return to Venezuela to collect his share of an estate estimated at $2,000,000 was granted today by Gov. Emmerson.

The recipient, Louis Vargas, reared on his father's ranch near Maracaibo, Venezuela, educated in Switzerland, had been in this country only a short time when he was arrested for a hold-up and sentenced from one to ten years in the penitentiary. After serving three years and eleven months at Joliet he was paroled, went into the restaurant business in Chicago and was married.

Last month he received word his father, a rancher and oil man, died in Venezuela. The immigration law forbids ex-convicts from returning to the United States, so Vargas appealed to the Parole Board and the Governor.

Gov. Emmerson's absolute pardon will permit Vargas to return to the United States after he has collected his share of the estate.

SON WITH GUN KIDNAPS MAMA

William Norris, Jr., Holds Up Society Sanatorium

Actor's Boy Charges Plot to Break Father's Will

He Takes Widowed Parent to Foil Relatives

GREENWICH (Ct.) Oct. 29. (Exclusive)—Playing the role of a western bad man gripping a gun in his pocket, William Norris, Jr., only son and namesake of the late actor who starred with Ethel Barrymore, held the strong arm forces of a famous Connecticut sanatorium at bay, kidnaped his mother from the place and tonight is fleeing with her from relatives he accuses of having imprisoned her.

The hold-up of the ultra-exclusive sanatorium of Dr. S. St. Clair Hitchcock, in the heart of the wooded millionaire colony in Greenwich, was carried out by the 18-year-old son of the actor after he declared he could not gain the freedom of Mrs. Mabel Norris, his widowed mother, in any other way.

DOCTOR BACKS DOWN

Connecticut police, called to the sanatorium by the excited Dr. Hitchcock while the youth held sway over the place and demanded that his mother be handed over to him, were told by the doctor tonight that he wishes "nothing more done in the case." Consequently they are puzzled.

The kidnaping melodrama includes an only son's inability to see his mother, a tale of a will which it is said relatives want to break, a chase leading to a friendly rooming-house keeper's place near Columbia University in New York City and a strange story of the mother's entry into the sanatorium.

The mother and son are together again for the first time since the father and husband, William Norris, Jr., a native of San Francisco, who starred on Broadway stages for thirty years, died about eighteen months ago. Young Norris, fresh from a trip to Brazil, a few days ago in New York took up residence as a rooming-house for Columbia students conducted on Morningside Heights by Joseph Morris.

THREAT VOICED

Norris explained to Morris that relatives, co-operating to break the will of his actor-father, leaving an estate of more than $150,000, had imprisoned his mother in a Connecticut sanatorium. Norris went there Monday and was unable to see her. Returning yesterday afternoon he was more insistent, but there was some delay. Dr. Hitchcock still insists that Mrs. Norris, an actress herself before she married the famous leading man, did not wish to see her boy.

Impatient, Norris gripped something inside the right-hand pocket of his coat, according to the sanatorium head, and cried: "Give me my mother right away or I'll shoot up the place." Dr. Hitchcock being convinced the young man had a gun promptly delivered to Norris the mother dressed in her furs and ready to go. Then Dr. Hitchcock and his husky male nurses retreated and telephoned the police.

COMMISSION WON'T PLAY CAT'S-PAW ROLE

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29. (Exclusive)—The State Railroad Commission today refused to be drawn into a political controversy to suit the whims of San Francisco politicians. A request that the commission investigate expenditures of the Market-street Railway Company prior to the November 4 election to determine how much the company is spending to pass an amendment affecting its franchises was refused on the ground that the commission will receive that information in the company's annual report and no investigation is justified unless definite assertions, backed by facts, are produced to show that expenditures being made, if any, are excessive.

SHIPMEN URGE SAFETY LANES

Washington Conference for Steamship Zoning

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29. (AP)—A resolution favoring in a qualified fashion the establishment of steamship lanes for use of coastwise shipping as a measure of increasing safety at sea was adopted today at a conference of ship operators, shipowners and government officials interested in steamboat inspection.

The resolution as drafted by Ira A. Campbell, general counsel of the American Steamship Owners' Association, recommended "the voluntary establishment and use of lanes by shipping interests wherever practicable," leaving further study of its possibilities to be undertaken by committees organized for the purpose.

D. N. Hoover, inspector-general of the steamboat service, also advanced a project for requiring oil tankers and other shipping laden with inflammable or explosive material to anchor and cease navigation in foggy weather over crowded sea areas.

HEIR TO CHICAGO LOT FINDS BUILDING ON IT

CHICAGO, Oct. 29. (Exclusive)—Ralph W. Saltstrom of Glendale, Cal., was surprised a few days ago when, upon his arrival here, he went to what he thought was a vacant lot at Rockwell street and Glen Lake avenue, part of the estate of his father, and found there instead a fifteen-apartment building. He was further surprised when he discovered that the property on which the flat building was standing was presumably owned by B. M. Berman under a guaranteed title.

An investigation at the State's Attorney's office, however, soon convinced Saltstrom that the estate was the victim of fraud asserted by four men, Fred L. Padden, brother of Judge Frank Padden; Attorney Richard Donovan, John P. Moran and Lawrence P. Parker, but the estate probably will be able to recover the property, including the fifteen-apartment building not heretofore reckoned as an asset.

The story of the fraudulent transaction was unfolded by officers of the State's Attorney's office and Attorney Faust of the Chicago Title and Trust Company. The Cook county grand jury, it is reported tonight, returned true bills charging forgery and uttering a false document against the men involved.

WASTE CHARGED IN ANIMAL CURB

Killing of Predatory Beasts Declared Wasteful

Poison and Traps Cause Loss Greater Than Gain

Rat Bearers and Rodent Enemies Slaughtered

BERKELEY, Oct. 29. (Exclusive) Investigation of predatory animal [illegible] in California and Nevada by E. Raymond Hall, curator of mammals for the University of California, and Joseph Dixon, economic biologist, have prompted them to declare in an article for the American Journal of Mammalogy that stock raisers, farmers and the general public are not getting the results they should from the control methods now being used by the United States Biological Survey.

Among other things, the financial loss is greater than the gain, they say.

They state that in California and Nevada, at least, trapping and poisoning campaigns are resulting in the destruction as as many or more animals and birds beneficial to stock raisers and farmers than predatory animals which might lead to loss of stock. Without considering this loss of fur-bearing and game animals, it frequently costs more to kill the predators under present methods than it would to reimburse stock men for their losses in cash payment, they contend.

WASTEFUL METHODS

Dr. Hall and Dixon are insistent they are fully in sympathy with the dneed of stockmen for well-regulated and scientific protection from killers among wild animals. But they are opposed, the reports say, to the waste which often results from the present method of giving that protection, particularly in the use of poison.

Dr. Hall declares that when poison is used there is no means of preventing the wrong animals from getting it. Valuable fur bearers as well as coyotes are killed.

The fur crop in California alone is worth more than $500,000 a year, and any depreciation in this income through poisoning must be counted as part of the cost of predatory control. Also, animals are destroyed that are useful in the control of rodents. Fur bearers in some districts are the farmers' only means of making both ends meet during bad years. Rodent epidemics destroy forage and that takes money out of the pockets of both farmers and stockmen.

TRAINING NEEDED

What is needed, the university men say, is a more sensible and carefully planned method of controlling predators. In California at times there are forty government men doing, in a haphazard way, the work that could be done better by less than ten properly trained men.

Hall charges one instance in the Berkeley Hills where government agents are operating with traps and poison for the protection of sheep three years after the last sheep disappeared from the district. The chief result was to foster an increase of squirrels and rodents, with a consequent destruction of ground cover, and to heighten the danger to surrounding communities from the diseases of bubonic plague and tularemia sometimes carried by these animals.

COOPERSTOWN (N. Y.), Oct. 29. (AP)—The Mary Imogene Bassett Hospital here is going to try the experiment of selling a year's medical and hospital service for a fee paid in advance, $25 in the case of an individual and $100 for a family. Only maternity cases will be excepted.

The plan was announced as an experiment, to be given a year's trial.

DESPISED PINES BECOME PAPER

White Newsprint Made Out of "Slash" Variety

Chemistry Wizard Amazes Southern Leaders

Great Commercial Chances Seen in Discovery

ATLANTA (Ga.) Oct. 29. (AP)—A chemistry Aladdin laid before an Atlanta Chamber of Commerce luncheon today white newsprint paper made from a new source—slash pine.

He said it opens the prospect of a new and wholly American supply of newsprint and high-grade book paper made from southern pine trees, probably of all sorts.

The Aladdin is Dr. Charles H. Herty of New York, former president of the American Chemical Society. He made his discovery public without reservations, and proposed that southern business men make use of the knowledge to enrich the South.

MYTH DISPROVED

Southern pine long has been used to make paper of a yellow variety, Dr. Herty said, but not to compete with the high-grade sulfite process newsprint and white book paper made from spruce.

His new paper was made of the one variety of southern pine supposed to be the least capable of producing regular newsprint. It was held to contain too much resin. Last spring Dr. Herty announced at a meeting here the discovery that resin in young slash pines is mostly myth, and today he quoted the International Paper Company's research laboratory in confirmation.

Furthermore, Dr. Herty said today, there is no more resin in any of the southern pine than in spruce. The resin forms in the heart wood of the southern pines after they are about 25 years old when, he said, they usually are too large for pulpwood.

PROCESS DESCRIBED

The new white paper sample was made at a paper mill in a metal basket suspended inside a "digester" which was otherwise filled with spruce undergoing the regular sulfite process. Not only did the supposedly stubborn slash pine digest as easily as the spruce, said Dr. Herty, but it whitened with the same amount of bleach. Its fibers were as long and as strong as spruce.

"This is the first year, so far as I am aware," he said, "that slash pine has been made into this grade of white paper.

"Experiments now under way, but not yet completed, indicate that the same thing can be done with long leaf pine.

"I obtained these results through experiments in paper mills performed through the courtesy of my friends. If the South is going to put its 150,000,000 acres of cutover lands and abandoned farms to profitable reforestration, you have got to be able to answer the questions of the paper manufacturers as to what your trees will do. You have got to go into research and get the answers quickly."

FINAL BRIEF IN BILLINGS CASE FILED

Attorney for Convicted Bomber Says Evidence Lacks Sense or Reason

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29. (AP)—A concluding brief in the effort to obtain a pardon for Warren K. Billings, convicted with Thomas J. Mooney of bombing the Preparedness Day parade here in 1916 in which ten persons were killed, was filed with the California Supreme Court today by Edwin McKenzie, Billings's attorney. McKenzie said "nothing remains of the case against Mooney and Billings except perhaps, a lingering prejudice due to their past lives."

McKenzie says in his brief that both men are serving sentences as a result of convictions based on evidence having "no reason, sense or logic in it."

A lengthy, informal hearing into the Billings case was conducted here recently by the Supreme Court judges at which most of the evidence in the Mooney and Billings trials was attacked.

Six Months His Penalty Instead of 270 Years

NEW YORK, Oct. 29. (AP)—Samuel Whitney, married and the father of two children, pleaded guilty in Federal Court today to offenses whose maximum penalties would total 270 years in prison.

But because he is almost dead from a stomach disease, his only sentence was to six months in the Federal House of Detention.

Whitney visited a drug store and branch postoffice in Orange, N. J., last May, opened negotiations for the purchase of the store, and, while he was there, Federal agents said, slipped a money order pad into his pocket.

Today he pleaded guilty to having forged and passed twenty-seven money orders in New York. The maximum penalty for each offense is five years for the forgery and five for passing.

EXPERIMENTAL CUT IN RAIL FARE AUTHORIZED

AUSTIN (Tex.) Oct. 29. (AP)—Under authority of the Texas Railroad Commission the Texas and Pacific Railroad will launch an experiment November 1, next, to determine whether low-passenger fares will increase the number of persons who ride on trains between Fort Worth and Big Springs. The commission authorized a cut from 3.6 cents a mile to 2 cents a mile on three trains of this branch. The bus fare is a fraction of a cent higher. The experiment will be continued until February 28.

PRINCE SPEAKS ON AIR TODAY

Wales Will Broadcast From London Banquet

Others to Be Heard Include Canadian Premier

Symphonic Program to Be on Dial Tonight

The Times Forum, KHJ, at 1:15 p.m. S. Fred Hogue, editorial staff writer; Democracy's Debacle in Brazil. World-wide news, 12:30, 4:45 and 10 p.m.

BY JOHN S. DAGGETT

Edward, Prince of Wales, will speak from the League of Nations banquet, held in Guildhall, London, Eng., today. The address will be broadcast over KHJ and KFI at 1:45 this afternoon.

PRINCE OF WALES

No other member of any house of royalty in the world could command the attention of radioland that the Prince of Wales did when last heard on radio July 7, and which he will command again today.

His Royal Highness will speak before the League of Nations union banquet tendered jointly to the delegates attending the Imperial Conference in London and members of the League Assembly. The questions now before the Imperial Conference have occupied the world political stage for the past few weeks and his address will touch upon a subject of interest to listeners-in. Oth speakers include J. H. Thomas, Sir Austen Chamberlain and Prime Minister Bennett of Canada. Viscount Grey of Falloden will act as chairman.

They tell us that—

KFI at 9:30 tonight in an hour and a half symphonic program features George Llebling, composer-pianist; Robert Hurd, tenor; Zhay Clark, harpist; Purcell Mayer, violinist. Pryor Moore and Jose Rodrigues will be the conductors. If you like symphonic music, you cannot find a better spot.

At last the kids get a break. KHJ 6:30 tonight, a new Christmas series, Santa Claus arrives in an airplane, take Willie and Susie to the dial, it is promised to be of great interest to children.

Playlets? "Custard Cured," KTM at 9 tonight, a comedy. A new playlet director, new cast.

June Pursell returns to KNX—songs—8 o'clock tonight. Blues and what have you. Bill Hatch's orchestra. A return program ought to be good.

Somebody's trying to "rub out" Folgaria's villain—KHJ at 9 o'clock tonight. Let's all clap, the Marines are coming over the hill. Latin love, fire and water. A revolver is at his head—a tombstone at his feet.

The Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra—Dr. Artur Rodzinski—KFI at 7:30 p.m. Rossini's "Barber of Seville" Overture, Brahms's Symphony No. 4; Caucasian sketches by Ippolitov-Ivanov. Real music.

For a perfect evening of classical compositions, skilfully played—the program above and KFI's program at 9:30 o'clock tonight will hold your dial.

A sacred hour—KHJ—7 o'clock tonight. St. Louis string ensemble. Bach, Handel, Gounod. Also a message of faith and inspiration.

"Political factions plan extensive broadcasts," breathes KNX and says, "If our programs don't appear as they are noted, excuse us please."

And speaking of music, just after supper table is cleared—Will Round's String Ensemble—KECA at 7 o'clock tonight. A pleasant hour.

"Love songs of all the world," KHJ at 8 o'clock tonight—a delightful background for bashful proposals.

What's the use? Radio this evening is a riot of excellent music. If tonight cannot command your dial—you are extremely hard to please.

So that's—what's on radio.

Change of Mind Brings Divorce

When Mrs. Alice Vercellino was approached by her husband Mario on the subject of matrimony, she agreed to marry him in Yuma, so the three-day interval prescribed by California law could not intervene.

After the ceremony, Mrs. Vercellino changed her mind.

"I induced a friend of his to take him away for a while, and then I slipped back to Los Angeles. I haven't lived with him since," Mrs. Vercellino testified.

Superior Judge Scott granted the decree.

SIGMA XI CLUB TO MEET

C., secretary of Sigma Xi in this section. Gerald F. Rackett of the Technicolor Corporation of Hollywood will address the meeting on "The Scientific Basis of Sound Recording."

CITY IN FAIR WAY TO GET CONVENTION

Prospects Bright National Health Men Will Gather Here in Olympics Year

Efforts to get the 1932 convention of the American Public Health Association in Los Angeles during the Olympic Games were made yesterday by Dr. George Parrish, city health officer, and the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. Following a conference between chamber officials and Parrish, the latter sent a 300-word message of invitation to the convention, now in session at Forth Worth, Tex.

Unable to attend the convention because the City Council has refused to provide expenses for a Los Angeles representative, Dr. Parrish has been sending messages to the members urging the election of Dr. William C. Hassler, city health officer of San Francisco, for president of the association in 1932, and for the holding of the convention here during that year.

Yesterday Dr. Parrish received a message from Dr. Hassler, thanking him for his efforts and stating he has been assured election and that there is an excellent prospect for the convention coming to Los Angeles. Dr. Parrish is a member of the association.

The message yesterday offered the convention every hospitality and co-operation for its sessions here.

WEEK TO BE SHORTENED AT CATALINA

Five-Day Plan Adopted by Island Company So It Can Help Unemployment

AVALON, Oct. 29.—(Exclusive)—A five-day week for employees will be inaugurated Saturday by the Catalina Island Company, D. M. Renton, general manager, announced today following a mass meeting which he said gave unanimous approval to the move. It is to be aimed at relief of the unemployment situation.

The company, Renton said, plans to absorb a percentage of the unemployed by providing work for them on the sixth day of each week. When economic conditions show pronounced improvement it will continue operations on a five-day basis, but increase wages.

"Five days a week," the executive explained, "means through employment of more men, the purchase of more homes, more groceries and the general circulation of more money. Such results cannot but help to bring about a noticeable improvement in business conditions."

Buck Charges Suit Defects

Technical defects in the order citing George L. Buck, City Manager of Long Beach, to appear in Attorney S. S. Hahn's office several days ago to make a deposition, were pleaded in defense of Buck's nonappearance by the official in Superior Judge Gates's court yesterday.

Buck and his private investigator, Jack Cook, were sued for $100,000 for assertedly falsely imprisoning Helen M. Asbury. Judge Gates, in another order, yesterday, fixed the date of Buck's appearance as November 18.

HEARING ON BUS LINES ANNOUNCED

Requests for Extensions of Service to Be Considered by Board November 12

A hearing on numerous petitions from local chambers of commerce, improvement associations and others for bus extensions in the western part of Los Angeles which have accumulated in the files of the Board of Public Utilities and Transportation, was set for November 12 by the board yesterday.

The requests include extension of the La Brea-avenue bus line, Vine-street, Wilshire Boulevard and Angeles Mesa Drive bus lines, between Washington and Wilshire boulevards; extension on West Adams and Washington street to Robertson Boulevard; petition for a bus line from Jefferson avenue to Olympic Boulevard; extension of La Brea bus line from Pico to Washington streets, and on Rimpau Boulevard.

Chief Motor - Vehicle Inspector Gunn informed the board that the problem resolves itself into a proposition whereby the community will be best served without a duplication of service by a plan which will tie in with future extensions.

San Franciscan Brings Message of Good Will

"If Los Angeles keeps growing northward until San Francisco becomes one of her suburbs, we shall welcome such an alliance," declared Marshal Hale, principal speaker yesterday morning on a Los Angeles-San Francisco friendship program at the Breakfast Club, where as president of the Downtown Association of his city he was welcomed by Mayor Porter and Ed J. Fleming, president of the local Downtown Association.

"Neither city can grow alone and leave the other city behind. We are with you in making the Olympic Games in 1932 the greatest success in history, and we shall work with you shoulder to shoulder for a greater California."

History Called Schoolmistress of World Today

Answering the question, "Is History Bunk?" in in address before members of Iota Delta Pi, history honor society at Los Angeles Junior College, yesterday, Dr. Owen C. Coy, director of the California State Historical Society and professor of California and western history at the University of Southern California, declared that "history is the stabilizing force of society, cautioning the radicals, spurring the smug."

"History is the schoolmistress of society," said Prof. Coy. "Sane and healthy patriotism, broad of base, nonprovincial, must rest upon true knowledge of the past. Study of national, State and local history, units of community life, busy laboratories of political and social experiment, should have an important place in the education of world citizens."

SCHALL SHAKY IN MINNESOTA

Republican May Be Beaten by Holdale, Democrat

Widespread Revolt Sets in Against Senator

Lundeen Also in Race as Farmer-Laborite

BY CLINTON W. GILBERT

[Copyright, 1930, by the Public Ledger.]

ST. PAUL, Oct. 29. (Exclusive)—Thomas Holdale, Democrat, appears to stand a good chance of defeating Senator Schall, nominal Republican, who is seeking re-election this week. In the Twin Cities of St. Paul and Minneapolis it is hard to find any Republican outside the Shipstead organization who will vote for Senator Schall.

The political situation is very much mixed. The leading candidates for Senator are three, Mr. Schall, Republican; Mr. Holdale, Democrat, and Former Representative Lundeen, Farmer-Laborite. Because the opposition to him is divided, it has been expected that Senator Schall would win.

It had originally been the intention of the Democrats and Farmer-Laborites to form a coalition. But former Representative Lundeen refused to withdraw in favor of Mr. Holdale. Had a fusion been accomplished, it is conceded that its combined ticket would have been successful.

REVOLT WIDESPREAD

There are signs of a very wide revolt in the Republican party against the Republican candidate. The Minneapolis Journal, probably the most influential Republican newspaper in the State, has bolted Schall and is very active in the support of the Democratic candidate.

But more serious still is the Republican bolt of Mr. Schall by the Republican rural press of the State. It is said that almost 80 per cent of the weekly and semiweekly Republican newspapers are opposing the Republican candidate.

In addition the Republican business men of the State are pretty generally against him. Gov. Christgau's friends are against him. The probability is that he will lose a very large fraction of the Republican vote.

His personal strength and agrarian sympathies amount to much more than party nominations in strongly Republican Minnesota. And Mr. Schall has a good deal of personal strength in the State in spite of the bolt of the rural press. It is conceded he will take many Farmer-Labor votes from Lundeen.

TOO SLIPPERY

The mutual complaint against Senator Schall is that he is politically slippery. The insurgents in the party have never trusted him and do not regard him as one of their own. At the same time the Hoover administration found him more certain reliance than the insurgents did. Still he has conciliated a good many of the Minnesota farmers that he is the farmers' friend.

The Democratic support of Mr. Holdale would normally amount to little, for the Democratic party in Minnesota has almost disappeared in the contests there between the Republicans and the Farmer-Laborites. But Mr. Holdale will profit by whatever tendency there is in Minnesota to vote against the Republican party, he being the only effective opponent of the Republican candidate.

Mr. Holdale is looked upon as actually a rather strong candidate, the only strong candidate the Democrats have developed in Minnesota in many years. He came into prominence by almost carrying the overwhelmingly Republican congressional district in Minneapolis from which Walter Newton resigned to become one of President Hoover's secretaries.

JURY PICKED IN TRIAL OF GIRL SLAYER

Ex-Convict Murderer of Missouri Young Woman Denied Continuance

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 29. (AP)—A jury was completed tonight to try the first-degree murder case of Paul Kauffman, confessed slayer of Avis Woolery, 17-year-old Webb City (Mo.) girl whom he lured to Kansas City last August.

After declining this morning to grant Kauffman's defense a second continuance, Judge Southern late today announced he would not adjourn court for the night until the jury was named.

James R. Page, County Prosecutor, has announced he will ask the death penalty for Kauffman. The 31-year-old defendant, three times a convict and released from Colorado penitentiary only a few weeks before he came to Kansas City in the summer, choked Miss Woolery in Swope Park here and cast her body into a tree pit.

The prosecutor ordered the girl's father searched as he entered the courtroom. Page said he had received reports that the father, grief-stricken at the girl's murder, might try to assume the law himself. No weapons were found.

WISCONSIN REDS IRK D.A.R.

Regent Tells Society University Fosters Communism but, Says President Frank, "What of It?"

FOND DU LAC (Wis.) Oct. 29. (AP)—The Wisconsin D.A.R. was told at its convention today that President Glenn Frank of the University of Wisconsin is indifferent to the presence of Communism at the university. Before the session was over President Frank replied, in a formal statement, expressing himself as still unconcerned.

Mrs. James F. Trottman, Milwaukee, State regent, attacked the university as a place where "un-American ideas are fostered." She called "enlightening" a quotation attributed to Frank when asked whether there are Communists at the university.

"Well, what of it? We are apt to have both Communists and Presbyterians here. I have said, and will say, a student has as much right to be a Communist as he has to be a Presbyterian or a Baptist. It is not the business of the university to dictate the political and religious beliefs of its students."

As the basis of her charges, Mrs. Trottman used the case of Caroll Blair, arrested as a Communist ringleader during a recent disturbance in Milwaukee. It was learned Blair formerly attended the university.

One of the university professors was reported to have attempted to obtain Blair's release.

FINGER NEARLY GOES WITH RING

Bandits Threaten to Take Digit With Diamond

C. W. Waldrip, West Covina, Has Painful Experience

Wife Bound and Robbed of Valuable Jewels

WEST COVINA, Oct. 29.—Threatening to cut off his finger if they could not remove his diamond ring, three bandits accosted C. W. Waldrip of Sunset avenue last night as he arrived home from Los Angeles at 6:30 o'clock. As the ring was tight-fitting, the bandits in their nervous attempts to remove it, met with little success and then threatened to cut off Waldrip's fingers unless they could remove it.

Waldrip's hand was badly bruised and strained from the ordeal which netted his assailants a $1000 ring, and after tying him up they entered his home, where they took, by bodily force, two diamond rings from Mrs. Waldrip. After tying her up securely and disconnecting the telephone they made their escape through surrounding orange groves.

Making his way slowly to a neighbor's home, about half a mile away, Waldrip notified the Sheriff's substation at San Dimas. Deputies Jackson and Robertson were dehalled to the case.

New Point of Law Raised in Accident Case

SANTA ANA, Oct. 29.—A question of law was raised here today at a preliminary hearing at which M. Duarte of Greenville, charged with murdering his companion, F. Orosco, in a Huntington Beach automobile accident, was held to answer by Justice K. E. Morrison under $10,000 bail.

Franklin G. West, defense counsel, raised the question whether the new law which charges the intoxicated driver of an automobile with murder when a passenger is killed through accident to the ear, requires two trials of the accused, one to determine the question of his intoxication as a felony or misdemeanor, before he can be tried for murder.

West raised the point that a homicide in an automobile wreck becomes a felony in two ways, one by reckless driving, which means the offense of manslaughter, and the other by committing the felony of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor, which entails a murder charge.

He pointed out, however, that the law also gives a jury the right to determine whether the person driving an automobile under the influence of liquor is committing a felony or a misdemeanor.

If a jury trying Duarte should decide he had committed merely a misdemeanor, then a murder charge could not be brought against him, West argued.

The point was not sustained at the preliminary hearing today, but West indicated that he would press it at further proceedings in the case.

Ventura Legion Member Dies of Heart Attack

VENTURA, Oct. 29.—Alex Peter Kamp, native Californian, pioneer of this county and an ex-service man, died suddenly from a heart attack as he was being taken to General Hospital here last night. He was 52 years of age.

Kamp was a charter member of both the county and city posts of the American Legion, and also a charter member of the drum-and-bugle corps of the city post.

He was one of the first Venturans to enlist in the World War, serving in the Navy on the U.S.S. St. Louis. He was born at Martinez, but lived most of his life here.

He leaves three sisters, Mrs. J. H. Butterfield and Mrs. Katie Wells of Ventura, and Miss Della Kamp of Oakland. Funeral services will be in charge of the local American Legion Post.

Typical Display for Agricultural Building

This display, emphasizing the exceptional variety in crop rotation practiced in the Palo Verde Valley, will be seen at the forthcoming annual midwinter fair and rodeo, to be held at Blythe November 20-23.

BLYTHE, Oct. 29.—Almost every man and woman in Palo Verde Valley is busy as a member of some special committee to prepare the second annual midwinter fair and rodeo to be held here November 20-23.

The exhibits this year will occupy twice the space allotted last year and will cover two blocks. The rodeo will be held for three days on a big field set aside for that purpose, and some of the most colorful riders of the Southwest are planning to enter the contests.

The Lions clubs of Riverside county, the County Supervisors, the Supervisors of Imperial county, the County Chamber of Commerce and delegations from Parker, Bouse and Quartzite, Ariz., are to be special guests.

Tom and Lee Wells and Wiley Hill, holders of world championships in Frontier Day contests, will be in charge of the rodeo, in conjunction with Dr. J. J. Buller, livestock expert.

Civic organizations are planning this year to take care of 10,000 people at the annual exposition of the southwestern desert.

"BOIL CURE" ALMOST FATAL

Kenneth Huffman, Ontario Youth, Follows Barber's Advice and Swallows Dose of Lead Shot; He's in Hospital Now With Pellets Removed

ONTARIO, Oct. 29.—Kenneth Huffman, 17 years of age, of 403 West E street, faced death for several hours at San Antonio Community Hospital, for following the advice of a barber friend of his in Ontario, that he swallow a dose of lead shot, as a cure for boils.

Huffman followed the suggestion, and swallowed a quantity of lead BB pellets, thinking his boils would be cured by so doing.

In a short time he became violently ill with lead poisoning, and was taken to the hospital.

Huffman had followed directions explicitely, "taking all he could swallow," as the barber prescribed. Physicians at the hospital removed fifty of the leaden pellets from Huffman's intestines.

Although Huffman's condition was said to be grave, physicians feel that he will recover.

HOME WINE-MAKERS FINED

Tons of Grapes Missing From Guasti Vineyards Found by Raiding Party Made Into Vintages

CUCAMONGA, Oct. 29.—Several tons of grapes that mysteriously disappeared from the vines of the Italian Vineyard Company at Guasti, went into the manufacture of more than 2000 gallons of wine which fell into the hands of raiding officers.

Thirty-one Mexicans, all fruit pickers, were also taken in the raid for having assertedly made the wine themselves in their own homes after taking the grapes from the vineyard company, according to raiding officers.

Twenty-four of the arrested men appeared before Judge James Sharp when cited and entered pleas of guilty to possession of liquor. Each was fined $20 or given the alternative of spending twenty days in jail.

Judge Sharp told the Mexicans he was showing them leniency because they appeared before him voluntarily, but the seven who did not show up would not receive such treatment, he indicated.

The raid on the homes was made by Deputy Sheriffs Jack Brown and R. D. Johnson, Chief of Police Arthur Axley of Ontario and Officer Fred Tebo of Ontario.

According to the officers, the Mexicans had been taking grapes from the vines of the vineyard company for some time, carrying them to their homes and there converting them into wine.

Deputy Sheriff Brown declared that he had warned the Mexicans that it was against the law to make wine in their homes and that they would suffer if they continued disregarding the law. He confiscated a quantity of wine on his first visit.

The twenty-four Mexicans who appeared in court chose to pay the $20 fines. One crippled offender was permitted to go on his way without paying.

The seven who failed to appear will be brought into court later, it was intimated, as Judge Sharp instructed his officers to round them up for hearing.

REDLANDS, Oct. 29.—Masqued figures, gay and even daring costumes, featured the annual college mix of the University of Redlands, which was held in the gymnasium of the university tonight. First event on the program was the voting for the most popular man and the loveliest woman in the school, but the results of the vote are not to be announced until later.

The big feature was the Pike, where all sorts of side shows were under full sway. The maroon and gray elephant, the bearded lady, the circus band and other things were shown on the Pike. Then came a grand parade and the costumes were judged by Coach C. A. Cushman, Prof. J. W. Kyle and Prof. H. C. Merrill.

Each class in the school presented a skit for the program and the faculty presentation was excellent. These were judged by Prof. C. Mattinglu, Prof. S. Guy Jones and Prof. R. G. Raymer.

Marvin Dean was master of ceremonies and the committee in charge consisted of Martha Logan, Esther Brown, Lois Wells, Mary Jane Haskins, Virginia Brainerd, Helen Putnam, Judson Brown, Olive Parsons, Blossom Mills, Muriel Duncan, Evelyn McCraglin and Grant Fairbanks.

POWER COMPANY HAS FIRE

Southern Sierras Officers and Warehouse Razed at Coachella and Substation Threatened

COACHELLA, Oct. 29.—The valley offices and a warehouse of the Southern Sierras Power Company here were burned to the ground early this morning in a fire of undetermined origin. The actual physical loss is estimated to be in the neighborhood of $5000, but nearly all the books and records of the company, the value of which cannot be estimated, were destroyed.

The local fire department had a hard and dangerous job to keep the flames from getting to the substation and transformers which adjoined the office building, the destruction of which would have crippled the whole valley. The firemen and employees of the company, however, held the flames in check and the power was off just about one hour.

The company has been planning to build a new office building and the fire will hasten this work.

HUSBAND SAVES HIS WIFE'S LIFE

E. O. Stockburger's Prompt Action Averts Tragedy

Hears Report of Explosion; Finds Spouse in Flames

Cleaning-Fluid Blast Cause; She Will Recover

SOUTH PASADENA, Oct. 29.—When his wife's clothing was ignited by explosion of cleaning fluid, the prompt action of E. O. Stockburger, brother of City Manager A. E. Stockburger of Alhambra, is asserted to have saved Mrs. Stockburger's life today.

Hearing the report of an explosion at the rear of his home, 909 Summit Drive, Stockburger hurried from the front porch and dove through the rear screen door when he beheld his wife, her clothing aflame, lying in a semiconscious state on the floor of the screen porch.

Only after extinguishing the flames, which practically consumed the woman's outer garments, did the husband realize that his own clothing had been ignited and his hands scorched.

Mrs. Stockburger was rushed to the Pasadena Emergency Hospital, where she was given first-aid treatment for second and third- degree burns about her legs and arms by Chief Surgeon C. C. Troensegaard, who reports she will recover.

It is believed that an electric spark exploded a bottle of fluid with which Mrs. Stockburger was cleaning a woolen sweater.

It was learned she was suffering from third-degree burns all over her body, with some hope held for her recovery.

Crash Victim Dies at Door of Old Mission

OCEANSIDE, Oct. 29.—Tragedy stalked the very entrance of the placid San Luis Rey Mission, four miles east of Oceanside, shortly after noon today, when Ernest Holstein, 65 years of age, of 6309 Broadway, Los Angeles, died shortly after a crash between the car in which he was riding, driven by Arthur West, 35, of the Gay Lion Farm in El Monte, and a truck driven by Lem Owens, 29, of 4257 Los Pinos avenue, San Diego.

Holstein, who had only a small cut on his face, died shortly after the crash before medical aid could be summoned. West was taken to Oceanside and given treatment for a fractured hip and internal injuries before being taken to Pasadena. Neither Owens, nor his helper, C. D. Ralph, 28, also of San Diego, were injured in the crash, which demolished the West car, and badly damaged the truck.

Coroner Schuyler Kelly ordered the body removed, but has not set a time for the inquest.

MAN REPORTED DEAD JUST ASLEEP IN BED

BURBANK, Oct. 29.—Similar to the old story often repeated about Mark Twain, the death also of M. G. Gerard of 1757 Sunland avenue was greatly exaggerated, and probably so police say, by somebody who has a queer idea of a hoax. Police were first notified that Gerard had been killed in an auto accident and his body was at an undertaking establishment here. After being unable to locate the body they phoned to a number of outlying towns without result. When relatives were informed of the death they communicated with Mohave, from where Gerard had last written. Police investigation there found Gerard in his bed asleep. Police here are making efforts to find the practical joker who first started the fake news of Gerard's death.

HIGHWAY PLANS MADE

Coachella and Imperial Valley Representatives Hold Meeting on North-Shore Road Project

MECCA, Oct. 29.—About forty residents of the various districts of the Coachella Valley met last night at the Hotel Caravansary here, with a delegation from the Imperial Valley, to work out a plan for the completion of the Riverside county end of the so-called north shore road which would connect Brawley, Calipatria and Niland with the network of highways in Coachella Valley by way of Mecca.

This road would cut off about twenty miles of the distance from the north end of Imperial Valley to Los Angeles and would eventually become a through highway, relieving the traffic on the present State highway to the Coast. It is hoped to get this route included in the State's next secondary road program.

The meeting last night was to try to get the two counties into a joint road district. There have been several false starts toward this end but they have never gotten together. Imperial Valley through Supervisor Henry Jackson in the meantime has spent about $20,000 on the road and immediate action on the part of Riverside county is necessary.

After the reading of telegrams from the Automobile Club of Southern California and the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, and a discussion of various plans, it was decided to leave the whole matter to the Coachella Valley Chamber of Commerce, which will petition the Supervisors to make available the necessary funds.

ANOTHER DROWNING REPORTED

Second Within Two Hours' Time Takes Small Boy's Life in Ventura Reservoir

VENTURA, Oct. 29.—In Ventura county's second accidental drowning within two hours, Paul Warner, 9 years of age, was brought lifeless from a reservoir at 3 p.m. yesterday on the Limoneira Ranch Company's property east of Ventura.

The youth and William "Tiny" Smith, about the same age, had left the Mound school at 2 p.m., gone to the Warner home on the Del Mar division of the Limoneira ranch, and started for a walk back to the hills, the Smith boy told deputy sheriffs who investigated.

Reaching the reservoir, the Warner boy wanted to go in swimming and jumped into the water, although the Smith youth did not, he said. Young Warner, who assertedly could not swim, went to the bottom immediately, and then bobbed up once. Smith asked the lad if he was drowning and received no reply, so he ran for aid.

The body was taken from the reservoir by Mark Drew and Joe Griggs, workers on the ranch, and deputy sheriffs worked over the body at the scene for a short time.

The drowned boy was the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Warner, and leaves them and seven brothers and sisters.

The other drowning yesterday was that of Petra Guiterez, 10-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Felipe Guiterez of Oxnard, who was drowned after falling into a foot of water in a fifty-pound lard bucket.

His sons, Frederick and Crane Gartz, who won reputations as athletes during their high school and college days, both served in France during the World War.

Moneyless Man on His Way but Can't Say Where

MONROVIA, Oct. 29.—On his way, but where to, he did not know. He came to California from St. Louis, but what for, he does not know. He is not looking for work, although he has no money. Such was the story related by Hugo Dreste, to Chief of Police Frank Scott.

Dreste, who is 30 years of age, was found wandering along Huntington Drive late last night in a dazed condition, by Officer Martell.

He was committed to the psychopathic ward of the Los Angeles General Hospital today for observation. That he might be an escaped inmate from some sanatorium nearby, is the belief of authorities, as the man had no belongings.

MILLIKAN TELLS OF CANADA TRIP

Sees More Drunks in Manitoba Than Here in Years

Unemployment Situation Serious as in States

Caltech Head Speaks to Twilight Club Group

PASADENA, Oct. 29.—In addressing his recent Canadian audience members of the Twilight Club tonight, Dr. Robert A. Millikan, executive head of the California Institute of Technology, is reported to have asserted that he saw more intoxicated persons on the streets of a small Manitoba town in a few hours than he had seen on Los Angeles streets in four years.

The unemployment situation in Canada, declared the famous physicist, is at least as serious as it appears to be in the United States.

The outstanding project in Canada at the present time, he indicated, is the opening up of Hudson Bay to provide a shorter water route to Europe.

When this project is realized, Millikan believes Canadians will be able to ship wheat to Europe at a saving of 6 cents a bushel. Hudson Bay is navigable only 60 days a year.

In commenting upon trade relations between this country and Canada, the speaker declared that for reciprocal tariff treaties "Canada wants fair treatment and we must get away from the leave-alone doctrine of trade."

'Waste Hay' to Pay Duty, Says Federal Order

CALEXICO, Oct. 29. — Customs officers here received an order from the Treasury Department today ordering stopped the importation of "waste hay" from Mexico at a $1-a-ton duty.

"More than 500 tons of the waste hay" had entered at the border before the error in classification was discovered. The Imperial Valley hay growers, who virtually halted competition of Mexican hay with Imperial Valley hay in Pacific Coast markets,

PROTEST MADE ON BRINGING IN HAY FREE OF DUTY

EL CENTRO, Oct. 29.—Congressman Phil D. Swing has protested to United States customs officials at Washington against the importation of alfalfa in Imperial Valley, stating the United States Department of Agriculture in California as waste hay for feeding purposes, according to Ben C. Foulds, secretary-manager of the Imperial County Farm Bureau.

According to Foulds, the matter has reached his office that Mexican buyers have been purchasing the low-grade hay on the Mexican side of the line and, by desiring that the hay is refuse alfalfa to be used as fertilizer, have avoided paying the $5 import duty. Imperial Valley hay was sold in Imperial Valley for feeding purposes.

Farm bureau officials determined to put a stop to this practice, Foulds said, and have referred the matter to William Ellison, customs collector at San Diego, and to Washington authorities, through Swing.

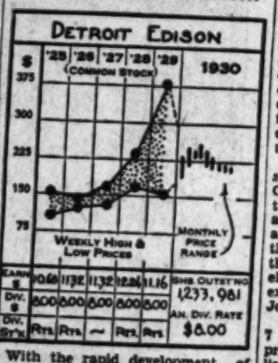
PACIFIC GAS UTILITY BUYER

Bay City Company Reported Bidder for San Joaquin Preferred Issues; Deal Once Declined

BY EARLE E. CROWE

If street reports are correct, the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, owner of San Joaquin Light and Power Corporation since April of this year, has been an active buyer of San Joaquin preferred stocks in the Los Angeles market. A house ordinarily supposed to handle Pacific Gas business is accredited with most of the buying in the stocks.

WHAT'S BEHIND YOUR STOCK



In accumulating these senior stocks of its new subsidiary, the objective of Pacific Gas and Electric would be the opportunity to offset the issuance of its own preferred stock by the purchase of the San Joaquin securities on a relatively favorable yield basis.

COST EQUALIZED

Pacific Gas does a substantial portion of its financing through the sale to customers of its 5½ per cent preferred, probably at a total cost to the company of 5 3-4 per cent. Purchases of the San Joaquin stocks up to a point where the yield approximates this figure equalize the cost of financing for the parent company.

The four San Joaquin preferred stocks are noncallable, or Pacific Gas would probably undertake a retirement program. Ultimately, after accumulation is no longer profitable and the amount outstanding with the public is substantially decreased the Pacific Gas management may elect to offer its common stock in exchange for the outstanding San Joaquin preferred.

Price ranges of the San Joaquin 7 per cent prior and 6 per cent prior preferred issues, the only two listed in Los Angeles, illustrate the possibilities on which Pacific Gas has probably capitalized. The purchase of the San Joaquin company was formally completed in April of this year, but both stocks in March were selling at their year's low, the 7 per cent to yield 6.3 per cent and the 6 to return 6 per cent flat.

From its low of 111 1-8 the 7 per cent preferred responded gradually to a high in September of 124½ and is now selling around 120, where it yields 5.8 per cent. The 6 per cent prior preferred has advanced from 100 to a high of 109 1-4 and is now selling to return 5.6 per cent.

ONCE TURNED DOWN

In connection with this reported accumulation of the San Joaquin stocks, it is interesting to note that Pacific Gas and Electric was offered the San Joaquin property more than six years ago at a price substantially less than it paid the North American Company in 1930. Probably the price paid to North American for the San Joaquin company was two or three times the figure turned down when the control rested in California.

This is another instance where western values are not appreciated by westerners until an eastern company steps in and pays the price. In this case, as in many others of a similar nature, the inability of well-acquainted competitors to dicker amicably around the same table may have accounted for the failure of a San Joaquin-Pacific Gas trade in 1924.

In that year, after Pacific Gas negotiations were abandoned, the Kerckhoff-Balch interests of Los Angeles sold San Joaquin Light and Power to the Western Power Corporation of New York. Shortly afterward this company took a handsome profit by selling the San Joaquin and the Great Western properties to the North American Company.

In its turn taking a profit also the control of San Joaquin Light and Power Corporation was returned to California this year by North American when the trade with Pacific Gas and Electric was arranged.

With the rapid development of the automobile industry in and around Detroit in the past decade, this large operating utility has expanded greatly both in point of revenue sales and earning power. Four large steam generating plants and seven smaller hydroelectric stations on the Huron River furnish the power sources behind the single interconnected distributing system serving a population of 2,300,000 people. Steam for heating purposes is sold in the business section of Detroit. Expansion of power and domestic sales in the past five years has been greatly aided by the successive rate reductions that increased operating efficiencies have made possible. The introduction of the "Electrochef" kitchen range in 1929 marks another step taken by the company to eliminate dependence on the industrial load.

Last year net income was almost twelve times the figure for 1930, after having shown a good increase in every intervening year up to the present. Despite the extreme decline of automobile production, per share earnings of $10.02 in the year ended June 30, 1930, were only 9 per cent below those for the corresponding previous year.

ADVANCE IN TIRE PRICES SCHEDULED

Akron Rubber Companies Prepare New Rates as of November 1, Next

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—The larger Akron tire companies have prepared new list prices on tires effective November 1, the date on which all trade contracts for the next twelve months become effective. The lists show advances of about 2½ to 5 per cent over prevailing price levels.

It is understood the new prices will carry a guarantee until May 15 and will provide a stable price level for the so-called spring-dating business.

Discounts to dealers will be increased moderately in line with the advance in lists so as to develop this end of the business more profitably and encourage the large replacement business anticipated for the coming year. Discounts to fleet owners or national accounts will revert back to the schedule in effect prior to the recent trade war, which was terminated about the middle of September.

Importance of mail order competition has not lessened under the new list schedules and it is understood that one or more important producers will continue to feature lines listed to sell at catalogue prices after providing a fair margin of profit for the retailer.

HUGE BANK MERGER BREWS

Consolidation of Four New York Units Would Make Largest Branch System Outside California

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance]

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Should the Manufacturers' Trust Company, the Bank of the United States, the Public National Bank and Trust Company, and the International Trust Company—all of New York—merge, it would bring together the largest branch-banking organization in the United States outside of California.

While the Bank of Manhattan Trust Company, with over seventy branches within New York City, has now the largest branch system, the merger of these four would give it branches totaling 148 offices inside the city.

For the Manufacturers' Trust Company has forty-eight offices; the Bank of United States, fifty-eight; the Public National Bank and Trust Company, thirty-five, and the International Trust Company, seven. The combined assets of such a merger would have deposits totaling $800,000,000 and capital in excess of $60,000,000, with the most strategic locations in New York City in which to expand.

If this merger is accomplished, it should be announced in a few days.

"The motor industry has seen its best days," said an investment banker who had just returned from a visit to the automobile centers of the country.

Has it? Col. Leonard P. Ayres, vice-president of the Cleveland Trust Company, stated recently that in his opinion "the peak of production reached in the automotive industry in the first half of 1929 will be exceeded within the decade which we are about to enter, and probably before half of the decade has elapsed."

Nothing pessimistic in this. The colonel elaborated his position:

"I believe that citizens of Canada and the United States are going to continue to use automobiles, at least as much as they are using them now. If this proves true, it follows that the production figures of the last two years, less exports, will become the replacement figures of the next two years."

The automotive industry is having a subnormal year. But the saturation point, either in the United States or in the rest of the world, is a long ways off. The industry right now is walking up the hill, instead of running. So many people think something awful happened to it. Well, something is happening. It's at work laying the groundwork for its next epochal expansion.

Thomas L. Chadbourne sails this week for Holland to confer with Javanese interests on further world sugar restriction. He is accompanied by Dr. Viriato Gutierres, President of the Cuban Senate. Mr. Chadbourne is optimistic on the sugar outlook. Cuba has already placed in the hands of the carryover association of Cuba, of which Mr. Chadbourne is chairman and Dr. Gutierres is a member, the full control of the disposition of the 1,500,000 tons of surplus raw sugar now on hand. Cuba has agreed to restrict its export to the United States to 2,800,000 tons annually. Sugar control is becoming unified.

Two cents a pound is what it costs to produce sugar in Cuba, not making allowances for interest on money invested. Last month, sugar was sold for 1.3 cents a pound plus freight to New York. How much will sugar have to be sold for to enable Cuban planters to make a profit? Mr. Chadbourne answers between 4.10 and 4.15 cents a pound, f.o.b. New York, including tariff and freight.

This world sugar program is being watched closely by American business leaders in the hope that something may come of it, and prove to be a guide to future action in other surplus industries.

Last year total payments were $8 a share.

REACTION HITS MARKET PRICES

Rail Traffic Drop and Steel Showing Factors

Gains Earlier in Week More Than Canceled

Sales Total at Low Mark of Mid-September

NEW YORK, Oct. 29. (AP)—The stock market's slender gains of Monday and Tuesday evaporated today in a simmer of selling fed by such fuel as declines in steel production and car loadings and several dividend reductions.

Trading was inactive—only 1,670,000 shares were the smallest since mid-September—but the market was back at its old trick of plunging on dullness. A rally in the afternoon, led by the copper shares, suggested the shorts had become nervous over their failure to force out any stock. However, prices turned downward again in the last hour on a much livelier turnover.

The list was well sprinkled with air pockets. Eastern Kodak dropped 10½ points to the accompaniment of rumors of wage cuts and retirement in the working force, but such reports were officially denied so Wall street was led to believe the weakness in the share was but another case of deflation in a high chip stock.

STEEL WEAK

United States Steel's contribution the 3 per cent drop in the industry's ingot production as well as in the future of the corporation to yield the extra dividend was a 6-point decline. Bethlehem and Youngstown lost nearly 3 each. Radio B preferred broke 6 points and Missouri-Kansas-Texas preferred 4½, although the latter recovered half its loss.

Iron Age, placing steel operations at 50 per cent of capacity, said further declines in scrap prices and steel output gave an unpromising outlook, although it added the prospect that rates of operations might well prove to be the low for the year since structural steel demand was holding up fairly well and a moderate demand was coming from the railroads.

RAIL TRAFFIC OFF

Carloadings were off 21.6 per cent in comparison with the week ended October 18, 1929, the largest decrease this year. Most of the railroad shares, which had been precipitated by the better September earnings, turned heavy. Southern Pacific way lost 3 points and Atchison, New York Central and Pennsylvania about a point.

The strength of the Loews issues per market helped the rest of the list, shares, although the gains were not evenly held. Dividend action

GILLETTE SAFETY RAZOR

Ten-Year 5% Convertible Debentures

THE ability of Gillette Safety Razor to pay interest on its $20,000,000 of funded debt is indicated by net earnings for the last five years averaging $14,028,409, or over 14 times such interest charges.

Since establishment of the Company thirty years ago with an original investment of $5,030, more than $80,000,000 of dividends have been paid to stockholders.

The equity is represented by 310,000 shares of preference stock and 1,998,768 shares of common, valued at about $95,000,000. The value of this equity is a measure of margin of safety for the $20,000,000 of debentures.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, Oct. 29. (AP)—Inquiry for bonds was of a highly selective character today. Accumulation of silk-edged issues continued at a moderate pace to maintain the upward trend which developed at the start of the week, but irregular movements again cropped out in the remainder of the domestic list.

A feature was the strong tone of United States governments. The entire list of governments moved higher, and Liberty 1st 4¼s closed at a new 1930 peak. Treasury 4s registered an unusual large gain, rising 1 1-32nds.

The advance of Latin-American bonds in which strength has been almost a daily feature for more than a week was less pronounced and a few were reactionary.

Movement of rails was narrow. Prime issues were slightly higher. Canadian Northern 4½s set a new year's high at 102¾. Southern Railway general 5½s and Wabash 5s B advanced 3¼ points each.

There was a good demand for more than a dozen utility issues whose gains were large. Included were American & Foreign Power 5s and International Telephone debenture 5s. Manila Electric Railway soared 9¾ points to a new year's peak.

Some softness developed in industrials and stock-privilege issues, but the largest changes were on the upside. Armour & Co. 5½s rose 2½ points. Chile Copper 5s and Fisk Rubber 8s gained 1 to 3. Shell Pipe Line 5s and Fatbe 7s were lower.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low and both bid and close when same as the high.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Stock Prices Fluctuate Uneasily Within Narrow Limits as Trading Activity Lags

With a continued low volume of trading no definite movement of security prices was indicated on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday and it appeared that traders were content to remain on the sidelines. With one or two exceptions net changes at the close were confined to small fractional gains and losses.

Although Richfield Oil, about which merger negotiations are reported to be reaching their last stages, traded more briskly than in other sessions this week, only 1700 shares of the stock crossed the board. The issue fell off 1-4 to $ 3-8. Earnings of Rio Grande Oil, seemed to have been discounted well in advance of the announcement yesterday, when only 200 shares were traded. The stock firmed up 1-4 to $ 7-8.

Pacific Mutual Life was again the strong spot, continuing successive advances in each session since the sharp break to 50 last week. The stock added another 2 points to close high at 64. Transamerica was less active than usual and yielded 1-2 to 18. Slump in Corn Futures Leads Market Break

CHICAGO, Oct. 29. (AP)—Indications of a bout a seasonal broadening of the movement of corn to market centers had a harsh effect on all grain prices today. The influence of downturns of corn values was instantaneous, too, with general speculative consequences evoked by lower quotations on securities. Moreover, reports that current farmers northwest were disposing of corn and replacing it with winter rye, and a considerable amount of American barley in Canada was being shipped back to the United States.

The corn market closed weak at the day's bottom level, 1⅞@2⅛c a bushel lower than yesterday's finish. Wheat closed ⅛@1¼c down; oats, ⅛@⅜c off, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 15c. Rye also eased down with other cereals. Provisions although weak early averaged better at the last as a result of buying by cash interests and because of an advanced trend of hog values.

METAL MARKETS

CLEVELAND, Oct. 29. (Exclusive)—Daily Steel Trade today says:

A fair volume of prospective work requiring plates and shapes features the market. The bar market is slightly more active, although orders still are limited to early requirement tonnages. Some freight car and large building work is in sight and there is a fair sprinkling of structural shape jobs appearing, all of which are tending to give the market a stronger tone. Automobile business continues restricted, a fact which is being felt keenly in the flat rolled steel trade. Some new activity is noted in pig iron in the form of releases on old contracts, but new buying continues limited.

WOOL MARKET

BOSTON, Oct. 29. (AP)—Quietness prevailed in the wool market. An occasional house is receiving more numerous inquiries for small lots to cover immediate needs but there is very little interest in salable quantities. Wool quotations are unchanged owing to a feeling of confidence in values regardless of the current slow demand.

RUBBER MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 29. (Exclusive)—The strongest upturn in several weeks occurred today in the outside crude rubber market.

The advance in prices ranged from ⅛c to ⅜c and all grades and maturities participated in the upswing. The better tone in the market was in evidence abroad too for the London market was up ⅛d to 3-16d—its best advance in some time—and the Singapore market was up ½d to 5-16d.

Trade interests attributed the strength in prices in great part to the announcement that the largest tire companies had put new list prices on tires effective November 1, with advances of from 2½d to 5d but into effect. This action was interpreted as indicating that the manufacturers were anticipating an improvement in the demand for tires in the near future and that the time was past when it was necessary for them to slash their prices in order to move their goods.

AMERICAN COMMONWEALTHS POWER SYSTEM

THE AGE OF HEAT

About one-half of the gross revenues of American Commonwealths Power Corporation are derived from the sales of gas. The exact percentage for the twelve months ended September 30, 1930 was 48.9.

Sales of manufactured gas produced by subsidiaries now a part of the Corporation's System have increased steadily year by year from 6,881,226,550 cubic feet in 1924 to 13,169,693,000 cubic feet for the twelve months ended September 30, 1930. Sales of natural gas amounted to 9,989,230,000 cubic feet for the last named period.

The properties of the System include gas generating plants with a capacity of 41,496,000 cubic feet per 24-hour day, and facilities for a supply of natural and by-product gases totaling 60,000,000 cubic feet per 24-hour day.

The Corporation's System has already acquired and built 4,732 miles of gas mains.

The proportion of the System's gross revenues derived from sales of gas is an illustration of conformity to its purpose of building up a balanced system of energy supply.

Just about one-half of the annual consumption of energy in America is in the form of heat—directly applied in domestic life or in industry. An increasing proportion of our direct consumption of heat is from gas—natural and artificial.

So much has been said about the "Machine Age" that the importance of heat in industry is sometimes overlooked.

Machines are run by energy, the greater part of which is derived from the heat of fuels. Heat and motion are twin forms of the same thing—energy.

Of necessity the direct use of heat, and its use in creating the mechanical motion of machines and electric current must march hand in hand. Energy cannot be harnessed except by metals in machines, and metals cannot be smelted, shaped nor treated without the direct application of heat.

American industries use more heat in direct processes than all the heat required for warming buildings.

As synthetic chemistry displaces many raw materials of field or forest, substituting for them products of the crucible and vat, heat becomes of greater importance in many lines of production, other than the metallurgical, ceramics and building material industries in which it has long been the supreme agency.

Because of its uniform fuel value and because it can be controlled to suit the exactitude demanded in chemical operations, the uses for gas are ever widening. More than 20,000 new uses for gas have been developed since the gas industry ceased to be primarily an illuminating enterprise.

As America marches further on into the Machine Age, it advances with equalized tread into the Age of Heat.

American Commonwealths Power Corporation and its controlled companies serve 396 communities in 26 states of the Union with electricity and gas, for light, heat and power—supplying a population of approximately 2,600,000.

OIL NEWS

BY HOWARD KEGLEY

A refinery to handle production from the Terra Bella field near Porterville in Tulare county, is not a pressing demand, according to reports from a meeting of the stockholders of the Terra Bella Oil Company, whose Gardner No. 1 was the county's first commercial oil producer.

Since discovery of the field, only three other wells have developed sufficient flow to determine in a measure what the district may eventually expect. Oil officials are inclined to wait a little longer before expending funds for a refinery unless it is really a necessity.

Reports from the Terra Bella field are to the effect that its oil has a showing of ichthyol, a by-product utilized for medicinal purposes. It has been known for years that the Devil's Den district, where shallow production has been obtained, also has yielded oil containing ichthyol. According to geologists, about four gallons of ichthyol are obtained from a barrel of oil, and only where there is an abundance of it. It is said to sell for $20 per pound. In the district between Sonoma and Solano, in Napa county, showings of ichthyol have been obtained in several shallow holes drilled for oil, and in the Hoha River country in Washington ichthyol was found in a water well. What little ichthyol is needed in this country is said to be imported from the Tyrol district of Austria.

Ruling for Test

The cement plug yesterday was pulled out in the Prairie Oil and Gas Company's Sexton No. 1 wildcat east of the Ventura-avenue oil field and the project is expected to be a bailing for a water shut-off in a few days. Bottom of the hole is at 7330 feet, with six and five-eighths inch casing set to 7327 feet.

It has not been determined whether a production test will be made in this hole, because of its failure to penetrate a satisfactory amount of oil sand. A few stringers of oil sand were encountered high in the hole and an occasional show of gas penetrated, according to officials.

May Make Location

With the time approaching when the Prairie Oil and Gas Company's drilling obligations must be fulfilled, it is believed that the company will make a location soon on its El Capitan ranch, embracing 640 acres in Santa Barbara county.

The Prairie Oil's property extends along the coast a short distance east of Elwood, up to and adjacent to the General Petroleum Corporation's Erburu holdings, where considerable shallow production has been developed at about 1800 feet within the past year. Field scouts believe that Prairie Oil will stake a location quite near the ocean and will endeavor to find deep production.

The General Petroleum Corporation's Erburu No. 8, nine miles west of the productive Elwood oil field, is making progress, with the drill now under 2000 feet, and is understood to have encountered a few stringers of oil sand. General's seven Erburu projects that were placed on production remain shut in to aid the State-wide oil-curtailment program.

Wells in One

The Dabney-Johnston Oil Corporation brought in another good producer yesterday. Its No. 76, in the southeasterly portion of the Signal Hill field, was completed for an initial flow of 2000 barrels of oil a day from the deep zone. Several days ago the Shell Oil Company's Nesa No. 12, in the same general vicinity, came in at the rate of 2000 barrels daily.

Signal Hill's daily production has been holding up well because of the recent completion of a half-dozen wells. Richfield, Shell, Chikasan and Vesta each brought in producers that have kept the field producing in excess of 97,000 barrels daily.

Drilling Permits Increase

Included in the list of drilling permits issued last week by the State Mining Bureau is that of Caroline C. Spalding's Tideland Permit No. 93-5 in the Elwood oil field. Caroline Spalding's permit adjoins the Tideland Permit No. 92, controlled by the Pacific Western Oil Company, and will be operated by Pacific Western. Permit has been applied for her Blue Goose No. 1.

Of the twenty-eight new permits issued last week, sixteen were in the Venice oil field, four at Signal Hill, three in the fields of Orange county, two at Kettleman Hills and one in the Elwood field.

The following are the permits for the Island Petroleum Company's No. 1, Speedway Oil Company's Bradley King No. 1, Venice Consolidated Oil Company's No. 1, Island Petroleum Corporation's No. 1, Clark Oil and Royalties Corporation's No. 2 and 3, Coloma Oil Corporation's Coloma No. 2, Barnsdall-Cypress combination's Burks No. 8, No. 10, No. 12; Beaudette Oil Petroleum Company's No. 1, R. Freeman's No. 2, Pan California Oil Corporation's No. 10, Pan American Petroleum Company's No. 4, Pan American-Catalina Oil Company's No. 1. Signal Hill permits included Richfield Oil Company's Bernstein No. 1, Fred G. Delaney Trust's Trust No. 1, Shell Oil Company's Babb & Miller No. 7, and Dabney-Johnston Oil Corporation's No. 83. The remainder were Palisades Petroleum Corporation's No. 2 on Sec. 4-4T, in Santa Barbara county; Senior-Canfield Midway Oil Company's No. 88, in Midway district, Texas Company's J. D. Marsh No. 1, in north Belridge district, California Star Oil Company's No. 1-40 at Kern River; Superior Oil Company's Huffman No. 1, and Richfield Oil Company's Signal No. 1, in Kettleman Hills field.

Gasoline High Rate

Average daily production from the Superior Oil Company's Huffman No. 1 on the north dome of the Kettleman Hills field has been maintained above 13,000 barrels of oil during the past week, and may be higher, is the belief of scouts following it perform. Superior's new casing-head gasoline plant is understood to be completed and equipped to treat a daily yield of 80,000,000 cubic feet of gas.

To Resume Session

The Kettleman Hills oil and gas conservation committee adjourned late yesterday in the assembly rooms of the California Oil and Gas Association, and will continue at 10 a.m. today its discussion concerning the future development of the Kettleman Hills oil field. William Reinhardt, chairman, has been presiding during the discussion with engineers and officials of the various companies operating in that field while endeavoring to establish the bounds of the north dome structure.

Spuds In

The Continental Oil Company has spudded in Heilman No. 1 in the San Marcos district of San Luis Obispo county and will try to find deep production in an area that has not heretofore been tested. This project is about eight miles northwest of Continental's 6000-foot test that failed to develop anything interesting several months ago.

Offer of New Trust Expected

Headed by General Shares Corporation of Chicago, a nation-wide group of investment houses will soon offer a new fixed investment trust, Leaders of Industry Shares, to be issued in two series, one of the maximum return type and the other of the capital accumulation type, according to an announcement yesterday by Howard Clamen, local manager.

Both series will have portfolios of the same stocks and will incorporate some new and modern structural features in the fixed trust field.

LOS ANGELES MARKET

CATTLE—Fresh supply was combined largely to the stock and calves from southern Arizona and California points, and fed lots of steers were available early, but two loads of Imperial Mexicans were expected shortly after noon. Holdovers of nearly 400 did not include anything of quality. Trade was a peddling affair and practically all of the matured cattle were disposed of. Prices were rather uneven, but in the absence of better grades of cattle little change was evident.

A few cow head of steers went for feeding purposes at 7.00, with others down to 6.50. A few head of medium quality made 8.25@8.50, with three loads of California at 8.00, with a few cut as less money. Bulk of other cows were in cutters and cutters selling at 2.50@4.25, a scattering of medium to good bulls brought 4.00@6.00.

CALVES—A good supply of fresh calves and 255 held over from Tuesday were slow selling, with quite a few lots unsold after noon. Prices, however, were little changed on the week's decline. A few low grade vealers brought 10.00 and a small lot of light Arizona calves made 9.00. Bulk of the heavier Arizona and New Mexico calves to both killers and feeders made 7.25@8.25, with odd head of very common down to 5.00.

HOGS—The local trade was of short duration at about steady rates. One load of good 190-pound Nebraskas brought 11.25, with a freight penalty, but it was thought by members of the trade that similar loads might bring about the same price to local interests. A load of much plainer 182-pound easterns scored 10.85 and sizable lots of 170 to 211-pound local feds brought 10.60@10.50. A few packing sows were taken at 8.50@9.00.

SHEEP—With only five decks of wooldcore New Mexico lambs available, trade was very slow and prices were no criterion as to where good to choice lambs would sell. Nearly five decks of 88-pound lambs brought 8.00, with a package of 98-pound wethers at 8.50. A few of the remaining lambs will be expected to sell around 8.00, with about three decks of feeders bid around the 8.00 mark. Medium to choice lambs, 90 pounds down, are quoted at 7.50@8.25. Late Tuesday two decks of 85-pound California lambs brought 8.75.

LAST RITES CONDUCTED FOR OIL MAN

Edward I. McCray, Pioneer of Petroleum Industry in State, Laid to Rest

With the death of Edward I. McCray, whose funeral was conducted at Forest Lawn yesterday, a pioneer of the oil industry of California passed.

Mr. McCray was born in Western Pennsylvania sixty-six years ago and came to California in 1884 at the request of Lyman Stewart and W. L. Hardison, the founders of the Union Oil Company. He assisted in drilling many of the first oil wells in Ventura county, and drilled the first well on the Camarillo ranch at the foot of the Conejo grade, where oil is yet being produced.

Temporarily leaving the California oil fields, Mr. McCray about 1890 engaged in the machinery business at Sydney, Australia, where he remained for about thirty years, returning occasionally to California and never relinquishing his citizenship. He was long associated with his brothers, the late M. L. McCray and L. A. McCray, in various oil activities in California, and with them and R. J. Dillon, Dan Murphy and W. I. Hollingsworth he established the townsite of El Segundo and induced the Standard Oil Company to build its refinery there.

Finally returning to California in 1920 he engaged with his brothers in the development of subdivisions and valuable realty holdings in Los Angeles and vicinity. He maintained a residence at 2131 Hollyridge Drive, Hollywood.

While in Australia he was married and leaves his widow, Elizabeth A. McCray, three sons, Edward Ivor, Allan Archer, Robert James and Maurice Coyle; two brothers, L. A. McCray and Bert McCray, and a sister, Mrs. Mina Schwarz.

Women Admit Being Drunk on County Highway

Helen Reynolds, 22 years of age, and her aunt, Mary McAllister, 37, were given ten-day suspended jail sentences by Municipal Judge Eagan yesterday when they entered pleas of guilty to a charge of being drunk on a county highway.

Robbery charges against the pair were dismissed by Municipal Judge Ballard Tuesday. They were arrested after H. A. Leonard, 1121 West Kensington Road, complained that they robbed him of $2 after he picked them up on the road, but Judge Ballard declared that Leonard's statement, which both women denied, was not sufficient to warrant a trial.

The jail sentence was suspended by Judge Eagan yesterday because they had spent a week in jail awaiting trial.

UNDERCOVER MAN BRANDS REDS AS MOSTLY 'YELLOW'

That the Reds in America are not red, but yellow, is the opinion of Maj. Louis La Place, formerly of the San Francisco intelligence department and for two years in the same branch of work for the American Expeditionary Forces in France. He is visiting at the home of F. T. Zimmerman, 3013 Buckingham Road, and yesterday expressed himself regarding the Communist demonstrations throughout the country.

"I think these people are jokes as far as revolutionists are concerned," he said. "I was with Emma Goldman as an undercover man for the San Francisco police in the period before the war when the I.W.W. forces were active on the Coast. Twenty avowed rebels were conferring with her about seizing Lower California and establishing a republic when they heard the patrol wagon coming. All but four beat it down the alley as fast as they could go.

"These Communists are just like the Chicago racketeers, the heist men and others of antisocial nature. The mainspring of the whole affair is vanity. They want to get into the spotlight some way. The first thing a hold-up man does is to read the papers for a description of his hold-up. I imagine that the Communists do the same thing when they incite a riot and stop a lot of police clubs with their heads. The whole thing to me is incredibly stupid. I do not think they will be a danger in America—even if they were armed, which I do not believe they are. Too much attention is paid them and that is what they want."

Maj. La Place was an undercover man with the "wobblies" for five months and came to know them intimately and to know their motives.

HONORS PAID GIRL WINNER IN CONTEST

Osteopaths at Monte Sano Hospital Banquet Hear Guest Speaker

Ninety prominent osteopathic physicians in Los Angeles and vicinity paid honor to a young woman still in her 'teens last evening in connection with a banquet given by the directors of Monte Sano Hospital and Sanatorium to the members of the attending staff.

The guest receiving special distinction was Miss Doris Granicher, a student in the Glendale Junior College, soon to enroll as a full-fledged student of osteopathy. Last September she won the first prize in a State-wide contest conducted by the California Osteopathic Association on the general theme, "Osteopathy as a Profession."

Miss Granicher's prize was a four-year scholarship in the Osteopathic College of Physicians and Surgeons. Eleven other competitors in the contest, as winners of district contests, won a single year's scholarship.

Besides an address by the young guest of honor the program included a review of the progress of Monte Sano Hospital and a tour of inspection of the new administration building in which the banquet was held. This structure has just been completed and brings the total valuation of this hospital property to more than $300,000.

POLICE RAID TEX GUINAN NIGHT CLUB

Detectives Pretending to Be Guests Arrest Two of Her Assistants

NEW YORK, Oct. 29. (AP)—Texas Guinan had another embarrassing moment today when she discovered she had been entertaining policemen unawares again.

The blow-off came early this morning while about 200 guests were watching the floor show which Miss Guinan directs at the Club Argonaut in West Fifty-fourth street.

Two men in proper evening clothes, who had visited the place frequently enough recently to be classed as "regulars," approached the mistress of ceremonies and confided to her that they weren't patrons at all, but just two detectives bent on doing their duty.

"Boys, I thought you were here as guests," exclaimed Miss Guinan, more in sorrow than in anger, and added, "I hope you are not going to arrest me."

"Not you, but we're going to make some other arrests," the detectives told her.

Suiting the action to the word, they arrested Berhardi Tann, assistant manager, and Bernard Altman, captain of waiters, charging them with maintaining a nuisance under a State law and with furnishing "set-ups" for liquor, an offense under the Federal prohibition law.

POLICE RAID TEX GUINAN NIGHT CLUB

Detectives Pretending to Be Guests Arrest Two of Her Assistants

NEW YORK, Oct. 29. (AP)—Texas Guinan had another embarrassing moment today when she discovered she had been entertaining policemen unawares again.

The blow-off came early this morning while about 200 guests were watching the floor show which Miss Guinan directs at the Club Argonaut in West Fifty-fourth street.

Two men in proper evening clothes, who had visited the place frequently enough recently to be classed as "regulars," approached the mistress of ceremonies and confided to her that they weren't patrons at all, but just two detectives bent on doing their duty.

"Boys, I thought you were here as guests," exclaimed Miss Guinan, more in sorrow than in anger, and added, "I hope you are not going to arrest me."

"Not you, but we're going to make some other arrests," the detectives told her.

Suiting the action to the word, they arrested Berhardi Tann, assistant manager, and Bernard Altman, captain of waiters, charging them with maintaining a nuisance under a State law and with furnishing "set-ups" for liquor, an offense under the Federal prohibition law.

Court Orders Two on Trial in Arms Case Freed

TUCSON (Ariz.) Oct. 29. (AP)—John C. Gung'l, United States District Attorney, today asked Federal Judge Sawtelle to instruct the jury to return a verdict of not guilty against Leslie Gatliff, former Chief of Police of Douglas, and Walter Morris, former Douglas police captain. The two former officers were on trial charged with selling arms and ammunition to the rebels during the Mexican revolt of 1929. Judge Sawtelle immediately granted the motion.

The District Attorney declared his belief that Adrian Enriquez, principal witness for the government, "has been tampered with."

PORT BOARD PUZZLED BY RAIL APPEAL

Espee Broadgauging for Quick Haul From Nevada Urged in Plea Sent Here

A request from Mayor Porter to the harbor board urging it to aid the Lyon County Chamber of Commerce of Nevada in having the Southern Pacific broadgauge its line from Mina to Owenyo, a distance of 135 miles, was a puzzler for the board yesterday. It finally referred the matter to General Manager Edwards.

The Mayor's request followed receipt of a communication from E. W. King, secretary of the Lyon county chamber, of Yearington, Nev., in which King stated that all cattle, sheep, poultry and farm products of the valleys of Western Nevada have to be shipped through Reno and Stockton to reach Los Angeles, requiring four days and resulting in loss of weight for stock.

King states that from Mason Valley to Los Angeles is an easy drive of fifteen hours, and by broadgauging the line between Mina and Owenyo stock and other products could be shipped from the valley to Los Angeles in twenty-four hours or less.

In addition, he points out, the munitions plant at Hawthorne, which is starting to store 12,000,000 pounds of explosives, would be brought within twenty hours of Los Angeles Harbor.

General Manager Edwards is of the opinion the matter should be taken up with the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Nevada Railroad Commission.

Commission on Crime to Meet

Letters calling the organization meeting of Mayor Porter's crime commission for November 6 at 2:30 p.m. in his office were sent out yesterday. The purpose of the commission is to discover why arrested persons escape prosecution.

The commission includes Mayor Porter, Chief Deputy District Attorney Stewart, Chief Deputy City Prosecutor Young, Municipal Judge Curtis, Chief Municipal Clerk Askin, Chief of Detectives Taylor and Police Captain Weyerman.

TROLLEY SERVICE BETTERED

Pacific Electric Speeds Up Train Schedules; Los Angeles Railway Adds Cars

Making material reductions in the running time on nine of the Pacific Electric Railway's major lines, new schedules are to become effective Saturday, D. W. Pontius, president, announced yesterday. Saving in travel time to patrons ranges from one to eight minutes and is effective to and from Los Angeles. Mr. Pontius announces that an effor' will be made to reduce running time on other lines of the system.

The Long Beach line's schedule shows a time saving of from two to six minutes; San Pedro via Domingues, from two to four minutes, and the Santa Ana line from two to five minutes.

Redondo Beach via both Gardena and Hawthorne will be decreased from two to five minutes and one minute will be cut from the running time of all Newport-Balboa trains.

Train schedules of the Santa Monica Bay district also profit by this revision. The Santa Monica via Brentwood line will be curtailed from four to six minutes and the Santa Monica Boulevard line time saving will range from two and eight minutes.

"Many factors enter into the savings that have been made upon the several lines that have been already surveyed," said Mr. Pontius. "New relays on cars for faster acceleration, together with large yearly expenditures for heavier rails, better roadbed, and new substations have contributed to the time saving."

YELLOW LINE TELLS OF IMPROVEMENTS

In the last ten days the Los Angeles Railway has added fifty-two cars on thirteen lines, making a total of sixty-one trips, and additional relief is promised as the survey and study of transportation conditions is continued, according to announcement yesterday by Councilman McAllister.

McAllister, who stated his information was obtained from J. Ogden Marsh, general manager of the utilities department, said that the additional cars were added for peak hours, between 7 to 9 a.m. and 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. on all lines and that a study and rearrangement of schedules still is in progress, with promises that more cars will be furnished as the need for them becomes apparent.

The list of extra cars now operating or ordered for service by today, follows:

Blighted Love Causes Death of Bridegroom

Worry over litigation that ensued when his romance was wrecked in the courts caused the death of I. D. Hunt, 83-year-old bridegroom, according to Attorney Leonard R. Hampton, whose petition to probate Hunt's will was granted in Superior Judge Stephens's court yesterday.

A few months ago Hunt married a younger woman who caused him to turn over to her most of his property. He sued to recover and as he brooded over his difficulties his health broke, Attorney Hampton said.

In his will, Hunt left about $10,000 to two nephews. One of them, I. V. Hunt of Chicago is executor.

AIR TOUR PARTY AT GOLDEN GATE

First Day of Good-Will Trip Goes Like Clock

Five Towns Visited on Way to Bay City

Sacramento Destination of Argonauts Today

BY BURTON L. SMITH
"Times" Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29.—When the starter waved his flag at the United Airport, Burbank, at 8:55 this morning, thirty-two airships, carrying ninety-four passengers started on their way as messengers of good will from the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Los Angeles to the citizens of all California.

It was the second annual event of the same character and during its short life has come to be known as one of the strongest factors yet employed to cement together all the business interests of the empire of the Pacific.

The weather was all that could be desired for the start of such an air tour and all during the day there has not been a thing to mar the pleasure of the trip. All of the ships arrived here a little in advance of the scheduled time and all of the pilots and passengers reported a perfect voyage.

SANTA PAULA STOP

The first stop was made at Santa Paula after a cruise of twenty-eight minutes. There was a great crowd of townspeople and officials at the airport to welcome the caravan. Owing to strong winds and a limited landing space only a part of the entourage effected a landing, and those stayed but a short time.

The ships pushed hurriedly on to the field at Goleta, the nearest port to Santa Barbara available for such a number of aircraft. Santa Barbara citizens in large numbers drove the six miles to the airport to welcome the caravan.

The tourists after a short waiting winged their way on to Hancock Field at Santa Maria, where lunch was served at the canteen of the Hancock Aviation School.

RECRUITS JOIN UP

A notable addition to the tour was made at this Santa Barbara county landing when Dan Emmett with Mrs. Emmett and Miss Edith Bond, all of Santa Paula, joined the tour.

From Santa Maria San Luis Obispo and Salinas were visited before the final stop for the day was made at Mills Field here at 4 p.m. All of the ships reported a safe flight and delightful journey.

A committee representing the San Francisco Junior Chamber of Commerce was on hand to extend the welcome of the city and their organization and see that transportation was provided to hotels in the city.

Tomorrow the tour will be continued, commencing at 8 a.m. and will include stops at Santa Rosa, Oakland, Red Bluff, Corning, Marysville and Sacramento.

ARGONAUTS REST

No set program of entertainment was provided for tonight, members of the tour being glad to spend a quiet evening after the day's flying and all are looking forward to the trip tomorrow with anticipation.

The press party is being looked after by the Rio Grande Oil Company, which has provided a three-motor Fokker plane for its accommodation. The ship is piloted by Luke Littlejohn, one of the best-known pilots on the Coast.

Supreme Court Lops Judgment Given Brokers

Finding that provisions of a real estate broker's contract entered into by Robert Marsh & Co., Inc., and Theodore P. Tremper and May C. Tremper are void, the Supreme Court in a decision just handed down lops $1000 from a $2200 Superior Court judgment for the realty concern. A copy of the decision was received yesterday in the Los Angeles office of the tribunal.

The real estate company acted as agent in a proposed transfer and exchange of property between the Trempers and Charles E. Smith. The contract provided that the broker was to receive $1000 actual damages and $1000 liquidated damages, as well as $200 for attorney's fees. The court found that the provisions relating to liquidated damages for time, trouble and expense incurred were void.

WYNN ESTATE BULK WILLED TO SPOUSE

Antoinette Hagar, fashionable dressmaker, is principal heir to the $100,000 estate of her husband, Frank P. Wynn, who died September 21, last, according to a petition for probate on file yesterday. Besides the widow he leaves two sisters, of Carbondale, Pa.

Edward Eskridge Funeral Service Will Be Today

Funeral services for Edward W. Eskridge, 59 years of age, son of the late Charles V. Eskridge, Lieutenant-Governor of Kansas and owner of the Emporia (Kan.) Republican, who died last Tuesday at his home, 1819 Camden avenue, South Pasadena, will be conducted at 1 p.m. today in the Will A. Reynolds Chapel, 8540 Melrose avenue. Interment will follow in Inglewood Cemetery.

Mr. Eskridge came to Los Angeles eighteen years ago. During much of this period he was connected with the Pioneer Paper Company, of which Willis G. Hunt, Mr. Eskridge's brother-in-law, was president.

The deceased leaves his widow, Mrs. Hinda B. Eskridge, and a son, Charles Vernon Eskridge, a student at the University of California at Los Angeles.

Mystery Fire Menaces Early Day Buildings

The fire department's bureau of investigation last night remained unable to fix definitely the cause of the mystery fire which early yesterday caused about $3000 damage to the old Jeffries bar at 324 South Spring street and the Follies Theater at 327 South Main street. Defective wiring, however, is considered the most likely cause of the blaze.

Originating in the bar the fire spread rapidly to the theater structure and resulted in a near-panic among guests of several neighboring hotels. Both the bar and the theater are regarded as landmarks.

M. A. HAMBURGER TAKEN BY DEATH

Pioneer Merchant Succumbs to Heart Malady

Native Son Had Spectacular Business Career

Widely Known for Charity and Civic Interests

Moses A. Hamburger, pioneer merchant and for many years identified with the growth of Los Angeles, died at 11:35 p.m. yesterday at the home of his brother-in-law, P. L. Nathan, 505 South Windsor avenue.

Death of the 70-year-old business man was not unexpected and all members of the immediate family were at his bedside when the end came. Several weeks ago Mr. Hamburger suffered a severe heart attack and some days ago the malady

When the affliction became serious he was removed from his apartment at the Los Angeles Athletic Club, where he had lived for many years and spent his last days at the home of his sister.

Funeral services will be conducted Friday, according to the family announcement last night, but no further details of the rites were ready. Hour of the service and place is to be announced today, members of the family said.

WAS NATIVE SON

Mr. Hamburger was a native son. He was born to Mr. and Mrs. Asher Hamburger in Sacramento in 1860. He went to grammar and high schools there and when graduated worked in his father's mercantile establishment in Sacramento. David, his brother, worked there, also.

In time the two young men wished to expand their field of activity. They importuned their father to move to a place of greater possibilities but when he did not they themselves began casting about for a place to begin operations of their own together. The father made a tour of the South and suggested San Diego. Moses made a tour also but selected Los Angeles.

In 1881, the two young men got their father to join them and they moved the Sacramento stock to Los Angeles and opened a little store near Main and Requena streets. In three years they had grown so that larger quarters were necessary and they moved to Spring and Franklin streets. They began business there in a forty-eight-foot front. By 1908 they had increased the frontage to 175 feet.

Today the huge May Company Department Store, Broadway and Eighth street, is the outgrowth of the later development of Hamburger's and occupies the building put up and operated in by them until 1923. In forty-two years the Hamburger business had grown from a few hundred dollars to millions.

OTHER INTERESTS

The two Hamburgers operated Blackstone's on South Broadway after having sold Hamburgers, and continued in this operation until 1929, when they retired. Moses was not merely a merchant. He was at different times a director in Merchants' National Bank, Merchants' Trust and Savings Bank, All Day and Night Bank; president of A. Hamburger and Sons, Inc.; vice-president of Hamburger Realty and Trust Company and was active in Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association and Chamber of Commerce circles. He built the Majestic Theater on South Broadway. The Community Chest, many hospitals and benevolences received much aid from his philanthropic purse. He was a principal in establishing Hamburger Home, a charitable institution costing about $250,000.

Mr. Hamburger traveled a great deal usually in the Orient. He made nearly twenty trips to China and Japan. In fact, he suffered his last bad attack of ill health while there and it prolonged itself into the fatal stage. About two years ago while at Palm Springs he suffered a particularly severe heart attack but in a short time recovered and started for another tour of the Orient. It was last April that he returned after having been specially broken in health. He went to the home of his sister, Mrs. Nathan, from the Athletic Club where he had made his bachelor home since the founding of the club. During the last two months he had been confined to bed. His mind was keenly alert to the end.

THERE'S nothing like getting the highly trained expert mind on the job.

In the old days when they wanted to kill coyotes the ranchers sent out a vaquero with a couple of dogs. Now the United States Biological Survey has taken hold in a big, scientific way.

BEHOLD THE SCIENTIST

According to a bulletin issued by the University of California the government hunters in their search for coyotes have poisoned so many valuable fur-bearing animals and valuable birds that the loss is far greater than the havoc wrought by the coyote in his most venomous moods. A fur industry which has yielded California $500,000 a year is endangered, and as a result of killing off the coyotes the State is overrun with rodents. They have spread at least one epidemic which cost four times the total damage done by coyotes.

CONDENSE THE BATTLES

To judge from the exciting episodes of their two careers, it would be an obvious promotion of maximum efficiency if Rex Lease, the film cowboy, were to take an assignment as floor manager for Miss Texas Guinan.

THE RAIN MAKER

We are not alone in needing the services of a regulated rain maker.

Rains on the west coast of Mexico were delayed until the corn was all burned up in the ground; then it came in a flood which washed out the railroad bridges.

THE SACRED SHRINE

Sobs will shake the shoulders of old-time sports when they read of the destruction of the old-time Jim Jeffries bar. Every famous character in the world of sport has played an act in there. Not a champion who has not leaned his elbow in the suds.

One episode that is immortal: Ad Wolgast had quarreled with his Fidus Achates, Hobo Dougherty. So Hobo wreaked a terrible revenge. He went around the corner and hired a big, shining limousine in which he swanked up to the door. "Oh," he said, as though he couldn't just recall the face, "old Ad Wolgast. My gosh! Are you still fightin' some place?"

Double Funeral Planned Today for Car Victims

The double funeral of Mr. and Mrs. John Sheldon Graham, 4125 South Figueroa street, will be conducted today at 2 p.m. at the Marcoux & Soicz mortuary, 8503 Long Beach Boulevard, South Gate. Masonic services will be conducted at the grave side in Inglewood Park Cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Graham were struck last Sunday by an automobile driven by G. A. Malmlund, 1220 Browning Boulevard, while they were crossing Hoover street at Forty-first street. Mr. Graham was killed instantly, about 6 p.m., and his wife died three hours later at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital.

Mr. Graham, a Knight Templar, was 86 years of age and Mrs. Graham, well-known member of the Royal Neighbors lodge, was 76. They leave their grandson, John Sheldon Graham, Jr., 6327 Benson street, Huntington Park.

CARL HANSEN SOUGHT

Carl E. Hansen, who has been missing from his home in La Junta, Colo., for some time, is believed to be in Los Angeles, according to word received yesterday from relatives. He is 40 years of age, 6 feet 2 inches in height and has brown hair and blue-gray eyes. Anyone knowing his whereabouts is requested to communicate with the missing man's mother, Mrs. Robert Hansen, Park House, La Junta, Colo.

CHEST HELD BAR TO UNREST

Joseph Scott Declares Citizens Obligated to Contribute Toward Relief of Unfortunate

No words were minced, no soft pedals were clamped down and no quarter was shown when Joseph Scott, veteran Community Chest campaigner, voiced a challenge to the citizenship of the workers who gathered at the Biltmore yesterday noon for the second report luncheon.

"You men and women who are the leaders in the community must assume the leadership in this campaign," he said. "You must do it because you have the vision and your vision is followed by all of the others. The world today is ill at ease, the world at large is in distress and never before has there been a situation like the present one.

"The trouble with this community is fear. But this country was built on courage and the men who have builded this city were intrepid, undaunted and unafraid. Figures show that there are $150,000,000 more in the savings banks of this State today than there were a year ago. But fear keeps it there and it is up to you leaders to conquer that fear and make those who have it realize their share in the responsibility of welfare work.

"You should have no compunction in going to these people who have money and confronting them squarely with their obligation. The city gives them law and order and other benefits and in turn they must help to relieve the distress in our midst or dire results are sure to follow.

NEEDY HELPLESS

"The American man at large hates to be the object of charity, I believe, and this is an attitude we must encourage, but in these trying times when men who are willing to work can find none to do, everyone who possibly can must help to relieve the economic pressure which is a more dangerous breeder of trouble than any other thing. There is no race, no religion, no politics, no social caste in the Community Chest and we must all pull together to get this money out of the

MYSTERIOUS ALTERATION OF ORDINANCE REVEALED

Another mysterious alteration of a city ordinance was revealed yesterday when the City Council repealed a health measure passed some time ago, while an investigation was started to determine who eliminated four of its paragraphs.

The changes, which, being mutilations of public records, constitute a felony, were discovered about two weeks ago by Deputy City Clerk McCoy while reading copy. He called it to the attention of Deputy City Attorney Kitzmiller, who advised that the ordinance be repealed and re-enacted.

McCoy found several passages eliminated. Pencil marks and notations were found on the copy being prepared for publication. Members of the Council, clerks and secretaries were unable to aid in the investigation. Mayor Porter did not read the ordinance itself, reading a digest instead, he said, but signed the ordinance.

One section eliminated concerned the handling of certain foodstuffs in buildings where the floors are four feet below the surface. Another required that stables containing more than two animals must have concrete floors or box stalls approved by the health department.

It was pointed out that both these sections would require extensive changes in some establishments. Several months ago there was an investigation to determine who changed a number of items in the specifications for public works, but nothing was learned.

DRY BRANDS YOUNG WET

Democratic Candidate for Governor Declared Foe of Prohibition by Anti-Saloon League Head

As a sort of final chapter on Milton K. Young's attempts to picture himself as a dry in connection with his candidacy for Governor on the Democratic ticket, Dr. Arthur H. Briggs, superintendent of the California Anti-Saloon League, yesterday declared that Young is a foe of prohibition.

The wet stamp was placed on Young by Dr. Briggs in connection with a brief statement by the latter concerning Young's essay on prohibition which the Democratic nominee wrote in 1929 as a contribution to proposed plans for modifying the Eighteenth Amendment.

Dr. Briggs said:

"Proposals of Milton K. Young for modification of the Eighteenth Amendment as contained in his essay on the subject are absolutely unacceptable to the Anti-Saloon League.

"Mr. Young is not a dry; he is a wet.

"He proposes two things, neither of which is acceptable to the league. "First, he proposes to quit prohibiting liquor and to start permitting it.

"Second, his plan would turn back the liquor traffic to State control—exactly where it was when the Eighteenth Amendment was effected.

"Mayor Rolph has promised a strict enforcement of prohibition if he is elected. So has Mr. Young."

The Anti-Saloon League, as an organization, is taking no part in the gubernatorial contest, Dr. Briggs said.

FIGHT DETAILED IN DIVORCE SUIT

Whitaker Charges Plato Broke His Leg

Millionaire Asserts Wife Neglected Him

Records Offered to Prove Liquor Habits

Francis Whitaker, Beverly Hills millionaire, late yesterday testified that Cleon Plato, whom he names co-respondent in his divorce complaint, knocked him down and broke his leg. The husband asserted Plato punched him for resenting the latter's act of roughly pushing Mrs. Margaret P. Whitaker, the wife who is suing for separate maintenance. The two suits are being tried together by Superior Judge Guerin.

"Shortly after midnight Oct. 6, 1929, Mrs. Whitaker and I were having drinks in the sunroom with Mr. and Mrs. Fernando Yglesias," testified Whitaker. "Plato came in at 12:30 a.m."

LEG BROKEN IN FALL

Plato is Mrs. Whitaker's cousin. A widower, 35 years of age, he lived in the Whitaker home. He asserts he was private secretary.

"Mrs. Whitaker asked Plato where he had been," continued Whitaker. "He said 'None of your business.' He shoved her roughly into a chair. I said 'You can't do that to my wife in my home.' He said, 'I can't, hey?' and he punched me, causing me to fall over a stair. I felt a break; my right leg was broken. Plato did nothing to help me. Mr. Yglesias, who had gone out of the room, returned and helped me into a chair. I was taken to Hollywood Hospital at 9 a.m. Sunday. Mrs. Whitaker did not call to see me until Tuesday. She had been drinking."

CHARGES WIFE DRANK

Whitaker said his wife insisted on extravagance, saying he was worth $3,000,000 or $4,000,000, whereas his wealth totals only $1,800,000. He added. He said he drank with her before marriage.

H. J. Paschell testified Mrs. Whitaker and Plato were at the Whitaker's Malibu Beach home one night early in 1929. The Venice police blotter was put in evidence yesterday, and an entry was read, showing that "Marguerite Plato" was booked for being drunk and disorderly, May 22, 1915, and her bail was forfeited. The trial continues today.

RESTAURANT FIGHT SUIT DISMISSED

When Joseph Mohler's $8000 damage suit against T. B. Cosgrove, attorney, was called yesterday in Superior Judge Craig's court, the plaintiff, a radio technician, failed to appear. Judge Craig thereupon dismissed the suit. In his complaint, Mohler asserted the lawyer assaulted him in a downtown restaurant, November 16, 1929. Cosgrove denies injuring Mohler.

IT'S ALL off between Clara Bow, flaming-haired screen actress, and Harry Richman, New York night club owner and erstwhile motion-picture player. Clara made the announcement of the broken engagement when she returned to Hollywood from New York on the Chief yesterday.

"Harry and I called off the engagement some time ago, but I've never wanted to say anything about it until now," she said. "His work keeps him in New York and mine keeps me here, so what was the use. I sent him back his ring."

On her trip east this time Miss Bow did not see Richman and he failed to go to the train to see her when it passed through an eastern city where he is appearing with a stage company.

Miss Bow was met yesterday at the train by Rex Bell, film player, to whom she is now said to be engaged. Miss Bow asserts, however, that she and Bell aren't engaged.

"There'll be no more engagement during my present picture contract," she said.

STERILIZATION POLICY SCORED

Superior Court Judges Seek Change in System

Board of Supervisors Asked to Take Action

Probation Office's Control Over Girls Opposed

Strong action directed against the system controlling the sterilization of minor girls in Los Angeles county has been recommended to the Board of Supervisors by Superior Court judges as a result of numerous cases called to their attention during the last week, Superior Judge Blake admitted yesterday.

According to Judge Blake, a group of Superior Court judges has forwarded a petition to the Board of Supervisors asking that the County Probation Department be divorced from the control of the county charities division and made either a wing of the court or a separate department.

The move, according to Judge Blake, is not intended to reflect upon the efficiency of the probation department as a whole, but it is prompted by the belief that the court itself, and not probation officers, should bear the responsibility of judging whether or not a girl should be committed to a State institution for an operation of this nature.

The most recent case of this kind taken to the attention of the court is that of Margarita Villanueva, 15-year-old unwed mother, who has been ordered committed to the Sonomah Home for Girls. The girl's mother, Mrs. Bermina Villanueva of 760 Reynolds avenue, has protested the committment and through her attorney, E. G. Hewitt, is seeking to have the order set aside.

Other cases of a similar nature have been disclosed during the last month.

YOUNG MOTHER SEEKS TO REGAIN BABY

Another young mother started legal proceedings to regain possession of her baby in Juvenile Court yesterday, asserting that the child was taken from her by unfair methods.

The girl is Selma Shannon, 22-year-old store clerk, who charges that a Hollywood physician conspired to take the child from her and sponsored its adoption by Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Rose of 835 West One Hundred and Second street.

When the case was heard in Judge Blake's court it was held that the child had been abandoned by its mother. Miss Shannon, however, contends, through her attorney, A. W. Ashburn, that the court erred in declining to permit the physician to testify concerning the circumstances surrounding the asserted abandonment.

The mother now intends to appeal the decision asking for a rehearing, hoping thus to regain custody of the baby.

BOARD SPEEDS COUNTY WORK

Projects Costing $1,231,000 Make 2227 Jobs

Construction to Be Pushed as Relief Measure

General Hospital Contracts Will Be Expedited

Construction work already under way and jobs to be started before Christmas in Los Angeles county with an estimated cost of $1,231,000 and employing 2227 men were announced yesterday by Sidney T. Graves, chairman of the Board of Supervisors. The work is being speeded up by the county as rapidly as possible in order to relieve to some extent the unemployment situation.

Work was begun Monday on the construction of a new home for nurses at Olive View Sanatorium. The home is being built by B. F. Hall, Burbank contractor, at a cost of $40,000. Between forty and fifty men are employed on the job.

OTHER PROJECTS

On the same day alterations were begun on a health center at Monrovia, to cost $9000, and employing fifteen men. Sixty men were also started to work on alterations and additions to existing buildings at the General Hospital.

All the contracts that have been let for work at the General Hospital are being closely analyzed as quickly as possible in order to get the work started. The work, when begun, will ultimately employ approximately 1000 men. It will be fully under way within the next few weeks. The contracts total more than $1,000,000.

On next Monday plans and specifications will be presented to the Board of Supervisors for a residence for the assistant superintendent of the Olive View Sanatorium. It will cost $10,000 and require fifteen men to build it.

COUNTY FARM WORK

Plans will also be presented on Monday for new buildings at the County Farm to cost $20,000 and employ twenty men to build them.

Within the next three weeks plans for a soft-water storage tank, costing $18,000, for the General Hospital, will be submitted. It will require twelve men.

Within the next four weeks work will be started on a new office building at the El Retiro School for Girls. It will cost $9000 and give employment to ten men.

Other work contemplated, to be started as soon as possible, includes comfort stations at Alamitos Bay and Santa Monica Canyon and an electric alarm system at the County Jail. The cost of the projects will total $65,000 and give work to forty-five men.

As a result of the county's speed-up campaign, six more men have been hired and put to work in the office of County Architect Muck. They are working on the plans of many new construction jobs to be presented to the Supervisors for adoption within the next few weeks.

Rumbling in West Fleet's Guns in Action

Rolling concussions which disturbed the slumbers of certain Southland residents last night were not earthquakes, but merely the batteries of battle fleet dreadnaughts firing night battle practice. The exercises will be continued tonight and tomorrow night.

Although the ships were last night more than fifty miles offshore, those watching the southwest horizon during the firing witnessed a spectacular pyrotechnic display, furnished by the star shells used to illuminate the targets.

The battleship divisions will be at sea again next week to prepare for antiaircraft practice and then will be at anchor at San Pedro from November 9 to 16. On November 17 they will again go to the drill grounds to fire antiaircraft practice, climaxed by monthly fleet tactical exercises November 19 to 21.

SCIENTIST TO LECTURE

"Under the Sea," will be the title of a lecture to be delivered to the boys of The Trailfinders Sunday evening at 5335 Monterey Road by Dr. Max W. De Laubenfels, scientist. Dr. de Laubenfels talk will deal with his diving experiences.

CONFESSION CHARGED TO JUAN REYNA

Police Officer Testifies as Surprise Witness, Telling of Brindley's Slaying

Edward J. Romero, Los Angeles police officer, yesterday took the stand in Superior Judge Hardy's court as a surprise witness against Juan Reyna, charged with the murder of Verne Brindley, police officer, on the night of May 10, last.

Romero told of a conversation with the defendant while he was transporting him to the City Jail after Brindley had been shot to death. According to Romero, Reyna admitted the shooting.

"Reyna told me," Romero said, "that he was handcuffed to a Negro and noticed Officer Brindley's revolver protruding from his pocket. He finally seized the gun and told the officers to 'stick 'em up,' and when Brindley tried to grab the weapon he started shooting.

"I asked Reyna why he did it," Romero continued, "and he said 'it was that damned liquor. Sometimes it makes me crazy.'"

SEWER CONTRACT AWARDED

The Board of Public Works yesterday awarded the contract for the sewering of the One Hundred Ninetieth street and McKinley-avenue district for $63,332.48.

Officer Saves Six Children From Accident

With a presence of mind which won commendation from his superiors, Officer A. J. Cullins saved six school children from probable death or injury yesterday noon when he pushed them all to one side just in time to prevent a skidding automobile running into them.

The near-accident occurred at Eighth and Hoover streets. Cullins had stepped into the street and was escorting the children across when the automobile, driven at a high rate of speed, according to the officer, swerved to avoid striking another machine. Hastily applied brakes caused the machine to skid about fifty feet directly toward the children. Acting quickly, Cullins spread out his arms and swept the youngsters to one side. The car missed the officer by inches.

Jack Hilshorn of 1030 East Forty-sixth street, driver of the car, according to Cullins, was given a citation for recklessness.

ALIMONY PROTEST FAILS

Isidor Mendel, shoe merchant, yesterday was ordered to pay $75 a month for the support of his wife and child, despite his protests. Superior Judge Scott said he was operating his business at a loss of $200 a month "by courtesy of creditors."

McArthur rejoined that when Farrand married him she to be a widow and that, fore, Farrand's heirs had no The Superior Court deter- that the surviving husband entitled to the whole and, Mc- having died during the ad- tration, distributed the prop- to his estate.

In its decision on the appeal by and's sister the court quotes ster's definition that a widow is woman who has lost a husband death and is still unmarried. It cites numerous cases in which urts were bothered by the same tion, but finds none which of- a clear guide for a decision guarantors is obliged to return the statute applying and seek to ermine the Legislature's intent. LEGISLATURE'S INTENT

The court found that the law the analysis seeks to turn the of property back to the line which it was diverted by the marriage of the wife, that is, to the husband's family, in- of permitting it to go to the family. Judgment was reversed, with di- tions to the trial court to modi- its decree of distribution so as provide that one-half the com- property in question should distributed to Farrand's sister the remaining one-half to Mc- 's estate.

Today's Bible Text

My brethren, count it all joy when ye fall into divers temptations; knowing this, that the trying of your faith worketh patience.—Jas. 1:2, 3.

ANYHOW, SHE THINKS

A psychologist discovers that the average woman's thoughts are above her dress. It is encouraging to know that she really thinks. This is more than can be said of many men.

PER MINUTE

Scientists are now working out a formula to find how many revolutions a minute the South American countries are making. This is the age of high-speed motors and governments.

CURFEW

"Curfew shall not ring tonight!" For the new city ordinance will soon go into effect and the peewee puzzle worker will have to lay off at midnight. However, the enactment came so late that a bell at the beginning of the game may have to be rung to save the institution from complete extermination.

NEW INTEREST IN INTELLECT

With the leading teams of the country, as Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Chicago, California and Southern California, having lost a major game, we may now hear that these schools always have believed more in the culture of the mind than of the training of the body.

GENTLY GLIDE

A Texas aviator the other day did seventeen consecutive loops in a glider. He started from a level of about 5000 feet, to which height he was piloted by a plane. They are getting these gliders trained to do a lot of things. One of them made a forty-mile circle the other day. Maybe the day will come when they can be used in delivering coal.

WORLD CANALS

The tonnage at the Panama Canal this year will run slightly over 35,000,000 tons and be another high mark. It will be about 2,000,000 tons above the figures for the Suez gash. Panama has been slightly in the lead for a few years and will naturally expand this lead. But speaking of canals the big business is being done by the Sault Ste. Marie cut between Lakes Superior and Huron in Northern Michigan. This handled 93,000,000 tons last year, although there are some more than every year when ice puts it out of commission. But it certainly has the trade when things are right. It is the path for the grain and ores of the great Northwest.

A SENATORIAL MATRON

Mrs. Mary C. Hale, who died at her home in Maine the other day, was bound up for almost all her life with the Senatorial office. She was the daughter of Zachariah Chandler, who was for many years a Senator from Michigan and incidentally was national campaign manager for the Republicans in the controversy which resulted in the placing of Rutherford Birchard Hayes in the White House. She was married to Eugene Hale, at that time a Representative from Maine, but who shortly thereafter was elected United States Senator—an office he filled for many years. Some time after his death he was succeeded by his son, Frederick Hale, who still wears the toga. So the late Mrs. Hale had father, husband and son in the United States Senate and must ha become quite a part of the Washington life.

A GREAT NEW BRIDGE

Fireworks, a blare of bands, pageantry and speechmaking will mark the opening of the new Southern Pacific bridge across Suisun Bay between Benecia and Martinez on Saturday. This bridge, almost a mile long, is the largest and heaviest west of the Mississippi, and is not exceeded in loading capacity by any other in the world.

For nearly sixty years travelers to San Francisco by the Central Pacific and valley routes have been transported across the bay from Benecia to Port Costa in trains taken aboard a ferry said to be the largest in the world. This ferry, which will be superseded by the new bridge, was described by Charles Nordhoff and other old-time visitors to California in picturesque terms as one of the sights of the overland tour.

But the old service is too slow for these times. The new one will save one-half an hour for the busy traveler, and such a time-saving means much to him in these days of headlong hurry.

THE REPUBLICAN NOMINEES

The seeming certainty of the election of virtually all Republican nominees a week from Tuesday should not encourage any apathy or indifference upon the part of California voters on election day, as the size of the Republican majority is of far less importance than is an alert, intelligent and interested electorate.

Although partisan loyalty logically will dictate support for the Republican ticket "from top to bottom," there are sufficient reasons why all thoughtful California voters without regard to party should vote for the Republican nominees.

California is a Republican State. It has a Republican registration more than three times greater than the membership of the Democratic party, and in the recent primary election the total Republican vote was almost ten times larger than the total poll of Democrats.

In the Republican primary total is included approximately 14,000 votes cast for the Democratic nominee for Governor, Milton K. Young, who took advantage of the State's loosely drawn primary act, first to place himself on the Republican ballot and later to make a last-minute, but fruitless, attempt to have his Republican listing deleted.

The Democratic nominee and his supporters are engaged in a noisy attempt to again invade the Republican ranks, basing their efforts largely on a trumped-up wet-and-dry issue which is sufficiently transparent to disclose the political expediency behind it. In the recent primary there was an opportunity for confusing the Democratic Young on the ballot with the identity of the Republican incumbent candidate, Gov. Young, but in the election in November no possibility for such a mistake exists and, hence, less likelihood of any large Republican defection to Young is in prospect.

To his long record as a supporter of wet candidates for high public office—Theodore Bell, James A. Reed and Al Smith—Milton K. Young is now shown to have denounced the Eighteenth Amendment and urged its emasculation in a carefully written prize contest essay prepared by him last year. He now has the gall to seek the votes of sincere and honest supporters of prohibition on the plea that he is a bone dry!

The Republican ticket on the whole deserves the confidence and the support of California electors.

Mayor Rolph of San Francisco, Republican nominee for Governor, has made, both in the general and in the primary election campaigns, a clean, straightforward appeal. He has definitely demonstrated an unexpected tendency to consider and to defer to the opinions and the wishes of the Republican leadership of Southern California—often in the face of opposition from his closest political advisers. This not only augurs well for greater consideration for Southern California than has been accorded this region by the government at Sacramento, but is a strong indication of the sincerity of Rolph's frequently reiterated assertion that if elected Governor he will do all in his power to wipe out sectionalism and all forms of political discrimination.

Even among the political foes of the San Francisco Mayor he is regarded as a man whose word is absolutely good, whose purposes are patriotic and whose love for the whole of California—the State of his birth—is deep, basic and true. Mayor Rolph is genial, likable and is imbued with a great ambition to make a record as Governor that will shed luster upon the State and upon himself.

The Republican nominee for Lieutenant-Governor, State Senator Frank F. Merriam of Long Beach, is one of the ablest public officers in the State. He is a veteran in legislative affairs, having been a member and twice a Speaker of the Assembly, and, later, a member of the State Senate. He is familiar with all aspects of State government and not only Southern California, but all other areas, will find in him an intelligent, active, honest and effective public servant.

In the long succession of presiding officers of the two houses of the California Legislature, none has served with greater fairness, amiability or efficiency than Senator Merriam, and his elevation to the presidency of the State Senate is a distinct advantage to the affairs of government in California.

Republican nominees for other State offices, including State Controller Riley, State Treasurer Johnson and Secretary of State Jordan, are exceptionally qualified for their responsibilities and have conducted the affairs of their respective offices in a manner that strongly recommends their retention in the interests of efficient and economic administration. Atty.-Gen. Webb does not face a contest, having won both the Democratic and Republican nominations in the primary.

The re-election of all nine Republican incumbent members of Congress is indicated, as is the re-election of the State's sole Democratic member of the House of Representatives. In the Third Congress District, due to the death of the incumbent Republican nominee, the late Congressman Curry, a special election will be held.

With few exceptions, election of Republican nominees for the State Assembly and Senate is a matter of reasonable certainty. State Senator McKinley of Los Angeles, who was nominated as this county's first representative at Sacramento under the new apportionment of Senatorial membership, is expected to gain an overwhelming victory over his Democratic opponent, Milton Bryan.

The fact that California is President Hoover's home State, and that a large Republican vote here at this time will discourage attempts to create defection among the rank and file of the party here and elsewhere, should inspire a great Republican turnout on November 4.

HOOVER GETS ANGRY

President Hoover is rarely mad clear through, but his anger at Ralph S. Kelley clearly was of the righteous variety. Kelley, formerly chief field agent of the General Land Office at Denver, was dismissed from the service yesterday by Secretary Wilbur, following the President's castigation of him as a maker of baseless charges, and criticism of the newspapers which published them without adequate investigation. Such investigation, he pointed out, readily disproved them.

Parts of Kelley's sensational story were absurd on their face, as when he attributed enormous values to oil shale lands that everybody knows are worthless at present for oil extraction.

The President was correct in calling this a "political attack" and in declaring it "far below the ideals of political partisanship held by substantial men in that party"—the Democratic. He was also correct in calling its publication, under the circumstances, not "the practice of better American journalism."

FOR PERMANENT REGISTRATION

When two such experts as W. M. Kerr, registrar of voters for Los Angeles, and J. H. Zemansky, election commissioner of San Francisco, give unqualified approval of a change in the election law, it is almost conclusive evidence that such change will be in the public interest. Both these officials are high in the public confidence, both have had plenty of experience with registration and both indorse heartily the plan for permanent registration which will appear on the November ballot as Proposition No. 14.

This proposal would make the next biennial registration, which starts January 1, 1932, the last, and provide for addition to it only of those who move or newly become voters. The list will be kept up to date automatically by cancellation of the names of all who fail to vote either in the August primary or the November election each year—a device which, incidentally, ought to give a cleaner voters' list than the present system, since there will be no names on the election list save those who have voted within a year or who have freshly registered, and thus have been checked on inside a twelve-month period, while the present list runs for double that time, without rechecking.

It will abolish the re-registration nuisance, which is inconvenient for those who exercise the franchise regularly and imposes no more burden upon the sporadic voters than the present law. It obviously will save a large amount of money to the taxpayers and, while some public officials and printers will be deprived of revenue, this is nothing that need bother the general public. It is as fraud-proof as the present law, if not more so. No election machinery can be made completely fraud-proof; this has been proved time and again, in New York, Philadelphia and elsewhere, but certainly an annual check on the voters' list is preferable to a biennial one, from this standpoint. It is not an argument that California once had a form of permanent registration and did away with it; it did not have this form, which is similar to that used with success in New Jersey and several other places, and is not an experiment, but a tested and proved device.

Vote "Yes" on No. 14.

HOW NOT TO DO IT

"Mexican Delegates Learn How to Avoid Waste in Building International Highway" runs a recent headline. Our mistakes as well as our successes are being vised by our neighbors.

Many have wondered why some of our paving crimes were committed in the first place. The manner in which highways are being straightened out and grades eliminated causes the traveling public to ask why some of this wisdom was not in evidence in the beginning.

In the early days there was not enough travel to justify the expense of going through an embankment rather than around it; nor were there enough inhabitants to finance it. Modern engineers may not be smarter, but they have better support.

Some bad roads may be blamed on engineers imported from the East. They did not know climatic conditions and local requirements. These mistake-makers could hardly foresee the tremendous strides California was to take.

There is less excuse for some of the crumbling cement of the past decade. The Mexican visitors noted the poor section between the summit of Cajon Pass and Victorville. This stretch was well engineered; but the paving appears to have lacked conscience. There are whole sections of roadways in California that are a judgment upon the character of contractors. Who rides may read.

We cannot blame all our failures on back-East ignorance and carelessness. There is little wonder that the public becomes suspicious of peewee politicians. We bump in silence over the mistakes and sins of the past; but when a delegation from a sister republic comes and shows us up, we become repentant and self-conscious. Fathead indifference becomes glaring through foreign eyes.

There are model drives in Southern California. The new Roosevelt Highway along the beach is an example. The Santa Barbara road along the Rincon cut-off is another. But some others break both the heart and axles.

THE NEW TAILOR
By James J. Montague

There's a little pixie lady
Who has lived the summer long
Where the woods are cool and shady
And the streamlet sings its song.
But though raven are her tresses
And her eyes of tender blue,
She's had nothing but green dresses
All the dreary season through.
But she soon will blithely carol
In a robe of gold and brown—
She'll be clad in new apparel
When the autumn leaves come down.

There's a little pixie urchin
In a leafy sylvan glade,
Who can only go to church in
Suits of dusty emerald shade.
Since the spring he has been peeking
Through the tree-tops here and there,
But in spite of all his seeking
There was nothing else to wear.
Now the happy little fellow
Sits and smiles with unconcern,
He'll be dressed in red and yellow
When the leaves begin to turn.

All the elves of hill and hollow
Are elated with the news
That they presently may follow
Any fashion they may choose.
And, although the woods grow duller
Toward the closing of the year
There will be a wealth of color
Till the leaves fall dead and sere.
And without a cent of payment
Every maple, beech and oak
Will provide a wealth of raiment
For the little pixie folk.

LEE SIDE O' LA
By Lee Shippey

MISERY loves company. We Americans are likely to think we are the most henpecked men alive. And we get a real thrill out of evidence that others are in the same boat.

So let us tell you the story of Gniwe Lohta, the Roomanian artist now in our midst.

Now don't jump to the conclusion that we've spelled Roomanian incorrectly. We know what kind of mania he's got better than you do.

A Place "All His Own"

Art is long and groceries are fleeting, so Gniwe got himself a job with a salary attached. But, like all artistic workers, he clings to his dreams. He'd rather dream than work, any day. He yearns to paint some pictures for art's sake, for the enlightenment and inspiration of the world, for posterity and fame. He often spends a pleasant evening at home telling his wife how he's going to do wonderful things—some day. It's easy to conquer the world, when you're just talking about it with your wife.

But after a hard day at the office it's pretty hard to turn in and do any actual conquering. Especially when the house is small and you haven't any place in it in which you can get seclusion, far from disturbing conversations and radios and friends who drop in for bridge.

So recently Gniwe got busy and transformed his garage into a studio. There he would get away from the madding crowd. There he would dream and invite his soul. There he would establish sacred privacy, and work, so that some day the world would make a shrine of that garage.

His wife heartily approved his efforts to fix up the garage as a habitable place—and wrote her sisters, Laura and Helen, all about it.

When Inspiration Came

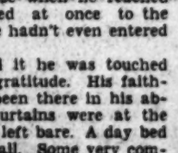
Inspiration is a coy maid. Gniwe got his skylight in and his pictures up, and his easel and paints all ready, but continued to spend his evenings in the living-room, listening to the radio or making his wife listen to him. So two weeks went by and all his world-conquering had been conversational.

Then one evening as he rode home on the top of a bus he caught inspiration from the skyline against the sunset. A picture formed in his mind which he longed to transfer to canvas.

He was so full of it that he didn't go into the house when he reached home. He dashed at once to the garage, which he hadn't even entered for a week.

As he reached it he was touched and filled with gratitude. His faithful spouse had been there in his absence. Pretty curtains were at the windows he had left bare. A day bed was along one wall. Some very comfortable chairs were in the transformed garage. An electric stove was throwing out a cheerful warmth.

Incidentally, his easel and paints had been shoved into a corner, behind a handsome drape. But that would be easily remedied. He dashed into the house to thank the dear girl, eager as he was to get at the picture.



A Real Surprise

But when he got into the house he found Helen and Laura there. They had come out from Chicago for a visit.

"What a delightful surprise!" he exclaimed. "We'd been wanting you to come out for a long time. But, of course, having no room, we hesitated to ask you. We're surely glad you came, anyway. Where are you stopping?"

"Why, right here, of course," said Helen.

"And we certainly appreciate that lovely little house you fixed up for us," said Laura. "It's so comfortable and cosy I think we'll stay all winter."

LETTERS TO The Times

Able and Willing

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 23.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I have always admired the policy of your paper in giving deserved recognition to public servants and at this time I would like to present the name of Superintendent Frank Shearer of the Park Department.

Under the able supervision of Mr. Shearer, covering over a period of twenty years, the department has developed into one of the largest and most efficient in America.

I have recently learned that Superintendent Shearer receives the munificent sum of $450 a month for services that should command twice that sum. Los Angeles certainly has been slow to recognize the value of an executive whose training and prestige, both in Europe and America, entitle him to substantial compensation and appreciation.

Non-Profit Hospitals

ALTADENA, Oct. 26.—[To the Editor of The Times:] A very seductive proposal for the tax exemption of so-called "non-profit hospitals" is to be submitted to the electorate in November. Its place on the ballot is No. 3, though it is labeled "Constitutional Amendment No. 6."

The California population is largely drugless in its therapeutic faith, and in their view the present cost of medical hospitalization to the taxpayers of this State is far in excess of any benefits derived by the general public.

And there does seem a kind of irony in asking the drugless healing cults and their followers—who are entirely shut out from all the publicly supported hospitals—to assume the additional tax burden of these privately endowed institutions which their owners and beneficiaries are seeking to evade—don't you think?

Library Book Buying

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 27.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Proposed amendment No. 3-A is an innocent looking affair, but if you stop to think about it, it carries more than one stinger in its tail. The charter provides that certain specialized city departments control their own purchases within certain budgets allocated by their respective boards. Now comes this tricky little amendment suggesting that all purchases be made and controlled by one city purchasing agent.

Take the library department. Are books to be bought like bricks and floor polish? How can a city purchasing agent know how to read book catalogues, keep informed of 10,000 titles appearing in the United States yearly and order books in at least thirty languages? But that is what our Public Library book purchaser is doing right now. I asked and I found that it takes twenty assistants and a book expert to order 100,000 books a year and to hustle them through the library machinery to the book shelves for the waiting public.

Every reader that wants his books on time had better get out and put his little "X" in the "No" side of No. 3-A.

Graves Commended

PASADENA, Oct 24.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Mr. Walter L. Case, in his letter in today's issue of your paper, expresses my sentiments and feelings exactly in regard to Mr. Jackson A. Graves resigning from the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce recently. I congratulate Mr. Graves for his fine citizenship, patriotism and trueness to those high ideals that have made America a great nation.

Nerve-Frazzling Procedure

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 26.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I have been waiting for expressions of approval of William Hamilton Cline's articles concerning the daylight-saving scheme. The upsetting twice yearly of the routine of living could have only disastrous effects. American nerves are already on edge, and physical readjustment every six months would not improve the condition.

A RADIO VOICE

A friend to child, a friend to man—
A friend to all, 'tis true,
Whose kindly voice has brought much cheer
To folks so sad and blue.

We oft recall with pleasure
His programs on the air.
They were a treat and hard to beat,
Unjazzed, refined and rare.

His golden-voiced canaries
Just seemed to know their lines,
And joined in every program
They'd broadcast from The Times.

The memory of that kindly voice
Will live when he is gone,
That voice we loved so much to hear—
The voice of "Uncle John."

THE HAZLITT CENTENARY

BY BAILEY MILLARD

Taine complained that the English were too strait-laced in their literary preferences and too little inclined to overlook the amatory indiscretions of their authors. It may have been for some such reason that William Hazlitt never received due recognition from his countrymen in his day nor from those who still are shocked when they hear his name or that of Byron or Shelley, though, of course, such shocks are considered by the "liberated" mind as a sort of tribute in itself.

But the William Hazlitt centenary, celebrated by literary clubs in America and Europe, has been a notable success and the author of those rare essays which have been so long the delight of scholars has come in of late for more praise than he ever received from his contemporaries.

Still Hazlitt hardly can be said to have been rediscovered by the general reader in this centenary period, for he was gaining vogue in the latter part of the Victorian era. Stevenson directed particular attention to his work when he wrote: "We are mighty fine fellows nowadays, but we cannot write like Hazlitt." Saintsbury said of him: "He was the greatest critic that England has produced." These hearty commendations, which caused the dilettanti to dip into Hazlitt more or less deeply, followed those generous ones of Lamb, who wrote: "Hazlitt is worth all the other modern prose writers put together."

In his youth Hazlitt lived at Wem, in Shropshire. Early in life he painted portraits. "I am a slave to the picturesque," he once said. Everywhere he perceived the charm of life and color. He could describe accurately any face that had impressed him. He loved to walk across country. In his "On Going a Journey" he wrote in his rhapsodic way: "Give me the clear blue sky over my head and the green turf beneath my feet, a winding road before me and a three-hour march to dinner—and then to thinking! It is hard if I cannot start some game on these lone heaths. I laugh, I run, I leap, I sing for joy."

He was a parliamentary reporter for the London Chronicle for a time and also a frequent contributor to the reviews. His books were numerous, among the most noteworth being "Original Essays of Men and Manners," "The Plain Speaker" and "The Spirit of the Age." He wrote a four-volume biography of Napoleon, ridiculed by the British as unpatriotically favoring the great Corsican and even scored by his best friends, among them Coleridge, Lamb and Leigh Hunt. He received no compensation for his three years' work on "Napoleon," due to the failure of his publishers. But his literary efforts rarely received great reward and he did not earn more than $3000 a year on an average during his period of largest production.

In those days literary criticism meant vitriolic excoriation, and Hazlitt came in for it quite often. Blackwood's and the Fortnightly were his keener critics. One may judge of the delight in which they took in hand his "Liber Amoris," the story of his philandering with Sarah Walker, a tailor's daughter, on account of which Mrs. Hazlitt secured a divorce after fourteen years of wedded life. But the attacks upon the book, a silly work described by De Quincey as "an explosion of frenzy," were acts of supererogation, as the book itself was its own critic and betrayer.

The infatuation for Sarah did not last long, nor did that for the widow whom Hazlitt afterward married and "lost" on a honeymoon tour of Europe. Hazlitt returned to London and began to drink heavily of ardent spirits, but seeing that they were injuring his health, he became a total abstainer and drank nothing stronger than tea for the rest of his life. He died at the age of 52 in the presence of Charles Lamb, his last words being, strangely, "Well, I've had a happy life."

Hazlitt's charm was not in his philosophy, but in his homely vigor of expression and in his inspiring enthusiasms. He was especially happy in his references to his youth and its carefree ways. "I never see a child's kite," he wrote, "but it seems to pull at my heart."

LA TIERRA PERDIDA

Where is La Tierra Perdida
With its pink-tinted, love-laden skies,
With its grateful cool stretches of shadow
So restful to world-weary eyes?
Where is La Tierra Perdida
Where man is a brother to man,
Where gain is the object of neither
And love is a part of the plan?

I will seek o'er the world till I find you,
My Lost Land of youth and of love,
With fetters of gold will I bind you
And all of your loveliness prove.
You are calling, Tierra Perdida,
You were never more wondrously fair,
And I know that beyond all the shadow,
My aloe is blossoming there!

I would like to own a [illegible] but my bank account is [illegible] and I am not such a simp as to borrow what it costs; for a few things I fret, but such longings are all wet, for I long ago known that debt is the worst of bitter frosts. I would have a limousine, but my pocketbook is lean, and it takes my whole bean paying for my board; so I'll buy a pair of skates and those weapons I shall use rather that than paying dues for a car I can't afford. I would dress in silk attire so that all [illegible] might admire, but I find I have to fire such ambitions from my soul; it takes money to be able to appear in brave array with the sons of fashion's play, and I haven't got the roll. It takes money, in this land, to run with the grand, with the dandy to upstand, with the [illegible] to eat my pork and beans and seedy gabardines, and I know what comfort means, for I do not owe a red. When I strut on the street all my townsmen I may meet, and there's never one who'll bleat a request for what I owe; I'm not always paying dues, so I'm willing to exercise the luxuries I lose—while in such sort of thing is so. I would like a stovepipe hat but my purse is pretty flat, and it takes my all to feed my eat, all the money I can raise; so my ancient hat will do for another year or two while my journeys I pursue looking for a graft that pays.

NEW WITNESSES MAY BE CALLED

Welkup Plot Investigation Still Before Jurors

Conclusion of Month-Old Inquiry Likely Today

Fourteen Have Testified Concerning Frame-up

Several new witnesses probably will be called before the grand jury today in the Police Commissioner Welkup frame-up case which has been under investigation several weeks. Fourteen witnesses have testified.

According to Chief Deputy District Attorney Stewart, in charge of the case for his office, today probably will end the investigation and a vote may be taken by the grand jury.

The investigation was first put under way by the police more than a month ago, when Miss Helen Lee, pretty blond, confessed that she had been employed by certain city officials to bring about Commissioner Welkup's arrest by luring him to an apartment. A number of persons were named by Miss Lee in her confession and most of them have been called by the grand jury.

Conner M. Shawn, a taxicab official, and Edward S. Ward, a private detective, both mentioned by Miss Lee and sought by the police, are reported by the authorities to have fled from the city.

AVIATRIX PILOTED TO JAIL CELL

Mrs. Juanita Burns Held on Bad-Check Charge Filed at San Gabriel

Juanita Eloise Burns, 24 years of age, widely known aviatrix, has made all manner of landings during her career, but never one quite like that she made yesterday. That time she landed in the County Jail. Taken in custody at her home at 280 South Union avenue by Deputy Sheriffs Brown and Stevens, she was piloted to a cell on a warrant issued by the justice's court of San Gabriel township charging she issued checks against nonsufficient funds. She is to appear in answer to the warrant at 2 p.m. tomorrow.

JUANITA BURNS

She declared the charges are the outgrowth of a dispute she had recently with a relative. The latter, out of spite, she stated, made a premature deposit of the checks involved, although she had promised to withhold them a stipulated time.

Mrs. Burns first came into fame last March 6 when, with Dudley Steele, she located the wreckage of a Western Air Express plane which had crashed two weeks before in the mountains about seven miles from Lake Arrowhead. The following day she led to the spot a party which recovered the bodies of the three men who were in the plane when it crashed, James E. Dole and A. W. Bieber, pilots, and John Slacon, steward.

She was among the entrants in the woman's national air derby last summer from Long Beach to Chicago, but withdrew just before the start as the result of the tragic death of her brother in an automobile accident. At one time she owned an interest in the Garvey Airport.

One of the loveliest affairs of the season was the luncheon with which Mrs. Victor Ford Collins and Mrs. Douglas M. Lougyear entertained yesterday afternoon at the California Club, covers being arranged for 100 guests. An autumn motif was effectively carried out with a profusion of Claudius Permet and Talisman roses and sprays of maidenhair fern fronds.

For Returned Traveler

In honor of Mrs. Walter Harrison Fisher of the Talmadge, who returned recently from an extended trip of many months, Mrs. John Gillespie Bullock will entertain at her lovely home in South Plymouth Boulevard this afternoon with a beautifully appointed tea. Several hundred guests have been bidden, the hours being from 4 to 6 o'clock.

Assisting the hostess and presiding at the tea urns, will be Mrs. Charles Sheward Crail, Mrs. Edward A. Dickson, Mrs. Frank William Davey, Mrs. Alonso Fayram, Mrs. John D. Fredericks, Mrs. William Irving Hollingsworth, Mrs. William Armstrong Moses, and Mrs. Samuel Knight Rindge, intimate friends of the honoree, while assisting in the dining-room will be a coterie of young matrons, Mrs. Alfred Dewey Davey, Mrs. Richard Fewel, Mrs. Hugh Hinton Evans and Mrs. Wayne Fisher.

A program of harp music will feature the tea hours, and this evening. The husbands of the assisting ladies have been invited to join them at the Bullock home for a buffet dinner.

Halloween Luncheon

Mrs. David Foltz of 153 South Normandie avenue was the charming hostess yesterday afternoon at a Halloween bridge luncheon. Black cats, bobgoblins and other Halloween fancies formed the decorations of the orange and black motif. Black candles lighted the board with centerpiece of chrysanthemums marigolds and ferns. Those included were Mrs. James Brand, Mrs. Frank Recktenwald, Mrs. N. K. Smith, Mrs. Francis Kane, Mrs. William Grimes, Mrs. Walter Desteiguer, Mrs. Atwood Rippey, Mrs. Sherman Cox, Mrs. Trella McKnight, Mrs. Charles Lehman, Mrs. Frank Wiser, Mrs. John Tracey, Mrs. Stephen Miles, Mrs. Guy Greenwald, Mrs. Frank Nazro, Mrs. Charles Hogan, Mrs. Robert Kerr, Mrs. William Betts, Mrs. Clyde Miller and Mrs. Florence Walcott.

Announce Engagement

At a charmingly appointed tea Saturday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Marcellus, 8333 Melrose avenue, the engagement was formally announced of Miss Beverly Marcellus to James Wotherspoon, son of Mrs. Maude Wotherspoon of Eagle Rock. The news was told by means of cards of fortune and lucky numbers designating the table at which the holder would play bridge. The names of the betrothed were hidden in the cards.

The wedding is to be an event of February 11, in the Wee Kirk O' the Heather, Glendale.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Leib announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mary Dorothy Leib, to Theodore A. Von Der Ahe, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Von Der Ahe. The wedding will take place in November.

Bridge-Luncheon at Club

Mrs. C. Herbert White was the hostess at a delightfully appointed bridge-luncheon which she gave recently at the Wilshire Country Club. Autumn shades of brown, dark orange and yellow were used in the table decorations and accessories, including candles, nut cups, candle holders and favors. Yellow ahasha bags of rosebuds, a new creation, were used with charming effect, also.

Honor guests at the affair were Mrs. H. W. Bygott and Mrs. Errick Wilson. Assisting Mrs. White at the luncheon was a group of young matrons which included Mrs. Bruce Young, Mrs. Samuel Blake, Mrs. Herman Edward Hertz, Mrs. Loren Londergan, Mrs. Roy Pitts, Mrs. S. H. Lund, Mrs. Lawrence Kunkler, Mrs. Milo Johnson and Mrs. John A. English.

Other guests were Mrs. Rex P. Herbert, Mrs. Jack Ainsworth Hazard, Mrs. Major Justice Chesley, Mrs. A. G. Neff, Mrs. Shanas N. Neal, Mrs. James Abeel, Mrs. Jack Evans, Mrs. John E. Baura, Mrs. Walter P. Oliver, Mrs. O. Schulte, Mrs. E. Essex, Mrs. R. T. Beckhan, Mrs. Lew Jacobs, Mrs. Clyde Butler, Miss Nina Hildebrand and Miss Carolyn Snyder.

November Wedding

Announcement was made of the engagement of Miss Mary Dorothy Lieb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Leibe, to Theodore A. Von Der Ahe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Von Der Ahe at a bridge-tea given the 11th inst. by the bride-elect. The wedding will be in November.

She was also graduated from the college of music, University of Southern California, where she became a member of Mu Phi Epsilon. College Romance

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Mills of Glendale recently announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Nadeane Mills, to Arthur J. Plate. The wedding will take place November 26, at the Wee Kirk o' the Heather, Glendale. Mrs. W. J. Hinshaw will attend the bride and Thomas Mills will be best man.

The romance began at the Minnesota State Teachers' College at Winona, Minn., where both were students. Mr. Plate is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Plate of Winona.

Miss Mills is kindergarten director at the Benjamin Franklin School, Glendale, and is secretary of the Glendale City Teachers' Club.

Mr. Plate and his bride will make their home in Glendale after their marriage.

Will Reside Here

Miss Iris Audrey Richards, daughter of Mrs. J. A. Kenyon of Sydney, Australia, became the bride of Earl A. Holtham of Modesto and New York Tuesday at the Del Monte Chapel, Del Monte, with Rev. Ernest Bradley officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Holtham will make their home at the Town House following a honeymoon trip. Mr. Holtham's alma mater is Stanford and he claims membership in Phi Kappa Psi. The bride arrived from Australia the week before the wedding.

Novelist Weds

A recent wedding of interest is that of Corinne Harris Markey of Hollywood and Ainsworth Gerald Harrison of Waynesboro, Pa., which took place the 6th inst. at the First Presbyterian Church of St. Louis with Rev. George R. Dobson officiating.

The bride, a writer of fiction, has recently completed a novel entitled "Peacocks and Baboons." She is a member of the Authors' League of America and the Authors' Guild and College Club.

Following the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Harrison passed a week at the Coronado Hotel, St. Louis, before motoring to their home in Waynesboro.

Aboard Ship

Dinner aboard the battleship Lexington, in the San Pedro harbor, was a treat enjoyed by a group of friends recently. Lieut. James Dyer, flight commander of the battleship, which is noted as the largest airplane carrier in the naval service, was host at the unique affair.

After dinner, a movie was shown aboard ship and music was furnished by the Lexington's band. Also, an interesting talk was given by Lieut. Dyer on the airplane service.

Those included in the party were Mrs. James Dyer, wife of the commander; Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Berghoff of the Hollywood Knickerbocker Hotel; their daughter, Miss Harriet Farrell, and George Schmidt of Chicago and La Jolla.

Mr. Schmidt is the house guest of the Berghoffs and many delightful excursions are planned during his stay in Hollywood. He is owner and operator of Riverview Park in Chicago, the largest privately owned amusement place in the world. He is an enthusiastic yachtsman and owner of the seagoing yacht Johnny, on which he has made many cruises.

Evening Wedding

The French Lounge of the Hollywood Knickerbocker was the scene of a beautifully appointed wedding Sunday the 19th inst., when Miss Esther Posner became the bride of Emanuel Eisenstein.

Philip Posner, the bride's father, gave her in marriage, and the ceremony was solemnized by Rabbi Max H. Kert.

The bride was charming in ivory chantilly lace, with the lace cap to match, and she carried an arm shower of white orchids and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Max Silberman assisted her sister as matron-of-honor, gowned in turquoise blue satin and a large maline hat to match. She carried a daintily arranged bouquet of salmon and yellow Talisman roses.

A wedding breakfast was served following the ceremony. The guests comprised only the immediate members of the two families.

Mr. Eisenstein is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Eisenstein of 4910 Angeles Vista Boulevard.

Following a brief honeymoon trip to San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. Eisenstein will be at home to their friends after November 1.

Smart Affair

An unusually smart formal dinner took place at the Mary Louise Friday evening, the occasion being installation of new officers by Gamma alumnae chapter of Kappa Beta Pi, women's international legal sorority. After the dinner there was a presentation of gifts by Mrs. Amelia F. Johnson, retiring dean, to Mrs. Catherine McKenna, who was dean the previous year, while Mrs. Beatrice Montgomery Sattler, member of the national board of directors, made the presentation to Mrs. Johnson.

With a lovely ceremony the officers installed were Mrs. Loraine Swope, dean; Mrs. Beatrice Sattler, vice-dean; Alice E. Wieder, registrar, and Mrs. Jessie Dolfin Cornell, chancellor.

The table was beautifully decorated with yellow roses and blue delphinium, yellow and blue ribbons and blue candles, carrying out the sorority colors, while corsages of gardenias tied with blue and yellow marked the places of Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Swope. A short program followed the installation services, after which the party were guests at a theater party with Mrs. Swope as hostess. Among the guests, who are all practicing attorneys, were Miss Jeanette Crop, chairman of the committee; Helen Hardman and Ruth Memory, also Alta F. Phillips, Bertha Joseph, Ella Rae Briggs, Jeanette Hertz, Esther Adams, Hanna Lande, Frances Emans, Ruth Allen and Margaret Evans.

New Linoleum

New linoleum should be cut and laid at least three weeks before it is nailed to the floor, to prevent bulging. Only places that are apt to be kicked or broken should then be tacked. A word of warning to the inexperienced, the laying of linoleum is not an easy job and, to me, well worth the price of having it laid.

Your Baby and Mine

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, styes and colic and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

REARRANGING NAP HOURS MAY CURE BABY'S WAKEFULNESS

Being an insomniac is a matter of pride with some adults. It bestows upon them a measure of distinction to say to the family in the morning, "I didn't close my eyes until 3 o'clock, and heard the clock strike every hour!"

But when the baby arouses both the echoes and all the adults a half-dozen times a night, the story is a little different, as Mrs. P. I. C. will agree.

"Can you tell me what makes my baby such a light sleeper?" she asks. "He is eight and one-half months old, healthy and good. He is and always has been on a four-hour schedule prescribed by the doctor. I have never missed a month taking him to the doctor and he is in perfect health. He eats everything given him, loves his milk, has plenty of fresh air daily, and sleeps alone in a well-ventilated room.

ACTIVE BABY

"But the least little noise wakens him, and in daytime he will not go back to sleep. At night he wakens two or three times and cries. He sleeps in a light, sleeveless shirt, diaper and nightie and has two warm, light covers over him. His lack of sleep does not affect his disposition. He weighs twenty-one and one-half pounds and has been creeping and pulling up to things since the sixth month."

Here is a sticker. There is apparently nothing that needs changing in either the environment or physical care, for the boy is both overweight and ahead of the average physical development.

You did fail to tell me the hours of his naps and that may be the real trouble. On the four-hour schedule the usual naps come at 10 and 2 o'clock. Advance his morning nap hour and merge it with the afternoon one. Instead of a nap at 10 o'clock, give one longer nap between 12:30 and 2 o'clock. Change the feeding hours to 7, 12, 4, and 7. Then the nap comes between the 12 and 4 feeding. He is probably not sleepy enough at 10 to fall into a sound sleep, so every slight noise awakens him.

DEADENING NOISES

Also you might try putting a wisp of cotton in each ear to deaden the ordinary noises of the street and household over which you have no control. No matter how light the covers be certain that they are not tucked around baby securely. The effort to get away from restraining covers is sufficient to waken most babies. Perhaps this is the real answer to your problem.

We have a leaflet covering all possible reasons why babies are wakeful at night. Any reader may secure this by inclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope with each request for "Reasons for Wakefulness." Check up by this and note any other way in which you may encourage sound sleeping by changes in diet, or by just keeping baby warm without holding him in a vise with bed covers.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

In the Child's Room

If you want to teach your child orderliness right from the start, see that the closet poles, bookcases, etc., are placed low enough for the youngster to put his things away himself. A child-size tree pole is a handy thing to teach order, as the clothing may be taken off and hung up to air and dry out immediately, thus doing the child and the clothing both good.

Cracked Plaster

Before giving the kitchen walls their fall coat of paint, be sure that every crack and crevice is filled smoothly with plaster. There is a mending plaster on the market now for these small jobs, not unlike plaster of Paris, except it takes longer to harden and is, therefore, more easily applied by the amateur.

Your Favorite Comfort

If the down quilt is soiled and, despite your love of it, you are ashamed to have it in sight, cover it with a pretty sateen or cretonne, following the former lines of stitching. It just takes a little time and patience but saves money and is worth the trouble.

Bittersweet

If your bouquet of bittersweet has a dusty look from long keeping in the house, put it out in a gentle rain or dip it in a bucket of cold water. All its original beauty will be brought back.

Ask for Kotex if you want real comfort in sanitary protection

Don't think other sanitary pads can give you the same wonderful absorbency, the perfect fit and lasting softness Kotex provides

THERE are just no two ways about it. If you want perfect comfort and a real feeling of security, you must specify "Kotex" when you buy sanitary pads.

Kotex, the original sanitary pad, has made the progress you would expect of the first of all such manufactured comforts for women.

It is actually five times more absorbent than surgical cotton, by test. The wonderful material of which it is made (Cellucotton—not cotton—absorbent wadding) is laid in many air-cooled layers, each individual layer a quick, complete absorbent in itself. Kotex is guaranteed to give more protection, longer protection than any other sanitary pad.

These unique features

Kotex deodorizes—a fact of supreme importance to women who consider daintiness essential to charm.

It is scientifically designed, you know. Rounded and tapered in such a way as to fit perfectly and inconspicuously under the tightest fitting or filmiest of frocks.

Hospitals specify Kotex

Great hospitals have given their approval to Kotex by actually using it (millions and millions of pads per year) in preference to any other kind of sanitary protection. They use its Cellucotton filler, too. Last year they bought enough of this absorbent to make 80,000,000 pads! Just think what a tribute that is to its hygienic safety!

Nothing else is like Kotex. Be safe. Specify "Kotex" when you order sanitary pads.

Kotex Company, Chicago, Illinois.

KOTEX IS SOFT...

1 Not a deceptive softness, that soon packs into chafing hardness. But a delicate, lasting softness.

2 The Kotex filler is far lighter and cooler than cotton, yet absorbs 5 times as much.

3 In hospitals ... The Kotex absorbent is the identical material used by surgeons in 85% of the country's leading hospitals.

4 Deodorizes, safely, thoroughly, by a special process.

5 Disposable, instantly, completely.

The New in Stores & Homes

Novelties, Ideas, and Suggestions

By OLIVE GRAY

In your Christmas buy-early-ing, it might be a novel plan to select gifts wantable by the giftee, instead of those which you yourself would like. Too often, gift-choosing affords an opportunity to purchase those objects that we want, instead of those wanted by the recipients. A sort of gift self-indulgence this—for it is a pleasure to buy what we wish to buy, whatsoever the purpose. A bit of diplomacy, practiced some weeks in advance of gift selection, may draw forth the Christmas wishes of our friends and relatives, and lists carried in our hand-bags will help us to secure such articles, early in the holiday game.

Garment Protectors

A cold day when there is not something new in the boudoir sections, something fashioned from that accommodating Argentine cloth. There have been hat protectors, gown protectors, all sorts of fold-aways for the dresser drawers, and now come those compact and convenient little tops for slipping on above the frock, suit or coat, as it hangs in the clothes closet. These dainty affairs are cut rounding and have a brass-ringed opening to slip the hook over and, thus provided, the garment will not catch those dust particles certain to be floating in the air. These covers do their appointed work, too, without crowding upon other articles.

Tray Sets

If it isn't anything else, it is certain to be an ash tray. Thus would one say that ash trays are of many and various kinds, and none is more interesting than those which formerly were "wine-tasters" in their native land. That land is France, and the coat-of-arms of the country adds interest to these objects. They come in sets, or stacks, and have an appearance of antique pewter—which they are, in fact. So uncommon-place are these trays as to at once place them on the discriminating gift-list.

Perfumisers

These novelties do not "atom" the perfume, but burn it and so they are worthy of a name all their own. Tall glass cylinders are they, with painstedly colorful scenes depicted thereon. With an electric globe inserted, the heat from the light serves to heat the liquid perfume which occupies a tray at the top of the cylinder, and distills the essence, while at the same time, a tiny fan, inside the glass, serves to animate the scene—keeps the water of the Niagara falling over the precipice, the waves of the lake or stream in motion. I would call these among the most striking novelties of the season. The fact that they are quite inexpensive also exercises a gift appeal—since we are but just emerging from the economic cocoon of "hard times" talk.

Sunday Aprons

With the insistent vogue of the Sunday-night supper, everything pertaining thereto is in holiday vogue; and the serving apron of organdie has a new way all its own. Made from organdie in one of the dainty pastel tones, this little apron, edged with checkered gingham in the same tint, is conveniently pocketed and is certain to be flattering as well as protective to the dainty frock beneath, while the wearer is serving tea or acting as waitress for this informal affair.

Added Touch

Theatrical gauze, so long popular for draping windows, has taken on new beauty with its embroidered flowers, blossoming in worsted yarn, throughout its length. This added elegance enhances the material immeasurably; and, in fact, suggests for it other uses than that of window drapes. Some are using it instead of lace for chair backs or sofa backs or arms, where the soft coloring is really more harmonious than is lace which sometimes stands out almost blatantly, against the coloring of the upholstery fabric.

Hooked Rugs

Many a home is to be enhanced by a gift from the art needlework sections, if one may judge by the activities there. Hooked rugs seem to be the principal work in progress; and a family in possession of one of these treasures is heirloomed for several generations. Almost priceless are such rugs when hand-done by some one who has put love into the execution. Valuable, even when purchased, these rugs gain inestimably in worth when executed with the personal gift idea as their objective.

Gift Towels

For those whose gifting tends toward the practical, towels always are on the lists; and this season, more than for long past, towels take a turn at proving the possibility of beauty combining with use. Many new designs are shown in towels, both for personal and for bathroom use, among these a truly Californian border, upon which is woven the old missions and over-shading palm trees. These may be purchased either singly or in pairs or in sets of three—one big towel for the bath and two for hands and face.

Finger-Tippies

Extremely novel are the finger-tip towels, little frills of fine linen, bordered in many different and interesting ways. One charming sort is embellished with silhouettes, of ye olde tyme pattern, each tiny black figure inclosed in a hand-done ring, like a frame. Edges also are appliqued to these little finger-wipes, the color of the applique adding interest. Very gifty, these finger-tippies are, whether singly or in sets.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

by THORNTON W. BURGESS

BOBBY REFUSES TO BACK UP

Whene'er you go it will be found
He gains respect who holds his ground.
—Old Mother Nature.

Bobby Coon felt very well pleased with himself. He had had a fine dinner. To be sure, that dinner had not been intended for him. No, sir, it had been intended for Jimmy Skunk. But this made no difference to Bobby Coon. The law of the Green Forest and the Green Meadows is that he who has shall have. That means that he who gets a thing first has the right to it, if he can hold it. Bobby had found that dinner first, because Jimmy Skunk had happened to be late.

Now, of course, you know where that dinner was. It was in the shed back of Farmer Brown's house; the shed that opened from the kitchen. For some little time Jimmy Skunk had been going over there every night for his dinner. He had entered by way of a hole left open for Black Pussy, the Cat. Bobby Coon had found it out and now Bobby had been in and had one of those dinners.

"I'll be on hand over there tomorrow night early," said Bobby Coon to himself. "I don't want any trouble with Jimmy Skunk. So I'll get over there first. Jimmy was late tonight, but perhaps he won't be late tomorrow night; so I'll go early."

So the next night Bobby Coon could hardly wait for it to get dark enough for him to go over to Farmer Brown's. He meant to get there ahead of Jimmy Skunk, and he did get there ahead of Jimmy Skunk. When he slipped in through the cat hole he discovered that there was nothing to eat there. He was so early that Mother Brown had not yet put out the dishes of food. Bobby didn't know what to do. He thought of going back to the Green Forest and waiting. But somehow he couldn't tear himself away. Finally he climbed up on a pile of wood and waited there in the dark. Presently the door opened from the kitchen and Mother Brown came out with the food. Of course, she didn't see Bobby. As soon as the door closed behind her, Bobby scrambled down and settled himself to enjoy that dinner. He was back to the hole by which he had entered the shed. He had just begun his dinner when he heard a noise just back of him. He turned his head. Jimmy Skunk was coming in through that little round doorway.

"You can't scare me," growled Bobby

Of course, Jimmy Skunk discovered Bobby Coon at once. Jimmy walked around so as to approach the dish from the opposite side. He stamped his feet angrily. He lifted his big tail. It was spread out like an umbrella. Under ordinary circumstances, one glance at that big tail would have been sufficient for Bobby Coon. He would have hastened to get out of range of Jimmy's scent gun. But this dinner was his. He had got there first, so it was his. He growled. It was a deep growl; it was a threatening growl. Jimmy Skunk stamped his feet and did a little growling himself.

"That is my dinner!" growled Jimmy.

"How do you get that way!" demanded Bobby. "I got here first and so this dinner is mine."

"You know what will happen don't you, if you don't get out and get out quickly?" said Jimmy; and his tail was so far over his head that the tip of it tickled Bobby Coon's ears.

"You can't scare me!" growled Bobby. He was scared, but he wouldn't admit it. "You can't scare me! I am not afraid of you, Jimmy Skunk."

Jimmy Skunk stamped his feet harder than ever and Bobby Coon growled louder than ever. Just then Mother Brown opened the kitchen door.

Chef Wyman's RECIPES

Every Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

BAKED BEANS

Wash three cupfuls of navy beans, and cover them with cold water, allow them to stand overnight, drain, drain them in a sauce pan with one small onion, stuck with two whole cloves, and enough water to cover, heat slowly and cook just below the boiling point until the skins will break when blown on. Drain off the water, remove the onion, place the beans in an earthenware bean pot, add a half pound piece of salt pork, that has been parboiled in boiling water for fifteen minutes, and cut in half-inch strips to the rind. Add one cupful of boiling water, that has been mixed with two teaspoonfuls of salt, three tablespoonfuls of molasses, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, two teaspoonfuls of mustard, and one teaspoonful of black pepper, cover the pot and bake in a slow oven for six hours. Uncover and bake for one hour.

COCOANUT BLANC MANGE

Mix one-fourth cupful of cornstarch with one-fourth cupful of sugar, and three tablespoonfuls of cold water, scald two cupfuls of milk in a double boiler and gradually stir in the cornstarch and sugar, and stir until thickens, then allow to cook slowly for twenty minutes stirring it occasionally. Cool slightly, and add one cupful of shredded cocoanut, the stiffly beaten whites of three eggs, and one-fourth of a cupful of maraschino cherries, cut in small pieces. Wet a mold with cold water, pour the mixture in and allow to harden. Serve it with a soft custard made with the yolks of the eggs.

CALF'S LIVER AU GRATIN

Mix three-quarters of a cupful of very finely chopped salt pork with one cupful of soaked bread crumbs that have been pressed dry, two tablespoonfuls of finely chopped onions, one tablespoonful of finely chopped parsley, one tablespoonful of chopped chives, and one tablespoonful of chopped capers. Season with salt, paprika and a few grains of mace, cover one-quarter-inch thick slices of calf's liver with boiling water, and allow to stand five minutes. Drain and dry, cover the bottom of a baking dish with a layer of the dressing, cover the dressing with a layer of the sliced liver, and repeat until all has been used, covering the top layer with buttered bread crumbs and bake in a moderate oven for forty-five minutes.

CHIYOTE AND NUT SALAD

Peel two medium-sized chiyote, cut through the center, and remove the seeds, then cut in even-sized dice, cover with boiling water, to which has been added a tablespoonful of lemon juice and cook until tender. Drain and allow them to cool, then add to them one cupful of coarsely chopped walnut meats, one head of lettuce shredded and mix with them a half a cupful of lemon French dressing. Serve in lettuce cups and garnish with the ripe olives.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY
Author of "The Fat Way to Health"

BETWIXT AND BETWEEN

Do you know the story behind the custom of having lighted Jack-o'-lanterns for Halloween? The tale started in Ireland where a miser named Jack was refused a ticket to enter either heaven or hell and spent his time wandering around with a lighted lantern. To imitate him, the children first scooped out cabbages and turnips and set lighted candles in them. Later, pumpkins were used. When you see these lanterns this Halloween let them remind you of the man who was betwixt and between. This exactly describes the state of health of many people. They are neither enjoying a paradise of good health nor are they feeling the misery of the depths of poor health. If you find yourself like this, neither altogether well nor really sick, then let the Jack-o'-lanterns of Halloween remind you that you are not doomed to remain in the halfway state forever. You can begin at once to improve your health.

Halloween is also a time for telling fortunes. Young girls throw apple peelings over their shoulders and witches are supposed to be peering into the past, present and future. No matter what kind of a fortune is told for you at your Halloween-party, I can tell you what is the best fortune in the world. It is to be really healthy. When I wish all my readers to have an abundance of health, I am wishing them the greatest fortune it is possible for them to gain.

Many people think that the best fortune is happiness, yet you cannot have true happiness without health. Others think that success is the thing to be gained. Without reading your palm, or tea leaves in your tea cup, or gazing into a crystal, or consulting the stars, or looking at a single card, I am willing to prophesy that if you will learn to live and eat correctly, you will have better health, and because of better health you will be more successful this coming year than ever before.

At Halloween a great many ancient superstitions are brought forth, such as that departed souls are abroad clutching at you with ghostly fingers, or that witches are out joy-riding on broomsticks. We laugh at such false beliefs, considering them amusing, and then throwing them aside, but we cling to many of the popular superstitions concerning health which are just as ridiculous. Some people believe that cherries and milk are a deadly combination when, as a matter of fact, they are an excellent one. Others believe that pork is poisonous, when it is not, and some believe that meat causes high blood pressure, which is not true.

As you reject the false beliefs connected with Halloween you should learn to reject the false beliefs concerning health. Learn which statements concerning this vital subject are true and which are not. Do not be satisfied with guessing about the laws which bring health. Find out the simple laws and begin practicing them today and then, as surely as All Saints' day follows Halloween, health will be yours.

No Spreading of Colds

One wise mother with several children has an old-fashioned salt box which she keeps for emergencies. When any member of the family has a cold this person's glass is kept in the salt box to prevent any other person using it until he is well. Then the glass and box are sterilized and put away until needed again. The youngster with the cold is quite proud of his distinction and will use the box faithfully all by himself.

FOX TO FILM "DADDY LONG-LEGS"

Janet Gaynor and Warner Baxter Slated as Co-Stars; Monroe Owsley to Play Lead With Joan Crawford; Dorothy Christy at Universal

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

Over at the Fox studios officials are searching for stories for Janet Gaynor, and what more appropriate one could be found than "Daddy Long-Legs?"

JANET GAYNOR

And "Daddy Long-Legs," a Jean Webster play, is to serve Miss Gaynor as her next Fox vehicle if present plans are carried out.

Warner Baxter, it is said, will be co-starred and will play a part excellently suited to his charming talents, though admittedly different from the dashing roles he has of late been enacting.

"Daddy Long-Legs" was played by Mary Pickford several years ago, with great success. Before that, Ruth Chatterton and Henry Miller costarred in the stage production of the play.

Dr. Reynolds to Stage

Dr. Cecil Reynolds, noted physician and nerve specialist of Hollywood, has at last an opportunity to fulfill his stage aspirations and develop his acting talents.

Friends here are in receipt of letters advising them that Dr. Reynolds is to appear in the same New York play, "The Tyrant," being put on by Charles Wagner.

MONROE OWSLEY TO PLAY M.-G.-M. LEAD

Moving right along up the ladder of success, Monroe Owsley, who made such a hit as the young brother in "Holiday," Ann Harding's Pathe starring vehicle, is to play a leading role with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

JOAN CRAWFORD

Owsley is to have the featured male role opposite Joan Crawford in her next M.-G.-M. starring vehicle, not yet titled. Harry Beaumont will direct.

The actor, formerly of the New York stage, has lately appeared in several notable screen roles. He is at present playing the leading male role in Universal's "The Modern Wife."

Dorothy Christy Signed

Dorothy Christy, who pleased everybody when she appeared with Maurice Chevalier, is now being put under contract, for one picture at least, with Universal.

DOROTHY CHRISTY

Miss Christy will play the featured vamp role in "The Modern Wife," in which Genevieve Tobin and Monroe Owsley have the leading romantic roles.

There is a possibility, we hear, that Miss Christy may sign a long-term contract with Universal.

Gentlemen:

On Wednesday evening I went with my family to your Theater and we saw "The Big Trail".

After seeing that colossal picture I want to say to you that if I had to choose between depriving my boy of one year in school or depriving him of the privilege of seeing "The Big Trail", I should unhesitatingly keep him out of school and take him to that picture.

No citizen of this Republic can see that picture without a new vision of the faith, the righteousness, the sacrifices and the heroism which were builded by our pioneer forbears into the foundation stones of this Republic. No citizen no matter how careful a student of American history he may be, can get the true vision of his history except he see "The Big Trail".

The young scout, Brook Coleman (John Wayne), tells the story when he says, "This march began in Europe a thousand years ago; it is the last lap of the march of civilization toward the western sun; and this march must go on".

I hope that every man, woman and child in this great Southland of ours may see this picture; and I hope eventually it may be screened before the eyes of every person north, south, east and west who bears the name "American".

America is writing today the chapter of human history next succeeding the chapter depicted in "The Big Trail"; and we cannot write the present chapter properly, safely, gloriously, unless we read the epic chapter which you are portraying.

As an American citizen, I am profoundly grateful to you for showing to me "The Big Trail".

Sincerely yours,
LeRoy D. Smith

"MOROCCO" WILL PLAY AT CHINESE

Marlene Dietrich Hailed as "Find;" Gary Cooper and Menjou in Cast

According to announcement, the world premiere of "Morocco" will follow the engagement of "The Big Trail" at Grauman's Chinese Theater. No definite opening date has been announced.

"Morocco," a Josef Von Sternberg production featuring Gary Cooper, Marlene Dietrich and Adolphe Menjou, is a surging romance pictured against the colorful background of North Africa. It is said to be the story of a ruthless, unreasonable and magnificent romance, and back of the drama is the intangible fascination of locale, an amazing realism of setting.

"Morocco" presents in Marlene Dietrich a personality with the tang of newness, destined to flash into immediate screen popularity.

Adolphe Menjou, a former reigning favorite, will play a polished, sophisticate and citizen of the world. Menjou's ability equips him for a fine characterization in this role, it is said. Josef Von Sternberg directed.

Perfume Deemed Necessary for Role in Farce

Sally Starr believes so earnestly in the power of suggestion to the extent that she recently threatened not to go on in her part of the flighty young wife in "Parlor, Bedroom and Bath," at El Capitan Theater.

A broken perfume bottle caused all the trouble. It happens that the part of Nita in this farce is exactly opposite to Miss Starr's real personality. Nita is frivolous, shallow, a flirt and a clinging vine. Sally is modern, independent, sensible and decidedly spunky, so she resorts to the seductive lure of "toujours Moi" to put her into the proper mood for her performance.

She has already used up six bottles of this perfume since the opening of the comedy six weeks ago and was walking up the stairs with a new bottle on this occasion when she tripped, fell and smashed the bottle. Things looked dark for Sally for a few minutes until one of the alert stage hands came to the rescue and salvaged just enough perfume to get Sally in the mood necessary for her part. Or, at least, so the yarn goes.

PLAYHOUSE AGAIN UNDER DUFFY FLAG

Leo Carrillo Will Reopen Theater Tonight in Booth Tarkington Comedy

Leo Carrillo as the swaggering "Mister Anonio" steps behind the footlights of the Hollywood Playhouse tonight in a performance which will formally reopen the theater under the personal supervision of Henry Duffy.

In addition to numerous stage-and-screen celebrities, advance reservations indicate that the audience at the gala opening will be comprised of friends and business associates of Duffy who have banded together to make the occasion a combination "welcome home" to Leo Carrillo and as a tribute to the comeback of Duffy.

Supporting Carrillo in "Mister Antonio," Booth Tarkington's whimsical comedy, are Marion Clayton, Lew Kelly, Leo Lindhard, Ruth Matteson, Byron Hawkins, Alma Chester, Olive Cooper and others.

Bard Announces Future Bookings

Lou Bard, who directs the destinies of Bard's Eighth Street Theater, announces the line-up of Paramount film attractions to follow the current production, "Animal Crackers."

Nancy Carroll in "Follow Thru" starts on the following Thursday. Following this will be Jack Oakie in "Let's Go Native" and on November 20 "The Spoilers" will be the attraction. "The Santa Fe Trail" will follow, and Clara Bow in "Her Wedding Night" and "The Play Boy from Paris" with the likable Maurice Chevalier are also booked.

GEORGE IRVING IN UNIVERSAL FILM

Concluding his role in Edwin Carewe's production of "Resurrection," George Irving yesterday stepped into an important part in "The Modern Wife," featuring Genevieve Tobin and Conrad Nagel, which is being directed for Universal by Hobart Henley.

Irving made the transition from presiding judge in the Tolstoy classic to an American jurist in the adaptation of Sidney Howard's stage play, "Half Gods," by the simple expedient of removing a lavish hirsute adornment from his chin. Not more than half an hour was consumed in making the record change.

Whispers in the Wings

BY MURIEL BABCOCK

THE talk on "Beautiful Speech and the Art of Acting" which Mrs. Patrick Campbell gave at the Vine-street Theater last week clicked so definitely in Hollywood that Mrs. Campbell is going to give two additional ones and, furthermore, appear in Ibsen's "Ghosts" in the same playhouse.

One of this department's most trust and agile-eared scouts brought in the information yesterday with the further dope that the first lecture would be Sunday evening, November 9, and the second Friday, November 14. "Ghosts" is scheduled to open on the 17th of the same month with the cast yet to be selected.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Campbell has been approached to talk at the Roosevelt High School November 7, which engagement she will probably fill, and at the Ebell Club at a future date.

"Once in a Lifetime" Coming

George Holland, who staged "June Moon" here, has gone back to New York to tie up the rights to "Once in a Lifetime," the impudent travesty on Hollywood which has New York rocking in ribald mirth. He plans to stage the piece in Los Angeles in January with a cast selected on the Pacific Coast.

There is talk that the Belasco is also dickering for the play; and also talk that if Holland gets it he will stage it at the Belasco. Anyway, it seems to be headed this way, which is a point.

For a time, it looked as if no one in Los Angeles wanted to take a chance at poking fun at Hollywood. (After all, a lot of the Hollywood crowd buy tickets to the theater!) Belasco was dubious about it. Holland, now anxious to get it, was quite skeptical.

"Cup of Sugar" to Close

The new Lynn Starling play, "A Cup of Sugar," with Dorothy Mackaye, winds up its run at the Figueroa Playhouse the end of this week. And its producers will have earned their share of the motion-picture rights, which, under the Authors' League contract, calls for seventy-five performances on the Pacific Coast.

"Mister Antonio" Tonight

And what is quite important to Los Angeles theatergoers is the fact that tonight is the night when the Hollywood Playhouse goes back under the supervision of Henry Duffy. "Mister Antonio," with Leo Carrillo, is the play. The curtain goes up at 8:30 o'clock.

NEW PICTURE TO PLAY AT TWO HOUSES

"Life of Party," Starring Winnie Lightner, Booked at Warner Theaters

Warner Brothers Downtown and Hollywood Theaters will open their doors tomorrow on an unusual situation, that of both showing the same feature picture, "The Life of the Party," starring Winnie Lightner.

The new picture is strictly comedy. It is said, with Miss Lightner in the role of a "gold digger's" manager.

In "The Life of the Party" Charles Judels again plays the part of an excitable Frenchman. He is said to have the time of his life wrecking four different apartments in the picture.

Others in the cast are Irene Delroy, Jack Whiting and Charles Butterworth. Roy Del Ruth directed.

Will Rogers to Appear at Loew's State

Will Rogers, America's foremost wit, has been secured for a week's engagement on the stage of Loew's State Theater, starting today. This is Rogers's first appearance of this kind in Los Angeles, it is said.

The feature film starting today on the screen is "Liliom." Fox picturization of the Franz Molnar play. Charles Farrell has the leading role. Rose Hobart and Estelle Taylor have important parts.

A new Larry Ceballos show will also be presented on the stage.

F. W. Murnau Returns From Long Journey

F. W. Murnau, director of "Sunrise" and "The Laugh Laugh," who departed some time ago with Robert Flaherty for the South Seas, there to make a picture, has returned to Hollywood. The director slipped into the city unannounced and is reported to be negotiating with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios.

Murnau came direct to the United States from Germany, where, evidently, he had gone from the South Seas. His arrival was not anticipated by friends and he is said to be living quietly in Hollywood for the present.

POWER BONDS CALLED UNFAIR

City Club Hears Address of Research Engineer

Economic Reaction Feared in Case Issue Wins

Boulder Dam Argument Said to Be Smoke Screen

Arguments against the proposed $13,600,000 power bond issue as unfair to taxpayers and inimical to the development of Southern California were offered at the City Club yesterday by Dr. George L. Hoxie, economist and research engineer for the Edison company and author of "Stock Speculation and Business," "Textbook of Electrical Machinery" and other works.

"No reasonable-minded citizen has any wish to hamper, in the smallest degree, the proper development of the Power Bureau, but the Power Bureau should cease its attempts to injure others," said Dr. Hoxie. "The primary need of this community is co-operation, not internecine strife.

"The Power Bureau chiefs have an insatiable appetite for bonds. It seems to me that the taxpayers have been burdened enough."

PROPAGANDA ANSWERED

Discussing the statements of propagandists to the effect that the bonds should be voted "to keep faith with the government on Boulder Dam," Dr. Hoxie said:

"What is this faith we must keep with the government? Our representatives told the government at Washington that the Power Bureau is amply financed to carry out its contract and to do every needful thing, including not merely attending to transmission line rights of way but constructing the transmission line itself, all without any more power bond elections. It will be keeping faith with the government if we carry out that pledge and do the job as we said we would, without another dollar of bonds. If not, only will be breaking faith with the government but in my judgment it will make trouble when the next Boulder Dam apropropriation comes up if we fail to do this."

Concerning the purchase of rights of way, Dr. Hoxie voiced the opinion that the land owners will take advantage of the situation to raise prices and said that, with the funds on hand, the Power Bureau might have gone out quietly and bought the right of way without advertising its intention in advance.

"The reason this was not done was that the bureau officials wanted to have something on which to raise a false cry that the dam is involved in a bond issue that they feared would otherwise be rejected," said the speaker.

Dr. Hoxie declared that the voting of the bonds would have a tendency to put many men out of employment.

"You cannot interfere with any going, useful, necessary, honest business enterprise without injuring the community," said the speaker. "This the Power Bureau proposes to do. It is the privately operated corporations that have brought power here, in large quantities, made continuous rate reductions and made possible the establishment of great industries. The slightest check to confidence in Los Angeles would have reactions that would reach every local business, every tax-paying citizen and every working man."

Another speaker was Lake Young, who spoke in favor of the measure proposing Sunday closing for barbers. Jess E. Stephens, president of the City Club, presided.

BOARD ASKS SUPPORT

The Board of Water and Power Commissioners yesterday issued a statement urging support of the bonds. The appeal lists ten reasons why the measure should be adopted, as follows:

(1.) It will help Los Angeles receive its share of low-priced power from Boulder Dam.

(2.) It will not increase taxes.

(3.) Since 1922 the Power Bureau has paid from earnings all charges against its bonds.

(4.) The bonds will be used to speed up a $25,500,000 program of extension to the bureau's system during the next three years.

(5.) No bond funds are on hand at present to finance work to be done.

(6.) Being classed as revenue-producing bonds, the power bonds cannot reduce the city's bonding limit for schools, fire protection, sanitation, etc.

(7.) The bonds will make possible a large amount of employment, through construction projects.

(8.) None of the bond funds will be used to purchase existing electric systems of private companies.

(9.) The bonds have been indorsed by the Chamber of Commerce.

BOY SWALLOWS TOY WHISTLE

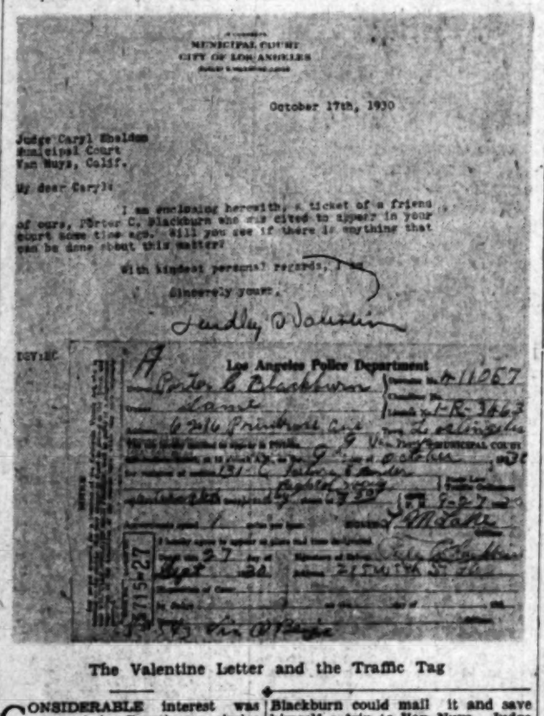
Youngster Sent to Hospital and Will Be Placed on Special Diet

The ambition of Bobby Means, 9 years of age of 1763 West Adams street, to get more than one note out of a home-made wooden whistle proved disastrous for him yesterday at the Washington-Street School. He swallowed the whistle.

After police surgeons had decided that the whistle had followed the course of least resistance into Bobby's stomach they sent him to the General Hospital to be put on a special diet.

JUST WHAT DOES LETTER MEAN?

Judge's Plea for Friend Ambiguous



MUNICIPAL COURT
CITY OF LOS ANGELES

October 17th, 1930

Judge Caryl Sheldon
Municipal Court
Van Nuys, Calif.

My dear Caryl:

I am enclosing herewith a ticket of a friend of ours, Porter C. Blackburn who was cited to appear in your court some time ago. Will you see if there is anything that can be done about this matter?

With kindest personal regards, I am

Sincerely yours,

Dudley Valentine

Los Angeles Police Department

The Valentine Letter and the Traffic Tag

CONSIDERABLE interest was aroused in Courthouse circles yesterday by a letter written by Municipal Judge Valentine on his official stationery in which he asks a fellow-judge on the Municipal bench to "see if there is anything can be done about" a traffic citation issued by a policeman to "a friend of ours," Porter C. Blackburn, a local attorney.

The letter is dated October 17, last, eight days after the date on which Mr. Blackburn was cited to appear in the Municipal Court at Van Nuys, and is addressed to Municipal Judge Caryl Sheldon, until lately sitting at Van Nuys. However, Judge Sheldon has recently been transferred and had no opportunity to act on the request, had he been disposed to do so.

The charge, for which conviction carries a small fine, is written on a form devised by police experts to eliminate the "ticket-fixing" practice. However, despite the wording of his plea on his friend's behalf, Judge Valentine declared yesterday that he merely wished to ascertain the amount of the fine, which varies in various jurisdictions, so that Mr. Blackburn could mail it and save himself a trip to Van Nuys. Judge Valentine says he has done the same thing several times in the past when local business men brought into his court traffic tags calling for appearances in courts outside the city. Paying fines by mail in minor cases is a common practice in his and most other courts of this county, he said. In none of these instances, he averred, did he have the slightest idea of "fixing" a case.

Mr. Blackburn's version of the matter is that he asked Judge Valentine if the latter could have the case transferred to a Los Angeles court, because on the date set in the citation he had a case for a client in court here and did not want to have to go to Van Nuys. He expected to have to pay a fine, he said, and did not seek to have the case "fixed." He gave the tag to Judge Valentine, he added, and has never heard anything more about it.

Judge Valentine, of the tribunal having jurisdiction over misdemeanors of this class, is a candidate for the Superior Court bench at next Tuesday's election. He is running against Superior Judge Hugh Crawford for Office No. 8.

HECKLING OF FOES DENIED AT BUREAU

Taxpayers' Accusations of Rowdyism Bring Reply by Power Press Agent

Complaint of an official of another organization that Power Bureau employees disturbed meetings which the organization called to discuss the proposed power bonds was met with a denial at the Bureau of Power and Light yesterday.

A. E. Nelson, president of the Eagle Rock Taxpayers' Protective League, said that a group of men disturbed meetings of the league held at the Aragon school and later at the Fletcher Drive school. Their conduct was described as being offensive, insulting and threatening, and at the latter school they refused to leave the building when requested to do so, he said.

Thomas Ford of the publicity department of the Water and Power Department, when asked about the matter said that he attended the meetings with a group of employees from the Power Bureau but entered a general denial to charges made by Nelson. Ford said that at the latter place when Nelson left the chair after closing the meeting, someone asked that the chair be occupied again and that he, Ford, took the chair and conducted the meeting. A vote was taken, he said, and it was unanimous in favor of the bonds.

He and James Moran, director of the bureau employees' campaign for the power bonds, said that it is their practice to attend all open meetings where the power bonds are being discussed and to participate in the discussions. They denied the speakers opposed to the bonds have been abused or coerced.

Tuesday, the Board of Water and Power Commissioners ordered an investigation into charges from an official of the Greater San Pedro Taxpayers' Association, that meetings of his association were disrupted by Power Bureau employees who attended and prevented arguments being presented by speakers opposed to the bonds.

BANDIT CASHES 'DEMAND' NOTE

Collects $3750 in Call on Bank Manager

"Business" Transacted With Aid of "Bombs"

Asks for Rubber Band and Saunters Away

A middle-aged man who wore no hat but was neatly dressed in a dark suit called at the Bank of America, Sixth and Main streets, yesterday, declaring he desired to negotiate a loan. He was told to return a little later and discuss the matter with E. A. Winstanley, the manager.

The man did return. Invited to take a seat inside the railing in front of the bank, he repeated his mission to Mr. Winstanley and then slid a note across the desk toward the bank official.

DEMAND FOR $3750

This was a written demand for $3750. The note directed the manager to make out a formal draft for the amount, cash it at the nearest teller's window and give his caller the money.

"I have bombs planted in the bank, and the bank will be blown up, with everybody in it, if you fail to do as you are told," the note concluded in effect.

GOT RUBBER BAND

Mr. Winstanley decided it wise to comply without raising an alarm of any sort. He made out the draft, cashed it, gave his caller the money, which the latter placed in an envelope which he obtained from Winstanley.

"Have you a rubber band?" the man asked, and Mr. Winstanley provided this also.

The note-bandit then rose, and walked out of the bank, apparently headed for the Pacific Electric passenger station nearby.

Mr. Winstanley notified Central Station and Detective Lieutenants Woolman and Malina were detailed to the case.

RALPH INCE ENGAGES IN CLUB BRAWL

Film Director and Oil Man Both Ousted After Fight With Guests and Waiters

Ralph Ince, motion-picture actor and director, and Oliver Price, oil man, as well as a number of waiters and club men, were recovering yesterday from injuries they received in a wild free-for-all fight that occurred Tuesday night at a social club atop a storage building at 3636 Beverly Boulevard. No arrests were made.

The brawl started when Ince objected when he was requested to leave the club because Rex Lease, actor, who had sponsored him, had departed, it being a rule of the club that guests must depart with those who invite them.

Ince declined to leave, although repeatedly asked, and with his refusal a fight started in which it took several members and waiters, with the aid of two policemen, to oust Ince and Price. The latter received treatment at the emergency hospital.

Chairs, bottles, plates and other articles of furniture were used in the fight before it was finally finished by the police.

Ince and Price went to the club with Lease, Henry Clive, internationally known artist, and three women whose names were not given. Neither Lease nor Clive participated in the fight.

FIRE DAMAGES HOUSE

Fire caused $5000 damage yesterday to the two-story frame rooming-house at 731 Venice Boulevard owned by Mrs. Al Ephriam and leased by Mrs. Alice Courtreau. The flames, which are believed to have resulted from defective electric wiring, were subdued after two hours work by firemen.

GRAVES'S FOES EXCORIATED

Candidate Defeated in Primary Scores Group Seeking Downfall of Supervisor

Declaring that public decency can be served only through the re-election of Sidney T. Graves as Supervisor from the Third District, John C. Monning yesterday issued a scathing arraignment of interests concentrating in a last-minute attempt to villify and discredit Graves.

Monning, for twenty-five years a resident of Los Angeles and vice-president of the Wiley B. Allen Company, was a candidate for the Supervisorial post during the primary election.

"It was my intention," said Monning, "to take no part in the general election either for or against Mr. Graves or his opponent. But so thoroughly have the despicable tactics adopted by Graves's opponents sickened me that I feel I would be remiss in my duty as a citizen were I to let pass unchallenged the malodorous charges voiced as the campaign nears the end.

SITUATION STUDIED

"I became a candidate for Supervisor because I felt that I could be of real service to the people of my district. Once entering the race I made it my business to investigate thoroughly every phase of government. People more interested in the defeat of Mr. Graves than in the election of any particular opposing candidate came to me with the charges now being broadcast by a small Los Angeles newspaper and a Los Angeles minister.

"I inquired into those charges and I have found them to be without foundation. The part played by Mr. Graves in the San Gabriel dam matter was one for which he deserves commendation and not condemnation. Mr. Graves opposed the building of the dam, declared the site unsafe and refused to authorize the project until directed to do so by court order. It was Mr. Graves who forced abandonment of the work before additional county funds were expended."

Monning asserted that the charges made against Graves in connection with the San Gabriel dam is typical of the unfounded criticism being made of the Supervisors.

CRITICS ASSAILED

"It will be a sad commentary upon the good name of Los Angeles if the voters of the Third Supervisorial District sacrifice integrity, efficiency and economy in office by heeding the carping critics who deliberately seek to blacken the name of an honest official in an effort to achieve political ambition."

Monning's statement concluded with a request that every person who supported him during the primary campaign work for the re-election of Graves.

Champion Wins Two Out of Three Falls at Olympic

Gladiators Knocked Out by Head-on Collision

Recovers in Time to Get Winning Hold on Foe

BY PAUL LOWRY

There have been spectacular finales to other mat battles in this city, but none that quite equals the red-hot ending between Dynamite Gus Sonnenberg and Don George at the Olympic last night.

Sonnenberg, the champion, was returned the victor when he and George cracked skulls as both launched flying tackles at the same time.

Sonnenberg came out of it in a mild stupor. George didn't. While Gus regained enough of his faculties to fall dizzily over his prostrate form.

Unconscious, George was carried from the ring and removed to the Georgia-street Hospital, where it was said he was suffering from a slight fracture of a vertebra.

Gladiators had a fall apiece before the head-crashing episode occurred.

SONNENBERG PUNISHES CHAMPION

George appeared well on the road to victory at the time. He had been punishing Sonnenberg badly, and had almost knocked him outside the ring with flying tackles.

Sonnenberg crawled back into the ring just inside the twenty-second limit the last time he reeled to the mat, set for his famous flying tackle.

George did likewise and from a distance not more than twelve feet apart they left their feet at the same time and went flying through the air.

Their heads met with an ominous crack and both fell over backwards. George was still as a pine plank. Sonnenberg moved slightly. Bob McDonald began counting over George as he was a fight referee and had been a knockdown.

After fifteen seconds or so Sonnenberg gained a sitting posture, regaining his bearings, fell over

Cardinals to Change Frosh Grid Program

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Oct. 29. (Exclusive)—Because the Stanford freshman football schedule is considered to have been too arduous in the past, the faculty committee today announced that in the future the freshman team will be limited to games against other freshman teams of the Pacific Coast Conference, junior colleges and high schools.

As against this year's schedule it means that games cannot be arranged with St. Mary's and Santa Clara as in the past.

CARD TEAM GETS HERE TOMORROW

Stanford Football Squad Plays Bruins in Night Clash at Coliseum

BY FRANK ROCHE

There will be no preview of the U.C.L.A. Bruins tonight at the Coliseum. Bill Spaulding originally intended to work his team under the lights in a last-minute drill for the humbled Stanford Reds, whom they face tomorrow night in a Coast Conference game, but the Bruin coach believes his varsity team needs the practice against his all-Americans at Westwood more than they do the Coliseum drill.

BILL SPAULDING

Spaulding is not pessimistic about the outcome of the game, but on the other hand he is anything but optimistic. That sounds like one of those things where the answer is yes and no, but the truth of the matter is this:

The Bruin coach believes he has a chance with Stanford, but he hates to admit it for publication. Big Bill is confident of one thing, and that is the Bruins will give the Cardinals a wow of a fight tomorrow night.

For the first time in the history

TROJANS TEST NEW DEFENSES

Jones Starts Preparations for Bear Contest

First and Second Squads Take Workouts

Coach May See California in Grizzly Game

The Trojan-California game in the Coliseum, scheduled for November 8, is a complete sell-out, Graduate Manager Arnold Eddy, at S.C., announced yesterday. Approximately 82,000 fans will witness the contest. Eddy also announced that tickets for the Trojan-Washington game on Thanksgiving will go on sale Monday morning at the two Dyas stores, and at the Trojan Student Store. Applications are being received for the Notre Dame game, December 6. More than 40,000 tickets already have been sold.

BY RALPH HUSTON

Howard Jones yesterday began rebuilding the Trojan wall in preparation for the California game here November 8.

HOWARD JONES

The Trojan head man sent his first two teams through a vigorous dummy scrimmage against California plays, as depicted by Chief Scout Clif Herd, while the third eleven went through a real scrimmage against the same opposition.

It is generally agreed that the reason Jones has beaten Stanford for the past three years, is his knowledge of the Cardinal system, and his days of defensive preparations against the Stanford attack. Jones is preparing for California with an equal amount of care. While not peering at Stanford's reverses, Herd and his aides have been watching the Bears in action, and he has spent the last three days in drilling his Spartans in the Bear formations.

Jones is expected to journey to Berkeley Saturday to see California in action against Montana, while Bill Hunter will pilot the local hopefuls against Denver. Jones won't see much in the north, because Price probably won't have to use his regulars any more than Hunter will, but the Trojan head man can get his own personal idea of what the Bears are doing with the Notre Dame shift.

SAME LINE-UP

There were no changes in the line-up of the first two squads. Arbelbide and Wilcox were at ends, Hall and Smith tackles, Shaw and Baker, guards; Williamson, center; Duffield, quarter; Pinckert and Apsit, halfbacks and Musick, fullback.

Most of the Trojans remember rather grimly that 15-7 defeat at the hands of the Bears last year and there isn't a bit of overconfidence evident as they prepare for Price's team. The Cardinal and Gold athletes have never beaten both Stanford and California in a single season and they're determined to turn the trick this year.

The hard work that Jones has been giving his third string seems to indicate that his regulars won't see much action against Denver in the Coliseum Saturday. The boys may get in for a few moments to limber up, but for the most part they'll decorate the side lines while the rest of the squad runs up the touchdowns against the Pioneers.

Jeff Cravath's outfit apparently isn't as good as the one he had last year and he has a number of cripples on his squad, which won't help them against the Trojans.

Aubrey Devine's unbeaten Trojan frosh team will depart on the Padre tomorrow night to meet the Stanford infants in the Cardinal Bowl on Saturday. The Trojans already have beaten California, 27 to 0, and need only to beat the Cards to repeat their "little three" championship, won last year.

FORDHAM DEFIES ROCKNE'S IRISH

However, Knute Doesn't Like Post-Season Idea

SOUTH BEND (Ind.) Oct. 29. (AP)—Official attendance figures disclosed today 164,000 persons have watched Notre Dame in its first four games of the 1930 football season.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29. (AP)—The Daily News says Maj. Frank Cavanaugh, football coach at Fordham College, has issued a challenge to Notre Dame to play a post-season game, providing both teams win all their remaining games.

KNUTE ROCKNE

Rockne may or may not have the best attack in the country, he said, "but I feel sure I have the best defense plus a pretty fair attack and if Notre Dame wants to claim any title they'll have to beat us first."

ROCKNE DOESN'T CARE FOR POST-SEASON TILT

SOUTH BEND (Ind.) Oct. 29. (AP) Notre Dame will not play a post-season football game this fall with Fordham or any other eleven, Coach Knute Rockne said today, when informed Fordham planned to issue such a challenge if both teams finished their current campaigns undefeated.

"Notre Dame is not concerned with so-called national football championships," Rockne said. "We play a full schedule of games and let the matter rest at that. This fall we have ten games and the schedule and that is plenty.

"Anyway, we may be beaten yet. We haven't played Southern California, Northwestern and the Army yet and from what I hear, they are plenty tough."

THAT Football Coach Dick Hanley is doing well at Northwestern University is an established fact. Ever since the popular young mentor left Haskell Institute to succeed Glenn Thistlethwaite at Evanston, the Purple teams have played heads-up football and have won more than their share of games. Hanley has had plenty of injuries to trouble him, too, but the way his newly vaccinated lads went out and slaughtered Illinois on the latter's own field was a surprise to every one who follows football.

"Hard Luck Hank" Bruder was supposed to be the Wildcats' ace, but with Hank in the "Pesthouse" with smallpox, and a couple of other regulars missing, Northwestern managed to win, 22 to 0! It is said that the patient, Bruder, gave his sore-armed teammates a pep talk on the phone before the game. At any rate, they proved themselves to be a wow of a team, and one that will give Notre Dame a tough battle when the two elevens meet at Evanston on November 22. But, in the meantime, the Wildcats must first take care of Minnesota, Indiana and Wisconsin.

On the 18th inst. at Champaign, Ill., a gent named Ernest (Pug) Rentner, a sophomore fullback, gave Zuppke and his merry men a shock by catching an Illini kickoff on his 2-yard line and prancing Grange-like to a touchdown, ninety-eight yards away. Another Northwestern hero was Frank Baker, veteran end, who scored three times on Illinois, twice after catching Rentner's passes and once after intercepting a rival heave. Rentner is a very clever passer, and Baker quite adept at clutching the pigskin out of the air, so with Hanley planning the overhead game Northwestern is something to watch in action. Hanley's young brother plays quarterback for the Wildcats. When Bruder gets back ihto action they'll be even deadlier. Regular Purple devils, wait and see!

CHICAGO, Oct. 29. (AP)—Long-awaited developments and changes in the Cub baseball family are expected to start tomorrow when Manager Rogers Hornsby returns to establish his winter headquarters.

ROGERS HORNSBY

Since elevation to managership, Hornsby has refused to affirm or deny rumors of wholesale changes in the team's personnel, but from tomorrow on, announcements of changes are expected to be numerous, if not shocking, to the baseball world.

The status of Capt. Charlie Grimm, regular Cub first baseman for the past six seasons, is one of the big question marks in the minds of Cub fans. Rumor has it that Grimm is to be traded or sold and that Jim Bottomley of the St. Louis Cardinals will succeed him.

Another report involves Leo (Gabby) Hartnett, the big Cub catcher. It is known Hornsby thinks well of the ability of Al Spohrer, backstop for the Boston Braves, and wants him to become a Cub, especially with a lot of new pitching talent coming to the Cubs next spring. However, it is improbable Hartnett will be traded in such a deal.

Definite announcement of the purchase of Pitcher Ed Baecht from the Cub farm at Los Angeles of the Pacific Coast League is expected soon. Former Manager Joe McCarthy attempted to obtain Baecht from the Angels last spring, but the Angels had a brisk pennant fight of their own at home, and Owner William Wrigley of the Cubs refused to listen to the plan.

Minor Loops Plan Confab With Majors

CHICAGO, Oct. 29. (AP)—The American Baseball Association today asked the minor leagues to appoint a committee to meet with it for a final conference on the draft controversy with the major leagues.

Representatives of the American Association met to consider the ultimatum of the major leagues that unless the minors submit to the draft rule by December 1, relations between the circuits would be severed.

The invitation sent out by the American Association suggested the meeting be held in Chicago or some other centrally located city within the next few weeks in an effort to arrive at an agreement with the majors.

ATHLETES ELIGIBLE AT KANSAS

Jayhawker Athletic Board Refuses to Banish Pigskin Star Under Cloud

LAWRENCE (Kan.) Oct. 29. (AP)—The University of Kansas replied to Big Six Conference charges of subsidization and recruiting of athletes today by declaring all its football squad eligible, including James A. (Jarring Jim) Bausch, whose amateur status has been specifically questioned because of his $75-a-month job as insurance salesman.

In a statement following a two-and-one-half-hour session the university athletic board said: "With the evidence as collected and presented today, this board feels that it is not justified in declaring any member of the present football squad ineligible."

Twenty-eight varsity players, including Bausch, were named

BIG LEAGUERS THUMP GIANTS

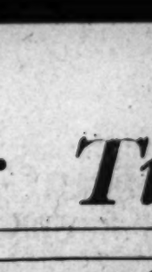
Fitzsimmons and Grove Hurl Five-Hit Baseball

Altrock and Schacht Amuse Fans With Comedy

Day and Night Tilts Carded on Today's Schedule

BY BOB RAY

These major league All-Stars of Lefty Grove certain do put on an exhibition. They amused and thrilled a gathering of exactly 10,129 curious baseball enthusiasts out at Wrigley Field yesterday when they defeated the Royal Giants, the colored entry in the local Winter League, 6 to 3.



FRED FITZSIMMONS

Fred Fitzsimmons, the ace of John McGraw's New York Giants, and the famous Lefty Grove hurled for the All-Stars and let the losers down with five hits. Fitzsimmons, who has a small sort of a ranch down at Arcadia, where he spends the winter months, hurled the first eight innings for the All-Stars, but Grove, answering the pleas of the multitude, took the mound in the ninth and showed the natives his famous fireball and how! Lefty breezes 'em over the platter like nobody's business and two of the three batters who faced him went down swinging at something they knew was in the vicinity, but they didn't know where. After watching the tall, skinny Athletic southpaw wheel baseballs over the plate faster than scandal travels in a small town it's not hard to realize why Robert Moses made monkeys of the National League's batters in the past two world's series.

After all is said and done, though, about the best part of yesterday's exhibition was the fifteen-minute comedy act and all-afternoon clowning of Nick Altrock and Al Schacht, who draw their summer pay from the Washington club because they make the United States Senators appear serious. Altrock and Schacht put on their famous fight and umpire-and-batter acts yesterday and they're worth the price of admission alone. If you've never seen Nick and Al in action, for

Important Eastern Elevens to Entertain Powerful Gridiron Rivals This Week-end

KANSAS AND PENNSYLVANIA TANGLE IN LEADING GAME

Pittsburgh, Nebraska Hook Up in Annual Contest; Dartmouth and Yale in Yearly Tilt

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 29. (AP)—A small but select group of newcomers will be introduced to eastern football this week in some of the leading intersectional battles which will vie with all-eastern games that date back into the eighties.

Kansas makes its debut against Penn. North Dakota University makes its bow at West Point against Army. Mississippi College comes north to play Colgate. Kansas is the only one of this trio which is expected to put up a battle against the East. The Jayhawks are leading their conference, the Big Six, and have prepared for the Penn game by giving "Jarring Jim" Moscrip, their star back and bond salesman, a rest over last week-end.

North Dakota, although undefeated this season, is not rated quite in the same class with the powerful Cadet eleven while Mississippi College is one of the lesser schools of the southern section.

In contrast to these newcomers are the games between Yale and Dartmouth, which have been going on since 1884, when they were far less evenly matched than this season, the Cornell-Columbia series, which goes back to 1869 and a few rivalries among the lesser colleges which have almost as much football history behind them. Brown and Syracuse, preparing for their twelfth meeting, come in between, having started in 1909.

CLASSY GAMES

Princeton and Chicago made a lot of gridiron history in one game back in 1923, when the Tigers won a sensational 21-18 victory and they seem evenly matched in their weakness this year. Pittsburgh and Nebraska have a few fine battles behind them and Boston College and Marquette are ready to make a real fight of it again. Carnegie Tech and New York University resume their close rivalry where it was left off last year.

Penn State once took on Bucknell as a "brother" but those days are gone as the Bisons have won for the last three years and expect to do it again. Harvard, however, expects little trouble in its annual game with William and Mary and Navy has a similar prospect against West Virginia Wesleyan. La. Fayette should have an easy time with Upsala.

Some close games are in prospect among the lesser schools of the eastern gridiron world, many of them being intersectional clashes. Villanova tackles the strong Blue Devils of Duke, Temple plays Wake Forest and Davis and Elkins entertains Oklahoma City. George Washington travels west to play Texas.

Rutgers can always provide stiff opposition or more for Holy Cross and Muhlenberg usually does the same for Lehigh. The Wesleyan-Trinity game is backed by forty-five years of hard-fighting tradition and the Amherst-Massachusetts Aggies rivalry is another good one.

MAROONS READY FOR PRINCETON

BY PAUL MICKELSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO, Oct. 29. (AP)—Football activity is far from dead in the Roper camp of Amos Alonzo Stagg.

Thirty thousand reservations already have been made for the Chicago-Princeton game Saturday and Coach Stagg has his somewhat weary Chicago team all steamed up for a typical Staggian comeback.

Although minus an important victory in the 1930 campaign, the Maroons are expected to give the Tiger an interesting afternoon. With the exception of his age, Capt. Van Nice, Coach Stagg has an intact first string line-up for the first time this fall, and is out to make it three out of four in the intersectional series with Coach Bill Roper's men.

With return to duty of Capt. Hank Bruder, Northwestern has jumped to the status of an overwhelming favorite over Minnesota in the standout game of the Big Ten championship fight. Minnesota meanwhile plodded along, hoping to upset the Wildcats and remain in the title race itself. Seeking to ignite the lacking offensive spark in his machine, Coach Fritz Crisler drilled his men on attack.

Purdue, still a mathematical contender for the title, despite its one-point defeat by Michigan, expects to meet Illinois with a full line-up Saturday. Alex Yunevich, the Boilermakers' crashing fullback, will be back, and so will the rest of the regulars.

Forward passes continued to harass the Illini. The freshmen, equipped with Purdue forward pass plays, baffled Coach Bob Zuppke's first-string team in last night's practice as "Sup," predicted a lop-sided victory for the Boilermakers.

Ohio State may be a tougher foe than Wisconsin anticipated Saturday.

All was sad and dreary at Indiana, where Pat Page's Hoosiers were trying to get warmed up for the Notre Dame game.

REDS, BLUES CHANGE LINE-UPS FOR CONTEST

The Reds and the Blues, with new faces in both line-ups, will again clash on the Uplifters' polo field on Beverly Boulevard next Sunday afternoon. Hal Roach and Clair Brunson, two of the mainstays of polo at the local club, have returned to the city and will appear on opposite sides in the ensuing game. The Rogers family will again be divided for the day. Will going in at back for the Reds, while Will, Jr., rides at No. 2 for the Blues.

Jack Holt and Hugh Blue will umpire the contest, which is open to the public and which starts at 2:30.

Line-ups:

Reds.		Blues.
T. Lovell Puckett	No. 1	Winslow Felix
Capt. Crawford	No. 2	Will Rogers, Jr.
Hal Roach	No. 3	Clair Brunson
Will Rogers	Back	John Brandel

KEPPEN MAILS BOXING BLANKS

Entry blanks for the amateur boxing show, to be held at the Olympic November 19-20, were mailed out yesterday by Charles Keppen of the Los Angeles Athletic Club. Keppen mailed blanks to all organizations of this district, who are sponsoring the sport, and more than 100 entrants are expected to compete. The first tournament will be a huge pre-Olympic Games event and all amateur boxing events for the next two years will lead up to 1932.

The SPORT LIGHT by Grantland Rice

(Copyright, 1930, by North American Newspaper Alliance)

The Under Player

"I hear so much about certain stars that I'd like to speak a word for some of those who deserve more praise than they have gotten," writes candid cynic. "By far the best halfback I have seen this season is Hart of Colgate. He is a triple-threat star. Viviano of Cornell, former Andover captain, is another who ranks high. Andreas, the Dartmouth center, is one of the best football has known in some time. Macaluso of Colgate is the best line breaker I have seen. You might watch Colgate from now on."

Then there is Johnny Sisk of Marquette, who plays against Boston College on Saturday. Weighing 180 pounds, he is one of the fastest backs in the country. Marquette, unbeaten to date, will find Boston College and Detroit two opponents strong enough to test any team or any star.

The Minnesota Stand

Fritz Crisler, the new athletic director at Minnesota, also head coach of the football team, has one of his hardest hurdles ahead on Saturday when Minnesota faces Northwestern, one of the best teams in football. Minnesota made a great stand against Stanford, but the material is hardly strong enough to stand off Northwestern's smashing attack unless the Gophers can put on another half miracle.

Northwestern has a powerful line and the best backfield in the conference. Michigan, the other leading conference contender, has no western activities for over two weeks as the Wolverines rest Saturday and come to Harvard a week away.

Which brings up the fact that Benny Friedman of Michigan and the New York Giants, probably the greatest of all forward passers, has high praise for young Newman, the Michigan sophomore. Friedman, who knows the correct form of passing backward and forward and all other known directions, instructed young Newman in the correct details and so far Newman has forward passed Michigan into three victories. Harvard can mull this over, with Barry Wood on hand in the form of rebuttal.

Von Elm's New Plan

In reply to several inquiries regarding George Von Elm's first stand as a cash prize collector in the Salt Lake City open, the facts happen to be that the ex-amateur finished in a tie for third place with Craig Wood where each collected $500. This at least will pay most of his traveling expenses for other winter tournaments as Von Elm lives in Los Angeles and the range will not be far. Von Elm and Wood finished seven strokes back of Harry Cooper's 283, with Olin Dutra in between.

Being one of the best of the medal players Von Elm's cash prizes this winter should run into several thousands of dollars, although the going will be rougher when the pro army is recruited to full winter strength. When that happens the going is tough for them all, one of the toughest competitions in sport.

Tackling the Hoodoo

There is one central thought that now comes out of Hanover—Dartmouth has never beaten Yale.

Dartmouth beat a very strong Harvard team with Mays and Devens around, but few games played upon wet fields in the rain can be used to any decided advantage in figuring the dope. A lot will depend upon the weather in New Haven on Saturday.

If the field is fairly fast this will be Yale's hardest Dartmouth engagement, for it is evident now that nothing short of a strong, alert team is going to upset the Green Applecart this week. Yale will not only need Booth, but will need him near his best. Few teams in the country have the strength Dartmouth has around center with Andreas, Bromberg and Hoffman. Here are three of the best at a vital spot.

Schmeling's Status

Madison Square Garden expects to match Schmeling against Stribling or Sharkey in June. At least one other well-known promoter has the same idea. Now Jack Kearns says he has Schmeling well on his way toward meeting Mickey Walker in Chicago for the title.

Everyone seems to be busy matching the German—except Schmeling, who has remained remarkably quiet for a heavyweight champion. There seems to be nothing to do except suffer and wait, through an abnormal exercise of will power.

In Pennsylvania

If Pennsylvania has a good, lusty rally in her system, the Red and Blue has its chance to prove the same against Kansas on Saturday at Franklin Field. Especially if Jim Bausch, the halfback star under Big Six charges, happens to play. Even if Bausch doesn't happen to play this Kansas team has no resemblance to the miniature or the pee-wee fad now in vogue.

On the Lexington Front

The home of the thoroughbred resounds to the clatter and thudding of football feet this week when Alabama and Kentucky, two of the best in the South, bring about another important elimination. The four best teams in the southern whirl now seem to be Georgia, Alabama, Tulane and Kentucky. The Georgia-Tulane carnival later on may be even more important.

If Alabama can beat Kentucky, which is no certainty, and Georgia can beat Tulane, another rasping assignment, then the Georgia-Alabama game of Thanksgiving Day should decide the ultimate resting place of the southern crown.

Alabama's big job Saturday will be suppressing Shipwreck Kelly, one of the season's finest backs. Kentucky's main task will be curbing the charging power of a big, aggressive line with two exceptional tackles in action. Our scouts report that Shipwreck Kelly will compare with any back you name from U.S.C. on through Notre Dame to Harvard. The Alabama defense will be a fine chance to prove his case.

MAT KING COPS GEORGE SOIREE

on George, who had not moved since the accident.

FIRST AID ON JOB

The referee pushed him off and then the first-aid crew rushed into the ring to succor George.

The match was a vicious battle all the way, Sonnenberg drawing a barrage of boos and jeers whenever he crawled for the ropes or gave George a crack in the face with his arm or open palm.

On the other hand, George got a salvo of applause when he retaliated in kind.

Sonnenberg won the first fall in 45m. 26s. with a jack-knife scissors and double wristlock after permitting George to wear himself out.

George came back with a fast onslaught, and won the second fall in 30m. 1s. with Sonnenberg's own favorite weapon, the flying tackle.

HOUSE VIRTUALLY SELL-OUT

The house was a virtual sell-out, and the fans screeched themselves hoarse as George appeared on the road to victory and possession of Sonnenberg's crown.

In the semi-wind-up Jose Dominguez defeated Moose Norbeck in 14m. 44s. with an overhead slam.

The opener went to Henri De Glane over Otto Von Mohelachen in 5m. 54s. with a body slam.

TRACHOMA AFFLICTS COTTON PICKERS

PHOENIX, Oct. 29. (AP)—Dr. C. W. Brown, Maricopa county health officer, reported tonight following examination of a trainload of cotton pickers who arrived today in the Salt River Valley from Los Angeles that he found several children of the party suffering from trachoma. He said he will confer with County Attorney George T. Wilson tomorrow as to possible quarantine measures.

CECIL PAYNE WHIPS GUERRERO IN RING GO

Cecil Payne took a ten-round decision over Joe Guerrero last night at the Wilmington Bowl. It was a good close fight all the way. Mike Stankovitch and Dan Demargo battled to a draw in the six-round semi-wind-up. Thor Olsen whipped Arthur Lopez in the six-round special event. Marian Mack knocked out Johnny Karvos in the third round. Johnny O'Brien stopped Johnny Willis in the third round of the curtain raiser.

BLACK-FOXE WINS

Coach Cunningham's Black-Foxe Cadets took an 18-0 decision over St. Agnes High in a practice game yesterday. Pendergrass, Lutes and Whitmeyer scored the Cadets' touchdowns.

DETROIT WANTS MICHIGAN GAME

game be played for the benefit of unemployed persons in Detroit.

The Governor said if rules were permitted to stand in the way of the proposed game it will be unfortunate for the unemployed, the sport, and the two institutions.

With reference to the Notre Dame-Northwestern ruling Gov. Green elaborated on his formal statement to remark that he did not mean to infer that Michigan authorities had exerted pressure to bring about the ruling. "But if this ruling is permitted to stand, Michigan as a member of the Western Conference will suffer," he said.

The Governor's written statement follows:

"Early reports are not encouraging towards the consummation of a football game between the University of Michigan and the University of Detroit for the benefit of the unemployed.

"If rules that were not made in contemplation of present conditions are permitted to stand in the way of this game, it is most unfortunate for the unemployed, for the sport and the two educational institutions.

"With a capacity of 80,000 people and a price of $2 per ticket, there would be an immense sum of money available for those in dire need. The price would enable a vast amount of people to express their sympathy for those who have been caught in this unprecedented business depression.

"The memory of having taken part in this memorable contest will be one of the finest every athlete and every person who has a part in it will cherish through life. To deny these young men this opportunity to be of such a tremendous service in supplying this vast sum to the unfortunate would be a calamity.

"There is such an appalling need at this time that no rule which has merely for its object the controlling of a sport should be allowed to stand in the way for a moment. I cannot believe those in authority in the conference will permit their views to become so narrow they will center them merely on what they deem the orderly conduct of a great sport to the detriment of the people of Michigan. No amount of explaining will ever get the University of Michigan back to the high pedestal it now occupies if they fail at this hour.

"The conference body will in all probability be annoyed from year to year by applications of other institutions wishing to abrogate for one reason or another their very reasonable rule. No one can justify a refusal on those grounds."

CHANCES SLIM FOR POST-SEASON GAME

CHICAGO, Oct. 29. (AP)—Possibilities for any post-season football games, involving Big Ten teams, are slim.

One of the most inflexible of Big Ten rules prohibits such games and a majority of Big Ten schools would have to favor exceptions before granted.

WAGNER INJURED IN MALCEWICZ MAT GO

CHICAGO, Oct. 29. (AP)—Jack Wagner, Providence (R. I.) heavyweight wrestler, was seriously injured tonight in the feature match of a show at the Coliseum. Wrestling Joe Malcewicz of Utica, N. Y., he was thrown to the mat, suffering a fractured rib which punctured his liver. He regained his feet and obtained a fall a few seconds later, but was unable to appear for the second fall and the match was forfeited to Malcewicz.

LOYOLA FACES OLYMPIC CLUB

Noted Stars Come South for Wrigley Field Game

The colorful Olympic Club football team, recently victorious over the University of California, will make its second appearance in Los Angeles on Saturday night when it takes on Loyola University at Wrigley Field.

The Winged-O eleven is fairly a firmament of ex-college gridiron stars. Louie Tesreau, the 215-pound beauty who used to make the hand play and the bells ring at Washington; Fred Schicttling of California, Tiny Sellman and Kasanjian, who starred at Stanford in the old days—pardon, the good old days—and Herman Epstein, a mountainous man who got his start at U.C.L.A., are the heroes of the Olympic Club.

Mr. Schicttling hasn't Tesreau's reputation, but is apparently the driving power of the Olympic backfield. He scored the winning touchdown in the club's 13-to-7 victory over California in a 70-yard jaunt.

It should be a colorful, exciting game, inasmuch as the Olympic Club will have the weight and great experience, while Loyola will be faster and probably equipped with a more tricky offensive.

The Olympic Club is admittedly a team of the first caliber. The victory over California would illustrate that. Even the 19-to-2 defeat at the hands of Santa Clara doesn't dim the Winged-O record. Santa Clara can beat lots of good teams by bigger scores than that.

Nevertheless, Coach Tom Lieb, the highly efficient Loyola mentor, says his team will go into the game with an even chance to win. He figures that Bud Brubaker will outkick the clubmen and that the Lion line, light as it is, will be able to stop the Olympic thrusts long enough to prevent much scoring.

Prexy Sproul Backs Bears' Grid Contests

BERKELEY, Oct. 29. (AP)—Dr. Robert Gordon Sproul, University of California president, wrote today in an alumni publication football would remain at the institution as long as he was president and would be played by "genuine students, not recruited or subsidized."

He asserted he would never consider elimination of football, no matter how efficient an educational program might be evolved.

Although football, he said, should be kept secondary to the main business of the university, the game is necessary for "college spirit and to serve as a magnet to draw old grads back to the campus.

"Professional athletes," he said, "leave me cold, no matter what uniform they wear."

SONS, SCOTS BATTLE IN SOCCER CLASSIC

Two arch rivals, the Sons of St. George and the Scots, cop the spotlight Sunday afternoon in the Southland's soccer picture. The Scots and the Sons will clash at 3 p.m. in the feature game on a double bill presented by the City League.

For many years the Scots and Sons have been battling each other and, like Yale and Harvard in American football, they would rather beat each other than any other team in the league. The opening game at Loyola brings the Los Angeles A.C. team and the Vikings together.

At Tournament Park, Pasadena, the Richfield Oilers match strides with the Hollywood Sheiks. In the 3 p.m. game at the Crown City field the Magyars collide with the Pasadena A. & C. C.

OLIN DUTRA TAKES LEAD IN GOLF PLAY

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29. (AP) Shooting a brilliant 69 on his second round today, Olin Dutra of the Brentwood Country Club, Los Angeles, took a 2 up lead on Willie Coggin of the Olympic Club, San Francisco, for the first half of their seventy-two-hole match for the 1930 State professional golf title. The next thirty-six holes will be played in Los Angeles next Wednesday.

This morning's round was played over the lake course. Dutra finishing one up. Each had 74s, three over par. Playing on the ocean course in the afternoon, the Brentwood pro cut two strokes off par, while Coggin had a 71.

WENDALL LONG WINS HALL SCRAP

Wendall Long won a close six-round decision over Rickey Hall in the main event at the Pico Bowl last night. In the semi-wind-up Benny Stimson knocked out Buckey O'Brien in the third round. Johnny Podd won a four-round decision over Geo. Mathews in the special event. In the other bouts Howard Fritz stopped Mickey Lewis in the initial round. Joe De Lara put away Trino Sumita in the second heat and Ishmial Ramos outpointed Paul Burke in the curtain-raiser.

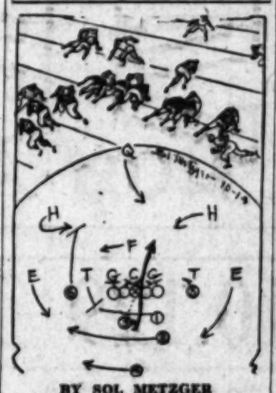
BIRKIE LOSES GO TO DYNAMITE JACKSON

OAKLAND, Oct. 29. (AP)—Dynamite Jackson, 205-pound Negro giant from Los Angeles, punched out a ten-round decision over Hans Birkie of Oakland, 190, at the Oakland Auditorium here tonight. Jackson won practically as he pleased, taking seven rounds and dealing out severe punishment to the Oaklander. Birkie had two rounds, while one was even.

GIBBS WHIPS ARTHURS

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 29. (AP)—Jackie Gibbs, St. Paul middleweight, outpointed Charley Arthurs, New York, in the main ten-round bout of a boxing card here tonight.

Bear Spinner Play Good One



BY SOL METZGER

A versatile attack is one of the main reasons for the success of California on the gridiron ever since Nibs Price took over the coaching reins there, following the death of Andy Smith.

Here's a deceptive California play that will bear watching. It's run from a punt formation. Snap is to No. 3, who spins halfway around and fakes giving it to back No. 2 for a run around his own left end, the other backs leading him. Note how the course of No. 1 screens No. 3 from the defense.

As the three other backs pass him as if on an end run, a movement planned to draw the defense wide, No. 3 spins back and pierces the line ahead. A splendid line buck play this spinner, for if the line opens the gain is likely to be an important one, due to the absence of defensive backs to stop the runner.

Reister, Papke Sign for Bill Next Tuesday

Bobby Reister and Billy Papke, Jr., young knockout prospects, were yesterday booked by the Olympic to box on the Claude Varner-Newsboy Brown rematch for next Tuesday.

Don Burchard, another puncher, will meet Reister in the semi-wind-up. Papke, will face Sig Ecklund, tall Nebraskan, who started out in Ace Hudkins's stable.

The addition of Reister and Papke to the Varner bill will give fans a chance to look over three of the most sensational youngsters now being developed.

Reister suffered setbacks at Pasadena and Hollywood in bouts with Ignacio Fernandez and Bobby La Salle, but seems to be none the worse for the experience. He has started his kayo campaign again by scoring another kr/ckout. He has a record of twelve knockouts in fifteen fights.

Varner has a string of twenty-one knockouts in thirty-five battles. Papke has won two-thirds of his professional starts by the kayo route.

Bud Taylor, who did his first boxing yesterday at the Manhattan gymnasium for his Maurice Holtzer scrap November 10, next, was impressed with young Varner.

Delos (Kid) Williams, veteran boxer, is working with Varner and sharpening up the boy's boxing. Varner doesn't hold back his punches in training. The Bakersfield boy and Williams put on an exhibition that is the first cousin to a real fight.

Brown, who is to sail for London in December for a match, may not try to weigh 118 pounds this time. He fights best at 114 pounds, and will meet the Bakersfield "terror" at natural weight this time, he says.

Earl Mastro left yesterday for a mountain camp to get into condition. The Olympic plans to use the popular Chicago featherweight with Taylor or possibly Vaner later on.

With the Young Corbett-Paulie Walker bout being moved up to the 19th on account of the postponed Sammy Jackson - Tommy Freeman bout, the club may use Ted Morgan with an outstanding eastern lightweight on the 23th.

RITTERHOUSE MEETS BABY SAL SATURDAY

The battle of the century, so far as "Little Mexico" is concerned, takes place Saturday night at the Main-street Athletic Club, when Baby Sal Sorio meets Herman Ritterhouse of San Diego in the feature bout. Two hundred tickets have been ordered by San Bernardino admirers of the Baby. It is his biggest fight since he lost to Tod Morgan in a contest for the 130-pound title at Wrigley Field.

Sal has been knocking them stiffer than boiled shirts at the Main-street club during the last several weeks. Two weeks ago he lost to Ritterhouse in a bristling six-round upset. "Little Mexico" was stunned. Saturday night Sal and Ritterhouse meet again, this time over the ten-round route.

KARISICK THROWS MILLER

PORTLAND (Or.) Oct. 29. (AP)—Al Karisick, 174, Portland wrestler, defeated Louie Miller, 176, San Francisco, two out of three falls here tonight. Karisick took the first fall in 35m. with a series of flying headlocks and the third fall in 12m. in the same manner. Miller won the second fall in 13m. with a body sciascis.

NATALIE BEATS CAMP

PEORIA (Ill.) Oct. 29. (AP)—Pasquale Natalie of Chicago, tonight defeated Marcel Camp, Detroit, 100 to 92, in the first block of their qualifying match for the national three-cushion billiard championship. Natalie gained his advantage in thirteen innings. Two blocks will be played tomorrow and Friday nights.

VARGAS IN SLASHING DRAW

RENO (Nev.) Oct. 29. (AP)—Joe Vargas, Fresno, and George Brazelton, Fresno, welterweights, battled to a slashing ten-round draw before a cheering crowd at the Reno Arena here tonight. Mickey Evans, Santa Rosa, was given a decision over Lem Salmons of Buffalo in the six-round semi-wind-up.

TIGERS READY FOR BULLDOGS

Oxy Closes Workouts for Redlands Rose Bowl Tilt

The Occidental College gridders will close their practice grind with a light workout this afternoon in preparation for the Oxy-Redlands fracas tomorrow night in the Pasadena Rose Bowl. Coach Eddie Kienholz has his aggregation primed to stage a comeback against the Bulldogs and get back into the Southern California Conference race. To date both teams have lost one conference game, Oxy losing to San Diego, and the Bulldogs lost a close one, 6-0, to Pomona last Friday, which might just as well have been the other way.

The Tigers spent most of yesterday's practice session in perfecting a defense against the Redlands strong aerial attack, which centers around the Bieden brothers. It was a similar passing game on the part of Arizona last Saturday that contributed largely to Oxy's downfall in Phoenix.

Occidental will be at full strength for the first time this season tomorrow night against Lee Trine's gridders. Jack Schurch, Johnny Reed and Warren Eppinette have recovered completely from their injuries. Johnny Waddell's broken hand is not well yet, but he will be in shape to play part of the game if necessary. The Redlands crew will likewise be able to turn full strength into the fray.

Coach Eddie Kienholz has not definitely decided on his starting line-up, but it will likely include Jimmy Meeks and Larry Green at ends, Jack Schurch and Dave Snedden, tackles; Warren Eppinette and Howdy Marsh, guards; Capt. Jerry Chappell at center, Stoney Johnston barking signals, Bill Meyers and Johnny Reed, halfbacks, and Dick Glover, fullback. Among the reserves, Martin Hansen and Bobby Freeman should see plenty of action in the line, and Art Elliott, Meb Schroeder, Bob Snyder and Al Hunt compose a good alternate ball-packing quartet.

NEWMAN PLANNING CHANGES IN LINE-UP

Coach Wallace Newman's Whittier first eleven may see several changes when the boys line up against San Diego State this Saturday night in the border city.

Ellison Bonner will probably take over Grunsky's duties at left end. Although he weighs but 135 pounds as compared to the latter's 195, Bonner put up a much better brand of football than did Grunsky against Santa Barbara and has shown up to greater advantage in recent workouts. Davidson presents the other possibility of a change, taking Dietrich's post at right tackle.

Approximately twenty-seven gridders, accompanied by the board of strategy, will make the trip to San Diego Saturday morning by rail to arrive there for the tilt carded for 8 p.m.

Although Coach Walter Herreid's Aztecs are conceded the victory, the Poets go south undaunted by the odds facing them. It seems to be an old custom at the Quaker institution to take one of the conference leaders for a ride each year. With that tradition in mind Whittier may upset the State apple-cart Saturday evening.

THE PEN BEST

NEWMARKET (Eng.) Oct. 29. (AP) The Pen, by Cygnus from Kilbroos, won the Cambridgeshire Stakes today. The Pen is owned by Mrs. Hartigan. Dowager Lady Nunburnholme's Racedale was second and J. A. Dewar's the Recorder third. Thirty-one ran.

Al Schacht on Legion Program

Al Schacht, one of baseball's best known figures, will be present tomorrow night at the Hollywood American Legion Stadium, where Speedy Dado and T. N. T. Reiser box ten rounds in the feature event on the weekly fistic program. Schacht and Nick Altrock have given baseball fans more laughs than any two other individuals, which has promised to put on his act tomorrow for Legion fans.

Nick Altrock may also be present if he does not leave for the East. The two ball-playing comedians are here with a harnessing troupe of major league stars.

Dado is making his first start since he injured his shoulder in a clash with Midget Wolgast. The tiny Brown-skinned boy is one of the most popular boxers ever to perform at the Legion Stadium. He is also good for an interesting scrap if his trick shoulder holds out.

Robleto made most of his reputation in outlying clubs. He is a little puncher who keeps right away in a busy fashion and is very likely to give Dado a tough if especially if the Filipino is hitting on all cylinders.

Joe Galvis and Benny Peltz top the semi-wind-up over the six round route.

"Moxie" Signs for Film Jo[illegible]

BERLIN, Oct. 29. (Exclusive)—After conferring at length with his manager, Joe Jacobs, who arrived at Hamburg last night, Max Schmeling signed a contract with a Hollywood film company which Jacobs brought with him, and which, according to the latter, will add another $250,000 to Max's bank account.

The world champion said today that he is in full accord with his manager's refusal to sign a contract with the Madison Square Garden Company for two more fights. Firstly, Max feels that he is pressed into the first contest in June and secondly, he argues the fact that the milk fund has his way and out of training to fight for nobody else. According to Jacobs the Garden company wanted him to sign a contract which would eliminate the milk fund.

MAPLE LEAFS, BRUINS IN FEATURE ICE TILT

First place in the senior ice hockey league will hang in the balance tonight at the Palais de Glace, when the Maple Leafs, led by the veteran Ralph Weaver, collide with the Los Angeles Bruins. The Leafs are tied with the Monarchs in the race for the title, and, regardless of the outcome of this evening's tilt, the standing is due for a change.

Man to man, the Bruins measure up as a fast team, according to local hockey experts, but so far they have exhibited little team work, the result being that they have been unable to win a game. Chief cog of the team tonight will be Weaver in the fast-passing attack of the Proulx brothers, Gene, Jack and Hector, a French-Canadian trio which proved formidable in Van Fleet uniforms last year.

Lincoln and Franklin Elevens Will Clash Tomorrow

TIGERS PICKED TO TAKE GAME

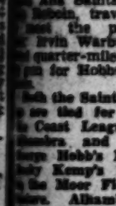
Toney Pointing Bengals for Panther Tilt

Ana, San Diego Clash in Star Coast Contest

Whittier, Hoover Battle Tops Foothill Program

BY IRVING ECKHOFF

If the Lincoln Tigers don't beat Franklin tomorrow afternoon in the game scheduled it won't be Jim. Tunney's fault. All week long Tunney has slaved and labored into the gloaming pointing the Tiger crew for the Panther tussle.



The reason is obvious. If Lincoln can get over Frank Hess's Panthers, the Tigers will not only maintain their perfect [illegible] in the league standings, but will have two weeks in which to get up for Fremont and L. A. High who come next on the schedule.

All of the rest of the teams in the City League are resting this week-end, with the exception of Hoover and Franklin. Next week the Tigers and the Panthers will take their rest and undoubtedly mix business with pleasure. The Tigers will play either L. A. High next week or Fremont play Jefferson, and the Franklin outfit will be the same.

Lincoln has Fremont and L. A. High left on its schedule after that, while Frank Hess's Panthers have Jefferson and Poly in store, as named.

This seems to be crucial week in Coast League. Tex Oliver's Santa Ana Saints led by Ambling Al Nikolin, travel to San Diego to meet the powerful Hilltop-per Irvin Warburton, the stocky little quarter-mile champion, is the pride for Hobby Adams's south-siders.

Both the Saints and San Diego are tied for first place in the Coast League, along with Long Beach. George Hobb's Moors take on Bobby Kemp's Wilson Bruins at the Moor Field in another game. Alhambra is the fa-vored. Two other games are listed, Glendale at Pasadena, with Russ Cripe's Dynamiters favored a slight edge, and Compton at Fullerton, with the latter favored.

Prep games are scheduled for the Big League, with the Redondo, Beach crew contest drawing most of the interest. Both the Seahawks and the Sentinels are tied for first place in the standings, and the winner will undoubtedly go on to take championship. Redondo is favored to win, although its "big gun," Bob Bethell, is reported to be on the sidelines with injuries sustained in the Santa Monica game last week.

Two other games are listed for the prep circuit. San Pedro at Venice, with the Pirates heavy favorites, and Santa Monica at Huntington Park, with the outcome a toss-up.

Prep league leaders clash in the Football League tomorrow as well as in the Coast loop and the Bay League. Wilson and Hoover, the two outstanding elevens in the two-year-old Foothill circuit, will collide on Hoover Field.

Whittier, with the best team in many years, is favored to win over Arrambede, who has starred in every game so far, is expected to be the shining light again tomorrow. Two other contests are scheduled with Burbank and Muir Tech fighting for third place, while South Pasadena and Monrovia will tangle for cellar honors.

In the Riverside County League, Banning eleven, which is tied on top of the loop standings, will take on Hemet in the only game. Banning is favored. Other games are listed, Coachella at San Jacinto and Perris at Riverside.

Here are the standings of the Orange County League:

	W.	L.	T.	Pct.

[illegible]	1	0	0	1.000

COVINA, CHAFFEY SET IN FEATURE

COVINA, Oct. 29.—The football championship of the Citrus Belt league is likely to be decided Friday afternoon at Covina when Coach Ted Gorrell's Covina Colts meet up with Coach Howard Mitchell's Chaffey Tigers in the feature league tussle for this week-end.

The Colts and the Tigers are the only undefeated teams in the circuit and it looks as though the winner of this tilt will top the heap at the close of the season. Here's a good comparison between the two teams: Redlands and Riverside played to a scoreless tie; Covina defeated Redlands, 20-0, while Chaffey defeated Riverside, 27-0, which clearly shows how even-matched the two teams are.

Covina has a heavy powerful line to go with a fast and tricky offensive built around Doug Fischer, fleet quarterback. Fischer is a triple threat, carrying the oval, passing and kicking with equal ability.

Norris Bigley, the Ontario outfit's one of the most exclusive open field runners in the loop and has also proven himself to be a clever field general.

Two other league games are carded for the afternoon. Redlands goes to San Bernardino on the Orangemen's field, while Riverside meets Pomona at Pomona. San Dimas and Archie Nesbit's team should win handily.

STANFORD'S SOUTHERN STARS

ON THE Stanford team which plays U.C.L.A. at the Coliseum tomorrow night you will see many familiar faces.

In fact had Stanford defeated the Trojans last Saturday the victory would have been more indicative of a sectional victory for the South than Troy's.

There were more boys who learned their football in Southern California in the Stanford starting line-up than sported the spangles of the Trojans.

Rothert, fullback, is from L. A. High. So is Phil Moffatt, running, kicking and safety star, who did not fail to shine against the Trojans. Harry Hillman, quarterback, is from Hollywood.

In the line Phil Neill, end, hails from Santa Monica. Pete Heiser, guard, is from Los Angeles. Capt. Ray Tandy, tackle, is from Long Beach.

Bill Simkins, passing star and most important substitute in the Stanford backfield, is from Manhattan Beach.

A similar situation prevailed in the days of the old "Wonder Teams" at Berkeley. They were largely composed of boys who gained their football knowledge south of the Tehachapi.

San Diego alone sent Muller, Deeds, Sprott, Majors and Englebretson to Berkeley.

THREE-TIMING THE BUGS

"COL." JACK DOYLE squinted at the small house when Benny Miller and Oscar Rankins, the red-haired black, fought at the Olympic the other night.

"This fight should have drawn better," he opined.

"Well, do you recall that Stanford played the Trojans a game of football at Palo Alto last Saturday?" he was asked. "And that Angelenos trekking north must have spent at the least a quarter-million dollars for the privilege in the shape of tickets, transportation and amusement."

The "colonel" guessed that was right, and admitted he was one of the guys who laid some on the line for amusement.

"But you don't have to buy tickets for the fight, do you? And the other guy does."

The "colonel" admitted he was licked, and then advanced the idea of three fi. fights coming up at his auditorium the next three weeks in a row.

First, there is the rematch between Claude Varner and Newsboy Brown. Varner is the rookie from Bakersfield who had Brown on the floor, and all but dragged down a decision.

Next in line is the old favorite, Bud Taylor, who comes here after more than a year's absence to face Maurice Holtzer, the Frenchman.

Then Paulie Walker, sensational New Yorker, who scored a 49s. knockout in his first bout at the Olympic, and is to meet the uncrowned king of the welters, Young Corbett.

And Tommy Freeman, the new welter king, is scheduled for a week later with Sammy Jackson if he recovers from the flu in time.

THE NOTRE DAME CLAMOR

THE clamor is on for those Notre Dame-Southern California football tickets.

The California game with the Trojans one week from Saturday will be a sellout.

But the colorful Irish with an unbeaten record that is likely to persist throughout the season will have every football bug in the State on the itch for a duecat.

And if the Trojans continue on to victory over California and Washington, their only remaining conference games, the strain will be terrific.

Lions, Pirates Clash Tonight

Some real fireworks in hockey circles are expected to go off in full force tonight at the Winter Garden Ice Palace, when the Gilmore Lions and Union Oil Pirates clash in the seventh game of the Southern California major hockey league.

Both clubs are in good shape for the first time this season, and the fastest game of the year is looked for by local hockey officials. Gilmore nosed the Union Oilers out of the championship last season by one point after a hectic race, and the Pirates have never forgotten that race. Tonight they stack up man for man with the 1929 champions and are prepared to hand them their second setback.

Union won over Gilmore in the opening game of the season by a score of 4-1. Manager Ted Le Roy of the Lions averred his men were not ready for the opener. Tonight he gets his chance to prove that statement.

The standings:

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Shell Oil Tigers	1	0	1.000
Union Oil Pirates	1	0	1.000
Gilmore Lions	0	1	.000
Sunkrest Bears	0	1	.000

BOOTH NOT HURT BY ARMY PILE-UP

WEST POINT (N. Y.) Oct. 29. (AP) Motion pictures of the Yale-Army game, shown here today, have just about put an end to the arguments as to what happened to Albie Booth. They also have served as a photographic rebuttal of the argument of some Yale supporters that other pictures had shown Army's touchdown was scored illegally. The pictures show Booth's head struck the ground hard enough to bounce visibly and apparently it was this jolt that forced him to lose his grip on the ball. The pile-up about which fans have complained came in the attempt to recover the fumble and Booth was not in the mass.

CAMPBELL, ZUNIGA TO CLASH TONIGHT

Six high-class bouts will feature tonight's show at the Pasadena Arena. For headliners Cliff Campbell, will meet Judy Zuniga. They are scheduled to step eight rounds at 120 pounds.

Lew Title and Ritchie Aguays are to meet in a four-round semifinal bout. Other four-round events on the program are Jack Leyva and Pete Cardenas, 130 pounds; Billie Moore and Steve Pollock, 155 pounds; Joe Regan vs. Kid Venerable, 165 pounds, and Harry Alton vs. Bob Maxwell, 142 pounds.

NET TOURNEY HALTED

PINEHURST (N. C.) Oct. 29. (AP) Play in the mid-south tennis tournament was called off today because of rain. Wilmer Hines, Columbia, S.C., national junior singles champion, and Ed Yeomans of Washington, national public parks doubles champion, will meet later in the week for the singles crown.

KANSAS BACKS STAR ATHLETES

to compete in the Pennsylvania game in Philadelphia Saturday. The squad entrained tonight. The board made no reference to the charges which formed the grounds on which the conference faculty council voted last week to schedule no more contests with Kansas after the expiration of present contracts, which would be at the close of the coming basketball season.

The faculty council did not declare Bausch ineligible. Rather it left to Kansas the responsibility for determining whether he should continue to play.

Kansas has contended Bausch's amateur status is unquestioned, as shown by several university investigations. Today's statement bears out previous declarations.

The Kansas board considered a forty-five-page typed report of an investigation made for the board by Walter Thiele, Lawrence attorney.

BOY AND GIRL TENNIS STARS MEET SATURDAY

With many promising juvenile stars enfered in the annual Los Angeles boy and girl tennis tournament, entries for the event will close and the draw will be held tonight by the Playground and Recreation Department, according to the announcement of D. W. Lott.

On Saturday the several hundred youthful net players entered in the event will start play in eight district preliminary tournaments at Griffith, Downey, Sawtelle, Banning, Evergreen, Manchester, Poinsettia, and North Hollywood playground courts. Five boys and five girls will qualify in each district for the final tourney at Griffith.

REDS PURCHASE TWO GIANT OUTFIELDERS

NEW YORK, Oct. 29. (AP)—The New York Giants announced today the outright sale of Walter Roettger and Raymond Fitzgerald, outfielders, to the Cincinnati Reds. The price was not announced.

Roettger, traded by the St. Louis Cardinals to the Giants for Eddie Farrell and George Fisher last April, batted .279 for John McGraw. Playing in 121 games, Roettger fielded well and banged out fifteen two-baggers, five triples and five homers.

Fitzgerald was farmed out to Bridgeport of the eastern league last season.

ENTRIES ANNOUNCED FOR CROSS-COUNTRY

NEW YORK, Oct. 29. (AP)—Twenty-two colleges, including one middle western institution, have entered a total of 265 athletes for the twenty-second annual varsity cross-country championship at Van Cortlandt Park here November 17, it was announced today. The Midwest will be represented by two runners from Michigan State, Clark Chamberlain, who finished fourth last year, and Donald Conrad.

TROJANS TEST NEW DEFENSES

and his Stanford Cardinals last Saturday has impressed Coach Clarence (Nibs) Price with the idea that his University of California football varsity faces a tough job on the afternoon of November 8, so tonight the Bears went through their practice behind barred gates.

It is usually during the week of the U.S.C. contest that the Californians take to secret practice for the first time, but Price figures it might be a good plan to get prepared with the tricky stuff ahead of schedule this year. It happens that Montana's Grizzlies, not altogether tame, will be guests at the Memorial Stadium this Saturday, but Price is not concerned there.

Washington and Washington State have both upset the Californians and Price has an idea that more upsets, particularly a rout such as the Stanford contest, would not do at all. Montana is at bat and U.S.C. is on deck, but Price is looking straight into the earnest eyes of the Trojan mentor, Howard Jones.

With Ed Kirwan and Ed Griffiths, the first choice quarterbacks, still on the shelf, Price today gave a tumble to Bill McCuteheon, Jim Sheridan and Sheldon Potter. The summons to call signals for the second varsity for the first time in his collegiate career was a shock to Sheridan that he did not quite recover all afternoon. Sheridan has been working as third-string quarterback for two seasons. He is just a bit too light and inexperienced to manage first-string assignments.

TWO ABSENT

Capt. Carl Handy and Ted Beckett, guards, are not yet in the best shape, so tonight Price gave Bob Pascoe and Don Handy a chance at these positions. It is doubtful whether many of the regulars will see action against Montana, particularly those who are still shaken up from the Washington and St. Mary's contests.

Clarence (Moose) Garrity, one of California's most popular gridsters, but not charged with too much dynamite during actual competition, continued tonight to show great stuff in practice. His line bucking is improving, a la Rusty Gill.

There is some hope for the Idaho boy before the season is out.

STANFORD TEAM DUE TOMORROW

of U.C.L.A. the players are imbued with the idea that they are not pushovers for the Cardinals. The convincing victory of the Trojans made the Bruins look at the matter in a different light.

Instead of going in to play defensive ball the Bruins will make a fight of it. Spaulding is a bit afraid that his lads may have a little too much confidence in their own ability to score and in that way cross themselves. For instance, he doesn't want them tossing passes all over the lot as they did in the Caltech game. The Cardinals only have to intercept one or two to put them on the way to a landslide.

The Bruins have played Stanford three times to date. As a Southern Conference team they lost to the Cardinals in 1925, 52 to 0. In 1928 they lost, 45 to 7, and in 1929 the score was 87 to 0. The last two games were Coast Conference affairs.

The Stanford squad of fifty-two men will arrive tomorrow morning on the Lark. They will stay at the Hotel Huntington at Pasadena. According to the word received here yesterday, the Cards will not work out at the Coliseum before the game. Neill, crack Card end, has a cracked rib but will be ready to play tomorrow. M. Albertson, substitute center, will not make the trip here. He has a bad knee. Pop Warner will have enough centers, however, to take care of things. The word was passed along from the farm that Taylor and Tandy have had knees and may not get in the game.

Spaulding intends to start Capt. Solomon at quarter; with Roberts and Decker at halves and Norm Duncan at fullback. There will be several changes in the Bruin line, Dick Mulhaupt will be out at end and either Les Stoefen, Chuck Smith or Les Haight will start in his place. Homer Oliver will start at center instead of Goodstein. There may be one or two other last-minute moves in the Bruin front wall before game time, too.

Ruben Thoe may get a shot at the fullback berth if his work in practice is any criterion. The Bruins will be outweighed in the line but they expect to hold up better than ever in the past against the Stanford reverses.

Steve Cunningham, general manager of the Bruin institution, estimates that a crowd of perhaps 40,000 will witness the game.

GERMAN AUTO RACER EXPECTED NEXT WEEK

Herman Schurch, German auto speed king, is expected to arrive in Los Angeles early next week and to enroll for the 100-lap fall classic at the Legion Ascot Speedway November 9, it was stated yesterday by A. C. Pillsbury, who received a wire from the driver.

Schurch is bringing his bride of a few weeks. The couple were married at the Langhorne (Pa.) Speedway recently, the ceremony taking place in front of the grand stand. After the wedding, Schurch went out and celebrated the occasion by driving his car to a new course record.

BLACK-FOXE, CUMNOCK MIX

Coach Cunningham's Black-Foxe pigskin gladiators will clash with the Cumnock School eleven on the former's athletic field tomorrow afternoon. Three of the Black-Foxites are still nursing injuries received in the game with the Spanish-American Institute.

All-Stars Win 6-to-3 Contest

gosh sakes come out and see them today or tomorrow and give yourself a flock of laughs.

TODAY AND TONIGHT

The All-Stars are billed for other exhibitions this afternoon and tonight and also tomorrow afternoon at Wrigley Field. Today they play Fred Haney's strong Kelley Kars, while tonight's game pits them against the Royal Giants once more. Rube Walberg will hurl today's tussle for the big leaguers while none other than Lefty Grove, himself, will appear on the mound in the afternoon clash. Personally, I don't envy those Giants going up there and swinging at Lefty's swift ones under the arc lights. Wes Kinglon's heavy-hitting Commercial Club aggregation tangles with the All-Stars in tomorrow's wind-up affair.

Although the Giants gave the big leaguers a pretty good scrap of it yesterday, they found the pitching of Fitzsimmons a bit too much for them. The giant right-hander, a big 200-pounder, has a peculiar delivery in which he turns his back on the plate and wheels and shoots a deceptive fast ball that is on the batter before he knows it. Fitzsimmons was scored on in the fourth and fifth innings but in the other rounds was complete master of ceremonies.

The All-Stars did all their scoring off Britt, the Giants' starting hurler, but were unable to solve the southpaw shoots of Lefty Foster for any runs. Foster came on the scene in the fifth to check the invaders' second and final three-run rally. The other three tallies came in the opening inning.

"Whataman" Shires strutted around for the benefit of the customers and gathered in the boos of the fans with much gusto. Shires takes his razzberries without cream and thrives on them, especially when he's paid good dough to be booed. "Whataman" had a poor day yesterday, though, failing to get a hit and making an error.

FANCY FIELDING

Red Kress at short and Charley Gehringer at second showed the fans a lot of fancy keystone sack performing. They turned in two double plays and came up with some great fielding. Gehringer is considered the best second baseman in baseball today, while Kress also ranks well up near the top of the shortstops although he isn't given all the credit due him because he's with a poor ball club, the Browns.

Lefty O'Doul held down left field for the big leaguers and got three of his club's nine hits. O'Doul can still scamper around as fast as ever and belies the rumors circulated around set here that his legs had gone back on him.

Although the big leaguers hogged the spotlight, Dixon, the colored right fielder, showed the fans something in the way of a throwing arm in the fifth inning when he took Gehringer's line drive against the right-field screen and got off a perfect peg to the plate.

The All-Stars got off in front in the first when Kress singled with the bases filled and three runs came in when Harris let the ball get by him in left field.

A wild throw by Sweeney, White's triple and one of Fitzsimmons's three wild pitches gave the Giants two runs in the fourth. Mackey's single, a wild pitch and Allen's hit gave the losers their other run in the fifth.

SORE THREE MORE

Two walks and singles by Fitzsimmons, Sweeney and Miller produced the last three All-Star tallies in the first half of the fifth.

Altrock and Schacht will put on their tennis and swimming acts at today's games, with their famous fight being their piece de resistance this evening. Score:

A CHUCKLE FOR EVERYBODY

TARZAN AND THE GOLDEN LION — By Edgar Rice Burroughs

The girl greeted the three newcomers pleasantly. The Spaniard gave them a surly nod. Upon Carl Krakl, the young Russian, Esteban scowled his jealous hate. It was plain that Flora fancied this dark-eyed, supple youth with the mop of curly brown hair, who had been a dancer in the Imperial ballet of the Czar before the Revolution had caused him to turn rogue. A fresh round of drinks were ordered; they talked of unimportant things at first, then this meeting of mystery got down to business.

"Forget it, Flora," said the fellow who had been silent up to now. "We've got the cash." He drew a map from his pocket and spread it on the table. He handed the girl a pencil and she searched out a spot some distance in the interior of Africa. Marking it with an "X" she said calmly, "When we all reach here you shall have the final directions. And not before." This idea met with little favor from the bunch of crooks. The girl rose leisurely. "Oh, very well," she said with a shrug. "If you feel that way, let's call it off."

"Now," said the toughest looking fellow, "'ere we all are, Flora." His name was Peebles and he spoke with a strong Cockney accent. "We 'ave everything—the plans, the money and Senor Esteban. So we're jolly well ready for your part of it, ol' dear. When do we start?" "How much money have you raised?" asked the girl. "You know I told you I wouldn't have anything to do with a bunch of cheap skates. Unless you've got two thousand pounds, you don't get the maps and data that will make you the world's richest, men."

"And," she continued, "I go with this party as boss, understand? You have got to trust me. If I give you all the information I have, there is nothing in the world that could prevent you from going ahead and leaving me out in the cold. I don't intend that this shall happen—not by a long shot." So they argued and quarreled far into the night. As they prepared to depart, Peebles remarked, "Remember, if you try to double-cross us, Flora . . ." He made a movement across his throat that spoke for itself.

It cost the taxpayers of Los Angeles county $5.30 per day for each patient in the General Hospital during the fiscal year ending June 30, last, according to a report from Dr. N. N. Wood, superintendent, filed yesterday with the Board of Supervisors. In private hospitals the average daily cost is $8.37.

A total of 31,976 patients were admitted during the year as against 30,410 the previous year. During 1928-30 there were 3106 deaths as compared with 3216 the year before.

MILLIONS SPENT

The total revenue during the year was $676,531.24. Total expenditures amounted to $5,413,539.54.

A total of 1976 persons were on the pay roll as against 1800 the previous year.

The nationalities of the people treated during the year are as follows: American, 61.8 per cent; Mexican, 18.1; Canadian, 1.6; English, 1.3; German, 1.1; Italian .69; Negroes, 5.7; Russian, 2.3.

Dr. Wood's report further shows that an average of 200 patients a day waited for beds. However, none was in immediate danger.

ROBERTS FUNERAL DELAYED

Plans Will Be Completed on Arrival in City of Widow From East

Arrangements for the funeral of W. A. Roberts, one-time State Assemblyman and City Councilman, who died unexpectedly Tuesday night, probably will be completed today on arrival of Mrs. Roberts here from the East, where she had been visiting.

Roberts was the father of Harold W. Roberts, director of the University of Southern California's musical organizations department.

The old Roberts home was near Redlands, Ind., especially famous as the home of George Ade, humorist. Roberts and Ade were schoolmates. The Roberts came to California twenty-seven years ago. He is the man credited with subdividing the territory north of what is now Hollywood Boulevard and east of Cahuenga Pass. As Republican Assemblyman in 1912-13 he and Senator Brown put through the minimum-wage law for working girls. He was Councilman about fifteen years ago. At the time of his death he was president of the Santa Fe Mutual Oil Company.

Funeral services may be conducted Friday by Elks' lodge and First Methodist Church officials. Besides the widow and Harold, Mr. Roberts leaves another son, R. B. Roberts, a city employee, and a brother, John Roberts, retired, San Francisco.

DRESS FACTORY HEAD WILL PLEAD GUILTY

A delay until November 6, next, was granted W. J. Markowitz, dress factory manager, for trial on a charge of violating the State labor laws, when he told Municipal Judge Curtis yesterday he will plead guilty. Deputy City Prosecutor McDonald charges Markowitz worked thirteen women employees more than the legal eight hours a day and that he failed to keep an accurate record of their working time.

EINSTEIN TO BE TOPIC

"Einstein's Influence on Religion" will be the subject of a sermon by Rabbi Isadore Isaacson at Temple Israel tomorrow at 8 p.m.

WOMEN HELPED BY ADVERTISING

Don Francisco Gives Radio Talk as Part of Series

Aid to Housewives Shown in Number of Particulars

Relief Given in Depression by Economy Messages

In the business depression from which the United States is recovering, advertising helped housewives and consumers generally to save money by assisting them in economical buying, said Don Francisco, vice-president of Lord & Thomas & Logan, over station KMPC yesterday in the seventh of the series of educational broadcasts on the value of advertising being conducted by the Los Angeles Advertising Club. The University of Southern California is sponsoring the broadcasts, that of Mr. Francisco being sent out by remote control from the university studio. His subject was, "How Advertising Has Served the Housewife."

DON FRANCISCO.

"It would be a comparatively simple thing to tell you what advertising has done for business, and to prove its value to industry in no uncertain terms," said Mr. Francisco. "The large sums that are annually spent in advertising furnish ample evidence that our merchants, manufacturers and industrial leaders who pay the advertising bills are convinced that it performs a valuable and necessary service for them.

AIDS TO WOMEN

"I could prove advertising has aided California in selling twice as many oranges as it produced a few years ago, and has added enormously to the prosperity of our agriculture and the wealth of our State. But my subject is what advertising has done, not for the producer or manufacturer, but for the housewife."

Mr. Francisco touched on the many mechanical aids that advertising has helped bring into modern homes to lighten the labors of women, and the invaluable information on household economics the housewives of the nation have obtained through such printed material in the newspapers and magazines.

"There is nothing mysterious or complicated about the economics of advertising," he continued. "Anyone who has used the classified advertising columns of our daily newspapers as a market place for either buying or selling, understands the principle. General advertising is simply an expansion of that idea.

THREE AXIOMS

"There are three axioms every advertiser knows:

"First, no product or service can be continuously advertised with success unless it measures up to the claims made for it. The advertiser lives in a glass house. Advertising only turns the searchlight of publicity on an unworthy product. On a meritorious article a trademark becomes a clew to another satisfactory purchase. On an article of poor quality it becomes the buyer's danger signal.

"Second, the things that succeed with advertising are the things that would succeed at least moderately well without advertising. Advertising only increases their popularity or brings it quicker by making them better known.

"Third, the most productive advertising from the advertiser's standpoint is that which performs the greatest service to its readers. That is, it brings them information or news, tells them of something that fills a definite need, or gives them an idea.

ANOTHER ANGLE

"So, while the primary purpose of advertising is to help the seller, it has succeeded only by interesting and performing a service for the buyer.

"People read advertising. That is why it pays. A friend sent Rudyard Kipling an American magazine with the advertising pages torn out to save postage. In acknowledging its receipt Kipling wrote: 'Next time you keep the front part and send me the ads. I can't write stories myself.'

"Advertising is news. It is up to the minute. The leading fiction may deal with the court of King Arthur; the back-cover advertisement must deal with tomorrow.

"You may possibly remember the general store. Everything was displayed and sold from bulk—crackers, prunes, pickles, molasses, vinegar, flour, lard, beans—all out of boxes and barrels.

REFERENCE BOOK

"Sanitation could not exist because there was no way, no equipment to provide for it. Everything was weighed on scales that were often more picturesque than accurate.

"Then came the fight for pure food, guaranteed weight and packages that assured the utmost in sanitation. Incidentally, this crusade was started and carried through to success by manufacturers. Today the housewife can merely telephone her grocer and know the food she purchases is pure, that the weight she receives is accurate.

"Advertising to the American housewife has become a vast reference book from which she can determine values, from which she can educate herself to a high point of buying efficiency. It has played an important part in making her the most practical, progressive and efficient woman in the world."

Home-coming for S.C. in December

The University of Southern California will observe its 1930 home-coming the week of December 1, it was announced yesterday by Carl B. Wirsching, vice-president of the Board of Public Works, and chairman of the program committee. It is to be the first home-coming of "the second fifty years."

The celebration will culminate in the U.S.C.-Notre Dame football game in the Coliseum.
